"NEW DEAL" ON WAR DEBTS IS NEAR

American Liner Answers S.O.S; Saves 22 on Sinking Freighter

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—The liner American Merchant, fighting a violent storm of hail, rain, high seas and gale for hours, saved the crew of 22 from the sinking Exeter City today after the storm had battered the British freighter into a wreck and taken the lives of four men.

Terse SOS calls and brief radio messages flashed from the scene in mid Atlantic told, act by act, of the drama that was taking place 1,575 miles east of New York.

The hero was Captain Giles C. Stedman of the American Merchant, who already had been decorated by two governments for previous rescue feats.

Rode Rough Seas

For three hours after receiving the first SOS, he drove his rolling vessel through 15 miles of high seas to reach the side of the sinking boat.

The first message had been briefly dramatic:

"In distress. Lifeboats gone. Bridge damaged."

It had been picked up by the Exeter of the American Export line and relayed to the American Merchant, the nearest craft to the scene of the disaster.

The next message was sent after Captain Stedman had started to the rescue. It said merely:

"American Merchant not yet arrived."

But in 65 more minutes the rescue ship was alongside.

Then through the storm came the first graphic report of the freighter's condition. The message was from Captain Stedman and read:

Shoot Life-line

"Bridge, chartroom, forepart bridge deck and saloon accomodations carried away. Master, third officer, apprentice and seaman lost. No. 2 hatch stove in. Water also believed in No. 3 hatch. Rigged up emergency steering gear."

The next message from the American Merchant said:

"Exeter City reports sinking rapidly. Am alongside. High seas. Using line-carrying gun."

Captain Stedman also reported the weather "considerably unfavorable, strong westerly gale, high seas, rain and hail."

There was more silence. Finally out of the silence that shrouded the drama of the high seas came these tapped-out words:

"Shot line aboard Exeter City. Towed lifeboat over. Endeavoring get crew aboard for last hour."

Nearly an hour later further dots and dashes told of the doom of the storm-wracked freighter.

Won Previous Medal

"Steamship Exeter City abandoned in sinking condition. Settling rapidly. Dangerous to navigation."

For many minutes the fate of the Exeter City's crew remained still in doubt, and then came the words that wrote success:

"Twenty-two men composing crew of Exeter City aboard. Rescue made in heavy seas. Extended our number three lifeboat. Vessel abandoned sinking condition. Settling rapidly. Advise Bristol City Lines, Bristol, England."

It was apparent from that message, sent by Captain Stedman, that all remaining persons on the freighter had been saved, although the total number in the crew originally had been reported as 30.

Captain Stedman received a silver medal from the Italian ministry of marine, and a gold medal of honor from the United States treasury department for rescuing the crew of the Italian freighter Ignazio Florio in mid-Atlantic on Oct. 21, 1925 under similar circumstances. He was then chief officer of the President Harding.

Mug Is Paperweight On Governor's Desk

Lansing, Jan. 20 (AP)—A beer mug has replaced the rampant Republican elephant on the desk of the state's executive.

Governor William A. Comstock has given an imitation beaker of beer a place of honor. Former Governor Wilber M. Brucker took with him when he left office a huge white elephant given him by Republican admirers. Governor Comstock had no Democratic donkey to put in its place, so he accepted the beer mug.

SENATE FAILS TO STOP HUEY

Ally of Kingfish Defiant; Says Only Cloture Can Gag Him

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—The senate thought it had crippled Huey Long's filibuster against the Glass bank bill but tonight the opponents of the measure were as strongly entrenched and determined as ever.

For Thomas of Oklahoma, an ally of the self-styled Louisiana Kingfish, let it be known that he would use every means at his command to prevent a vote on the bill. Only cloture can stop him, he said.

Untamed by last night's talk with President-elect Roosevelt, Long today renewed his fight against the bill and his complaint against his party's leadership in the senate.

He tried to gain time at the close of the day by asking that the senate recess until Monday, omitting tomorrow's session. He appealed for the week-end holiday on the ground that "seven or eight senators have gone to Muscle Shoals" with Mr. Roosevelt and that he thought they should be in the senate for the debate.

"I don't think they'll miss anything tomorrow," Senator Glass (D., Va.), author of the bill in dispute, grimly retorted. A recess was taken until tomorrow noon. And Glass announced he would insist on night sessions next week in an effort to hasten a final vote.

Judge Considering Judd Case Motion

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 20, (AP)—Superior Judge J. C. Niles, sitting as a commuting magistrate, took under advisement tonight, pending final state argument, a motion to dismiss John J. Halloran from a charge of "being accessory to the crime of murder" in connection with the Winnie Ruth Judd case.

The motion to dismiss was presented by the wealthy lumberman's counsel as the state completed its case after four days of preliminary hearing, during the greater part of which time Mrs. Judd was on the witness stand relating her story of the slayings of Agnes Anne Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson.

Rotary Selects Detroit for 1934

Detroit, Jan. 20 (AP)—Rotary International will hold its 1934 convention at Detroit, Elton F. Hascall, secretary of the Detroit Rotary announced today.

Hascall was appraised of Rotary's choice in a telegram from Chicago today following a session of the board of directors there. Howard Feighner, convention manager for Rotary, left for Chicago tonight with the contracts providing hotel and auditorium space.

Cutter Escanaba Docks At Chicago

Chicago, Jan. 20. (AP)—The Escanaba, the coast guard's new cutter, made its first trip to Chicago today, arriving from Grand Haven, Mich. The boat has been assigned to protection of shipping on lower Lake Michigan.

Dynamite Explodes; Kills 23 In Mexico

Mexico City, Jan. 20 (AP)—Twenty-three persons were reported killed and many injured in an explosion of 60 boxes of dynamite in Morelia, Mexico, today.

Complete details were lacking at first, but it was said the catastrophe was caused by the act of a chauffeur for the national roads commission.

A number of houses near the site of the reported explosion were said to have been destroyed by fire.

CABINET GOSSIP FAVORS 3 MEN

President of Teamster's Union Suggested for Secretary of Labor

BY CECIL B. DICKSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—Three outstanding national figures—Senator Glass of Virginia, Senator Walsh of Montana and Norman H. Davis—appeared tonight to be favored by President-elect Roosevelt for important cabinet posts.

Cabinet prospects were discussed at a series of conferences held by Mr. Roosevelt today with these three and others before he resumed his southward journey. The incoming president plans to give much of his time at Warm Springs, Georgia, to constructing the cabinet that will form the government's policies during the next four years.

A definite impression was gained by Mr. Roosevelt's intimates here that if they are willing, Glass may become secretary of the treasury, Walsh the attorney general, and Davis, secretary of state.

The appointment of Daniel J. Tobin of Indianapolis, as secretary of labor was urged on Mr. Roosevelt by William Green and Matthew Woll, president and vice-president of the American Federation of Labor. Tobin is president of the teamsters' union.

Associates of Mr. Roosevelt affirmed the general belief that James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, would become postmaster general. They also suggested that Swager Shirley, formerly representative from Kentucky and chairman of the house appropriations committee, had been tendered the position of director of the budget bureau, and that Daniel C. Roper of Washington, D. C., that of director of the bureau of internal revenue. Roper was director of the bureau in the last Democratic administration.

Talk about W. H. Woodin of New York, president of the American Car & Foundry company, as secretary of commerce was revived. Woodin is accompanying Mr. Roosevelt's party on its visit to Muscle Shoals.

The name of James M. Thomson of New Orleans, publisher of the Item and Tribune, has been put before Mr. Roosevelt for the post of secretary of war.

BUILDING BILL UP FOR REPEAL

Doyle, Menominee, Offers Guest - Passenger Automobile Law

Lansing, Jan. 20 (AP)—The first important measure to reach the floor of the legislature appeared today when the house ways and means committee reported favorably a measure advocated by a former commission to inquire into state governmental costs, providing for the repeal of the Hartman building bill.

The Hartman act originally provided for a five-year $20,000,000 schedule. It was cut down at various times and if the measure reported by the committee is adopted, the continuing appropriations for institutional buildings and improvements would be wiped out entirely.

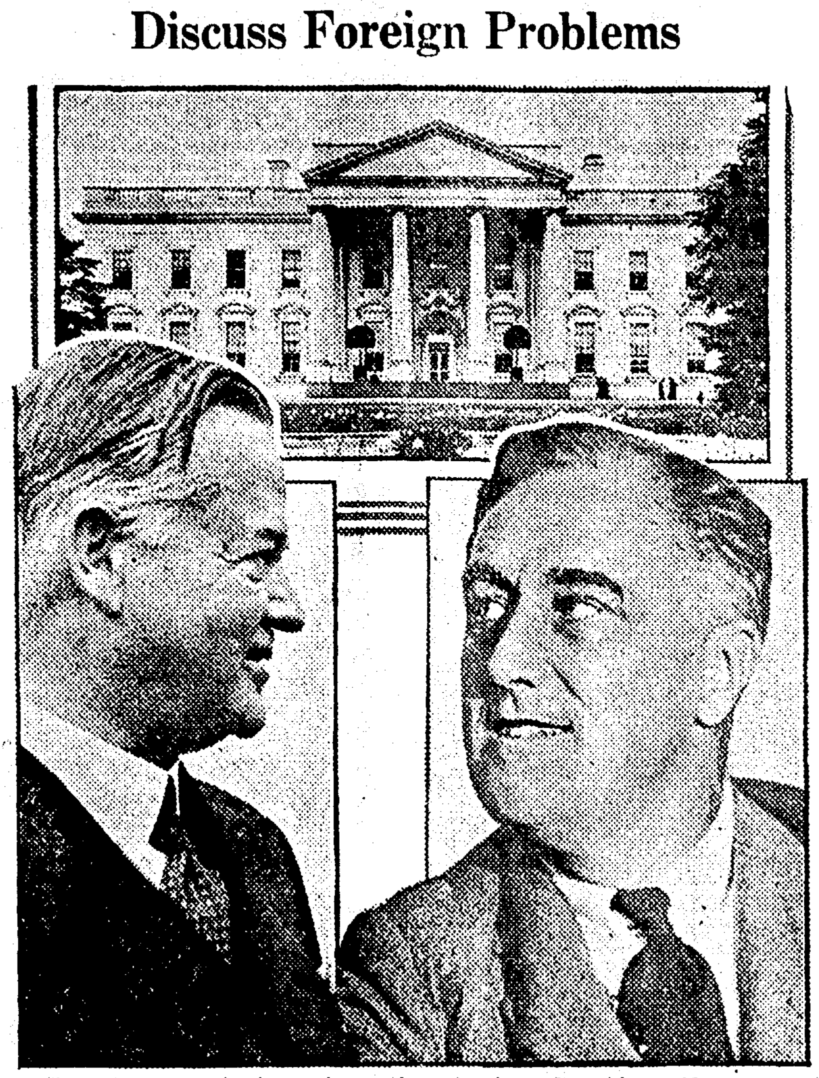
A bill proposing to make occupational diseases compensable under the workmen's compensation law was introduced in the house by Representative Alvin Rummel, of Ironwood.

A resolution condemning all forms of dancing and walking marathons was submitted in the senate today.

Senator John F. Nichczynski, Democrat of Detroit, was the sponsor of the measure against "walkathons" and long distance dancing contests. He said he would submit a bill making them illegal later in the session, declaring that humane societies would outlaw any similar punishment for dumb animals.

Virtual repeal of the guest-passenger staute was proposed in a bill offered by Senator W. F. Doyle, Republican, of Menominee. The act provides that the operator of an automobile be liable for damages suffered by a guest passenger.

Discuss Foreign Problems



For the second time since the election, President Hoover and President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt met for a conference in the White House Friday. The subject of their discussion was largely foreign affairs and international developments now unfolding.

SEEK RFC HELP FOR THE FARM

Mayor of Escanaba On Committee Named at Marquette

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 20 (AP)—Can needy farmers of the upper peninsula be given financial assistance by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation?

This question was brought before the Upper Peninsula employment relief conference here today by G. W. Putnam, director of the U. P. Farm Experiment Station at Chatham, and resulted in the conference approving the appointment of a committee of three men to confer with Andrew T. Sweet, of Houghton, zone chairman of the Michigan trade recovery committee, on the possibility of obtaining RFC aid for agricultural relief. The committee will consist of Mr. Putnam, C. J. Sawyer, of Escanaba, and James G. Wells, Jr., of Marquette.

This action was taken after Putnam had addressed the conference and submitted for its approval a resolution outlining proposed means of obtaining RFC funds for agricultural relief. The resolution, Putnam said, was drawn up at the recent annual conference of county agricultural agents and college extension workers in Marquette.

Secret Adoption, Grounds In Divorce

Detroit, Jan. 20. (AP)—A 29-year-old wife admitted tonight that she had deceived her husband into accepting an adopted baby as his own son.

She is Mrs. Harriet Edna Knapp, who was sued for divorce today by Patrolman Charles F. Knapp. The husband made the deception one of the bases of his suit, but said he would adopt the child provided his wife were not a party to the adoption.

Mrs. Knapp said tonight that love for children and her realization that she could not have a child of her own led to the hoax.

Lame Duck Dead; 3 States Needed

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—Only three more state legislatures must ratify the "lame duck" amendment to the constitution to make it a part of the law of the land.

Ratification today by South Dakota and Tennessee brought the number that already have speeded action of the amendment to 33, with the remaining trio expected soon.

LIQUOR CONTROL AIDES SELECTED

Lansing, Jan. 20 (AP)—Governor Comstock sent telegrams to seventeen persons today inviting them to act as members of a special advisory committee to draft liquor legislation. Col. Fred M. Alger, of Detroit, will be one of the members, seven of whom will be from Detroit. The governor will announce the names of the others when he receives acceptances. The committee will be bipartisan and be made up of disinterested persons.

James H. Lynch, of Pontiac, well known Democrat, has been named to head an advisory committee to draft election law changes, the governor said.

PICKS NEWBERRY MAN

Newberry, Jan. 20 (Special)—V. F. Gormely, 43 year old dirt farmer of Luce county, has been asked to become a member of the governor's committee on liquor control legislation. Gormely said he had accepted. He works the largest privately-owned farm in the county, is personally dry, politically wet, and a life-long Democrat.

Old-Timers Still Talk About Pat Sheridan's Oration, When Ore Trimmers Went on Strike

As a reconteur of stories of early day happenings in Escanaba, James E. Tolan, 403 Ludington street, one of the city's pioneer citizens, has few equals. His favorite stories are those of amusing incidents that occurred about two score years ago, when Escanaba was a vastly different city than it is today, as far as the people's interests, amusements and mode of living were concerned.

The exploits or eccentricities of early day characters in this community often figure in the reminiscences of the old-timers, who every once in a while get together and talk of the "good old days." One whose name is frequently mentioned by Mr. Tolan and the other story-tellers is the late Pat Sheridan, whose impromptu oration on the occasion of an ore trimmers' strike has become somewhat of a classic.

Pat Was a Dude

Pat Sheridan, a typical Irishman, had a flair for public speaking. He was a large, handsome man, and a familiar figure about the streets of Escanaba for many years. After he was through work on the docks, he would strut up and down the main street, immaculately attired. He wore a Prince Albert coat and a plug-hat, and he allowed his attractive black curly hair to hang down in back like William Jennings Bryan's famous mane.

The ore trimmers had been getting four cents a ton for their work, and one day when the railroad had reduced the wage to three and a half cents, a protest meeting was called by the trim-

Tornado Wipes Out Village In Texas

Paris, Tex., Jan. 20 (AP)—Seventeen persons were known to have been injured by a tornado that struck south of Howland, then leveled most of the hamlet of Manchester, on the Red River 40 miles northeast of Paris, early tonight.

Houses were demolished and much property damage was done by the twister. First reports said five members of the family of E. A. Barham, living near Howland, were injured, as were nine members of the family of Calvin Richardson at Manchester.

BURNS ELECTED BY SUPERVISORS

Association Favors State Fair at Escanaba; Asks Tax Relief

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 20 (AP)—Sharp tax reduction as a means of putting basic upper peninsula industry on its feet and enable it to resume employment of persons now on relief rolls, and changes in the state constitution and state laws to provide home rule for counties in a measure that will enable them to have more control over their own expenditures will be urged upon Governor Comstock and upon U. P. members of the state legislature by the Upper Peninsula Supervisors' association, it was decided here tonight at the annual meeting of that organization in the Northland hotel.

Adopting a motion presented by R. C. Mahon, of Iron River, chairman of the Iron county board of supervisors, the association approved of the appointment of a committee of its members to arrange for a meeting with the governor and with the U. P. legislators in Lansing during the coming annual session there of the state association of supervisors.

County Home Rule

This committe will be under instructions to make an urgent demand for tax reduction and to put that demand directly before the governor.

"This is a legislative year", said Mr. Mahon, "and is a most opportune time, I believe, for us to fight for tax reduction. The iron, copper, and timber industries of the peninsula must be put in a position to meet competition and operate profitably. When they can do this they can employ men and our counties can be relieved of the relief burdens they are now carrying. The first thing to do to put these industries on their feet is to reduce taxes. The new state 15-mill tax amendment opens the way to do this.

"I believe the next most important matter for us is to effect changes in the state laws and constitution to provide a large measure of county home rule. Our counties now are compelled to spend much money unnecessarily because of state laws. These laws should be eliminated or changed

FLU EPIDEMIC AMONG INDIANS

Small Boy Dies of Pneumonia on Reservation At Harris

The first death in the epidemic of influenza and other ailments which has been spreading among the Indians on the Harris reservation occurred yesterday afternoon.

William Wandahsga, nine-month old Indian boy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wandahsga, died at the family home on the reservation at 4 o'clock of pneumonia. He had been ailing for a week.

The body was taken to the Boyle Undertaking Parlors to be prepared for burial. Funeral services will be held at the Methodist church in Hannahville at 2 o'clock Monday afternon, with Rev. L. E. Shanks of Hermansville officiating. Burial will be in the Hannahville cemetery.

The flu epidemic has visited practically all the homes of approximately seventy Indian families in the Harris neighborhood. Lack of the usual employment in the woods camps during the last couple winters has made the problem of making a living exceedingly acute for the reservation inhabitants, although the U. S. Bureau of Indian Affairs has exerted increased efforts of late to improve their lot.

Generous allotments of khaki clothing and other wearing apparel, flour and other provisions have been made by the government. During last summer, the government sent an agricultural expert to advise the Indians concerning improved methods of farming, while a nurse has made frequent calls to give assistance to the housewives in the care of the sick and other problems of home making.

Negotiations to Open Soon After March 4

NEWS FROM HOOVER-ROOSEVELT CONFERENCE RECEIVED WITH SATISFACTION BY GREAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—The administration tonight began negotiations with Great Britain aimed at a readjustment of the long-troublesome war debts, in accordance with the newly-made Roosevelt-Hoover agreement.

Only a few hours after the incoming and outgoing chief executives had decided at the White House to cooperate in bringing British envoys to the American capital early in the new administration, Secretary Stimson called England's ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, to the state department and informed him of the developments.

Speaks for President-Elect

He gave the diplomat no written communication. After making it clear he was acting as a spokesman for Mr. Roosevelt, he informed the ambassador orally and at length of what had passed between Mr. Hoover and the president-elect and of the contents of the statement they later issued. The latter said:

"The British government has asked for a discussion of the debts. The incoming administration will be glad to receive their representative early in March for this purpose.

"It is, of course, necessary to discuss at the same time the world economic problems in which the United States and Great Britain are mutually interested and therefore that representatives should also be sent to discuss ways and means for improving the world situation."

No Delays

Meanwhile, on the special train aboard which Mr. Roosevelt was speading southward, it was learned that the president-elect expects the British envoys to be in Washington when he takes office, so that there will be no delay in the negotiations. It is hoped that they may be completed before the next payments are due, on June 15.

At the same time, it was made clear that Mr. Roosevelt does not regard France's failure to pay on December 15, as a default, but rather as a deferment. It was forecast, too, that the debt discussion would be kept physically separated from the conversations on means of improving the world economic situation, with separate delegations handling the two problems.

It was regarded as obvious here that Mr. Roosevelt expects nations other than Great Britain to seek some new schedule of debt payments. Possibly, although Mr. Roosevelt would say nothing on the subject, the new president may make the discussions with Britain, and possibly with others, an instrument for seeking the tariff trades which he mentioned so frequently in the course of his campaign. It was considered that the economic discussion to supplement the debt talks, lent itself admirably to such a purpose.

France Is Ready

Congress displayed little interest in the day's debt developments although even while Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt were talking, Senator Robinson of Indiana, a Republican, lashed out at France for failing to meet her December 15 debt payments, and a brief debate on that angle of the debt problem followed.

World-wide reaction to the White House meeting was immediate. In responsible British political quarters the move was termed "the best news in weeks."

An official spokesman in France declared before the Hoover-Roosevelt move was announced that

100 DELEGATES AT CONFERENCE

All Counties Represented; Protection on Wood Pulp Favored

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 20 (AP)—More than 100 delegates, representing all of the 15 upper peninsula counties, meeting here today for the third U. P. Unemployment Relief conference, went on record in favor of legislation to protect products of home industries against imports from foreign lands, especially wood pulp and timber and mineral products; urging amendment of federal work relief legislation so that part of relief funds may be used for purchase of material and equipment on work relief projects; asking that efforts be made to procure federal relief for U. P. farmers and requesting the U. P. Supervisors' association to call a conference of county poor relief boards and superintendents for the purpose of adopting uniform methods of expending and accounting for relief funds.

Opening the afternoon session of the conference, Dr. W. O. Hotchkiss, of Houghton, pointed out that as a result of the previous conferences in Munising and Marquette $600,000 had been made available to the 15 U. P. counties as their first allotment of a $2,000,00 R. F. C. work re-

Police Use Clubs In Jobless Melee

Chicago, Jan. 20. (AP)—Heads were thumped by police clubs today as several scores of policemen drove back a crowd of demonstrators who attempted to invade an unemployment relief station on the northwest side.

The Rioters were repulsed only after a police captain, six policemen, and two civilians were injured, and a number of others beaten.

The melee started from a demonstration by several hundred persons against distribution of food to the unemployed.

"We want cash, not rotten food," said signs carried by the crowd.

The major trouble, near Garfield park, was quelled after 20 minutes of fighting. Three other demonstrations occurred on the north and west sides, but soon were quieted.

Proenix, Ariz., Jan. 20, (AP)—Superior Judge J. C. Niles, sitting as a commuting magistrate, took under advisement tonight, pending final state argument, a motion to dismiss John J. Halloran from a charge of "being accessory to the crime of murder" in connection with the Winnie Ruth Judd case.

The motion to dismiss was presented by the wealthy lumberman's counsel as the state completed its case after four days of preliminary hearing, during the greater part of which time Mrs. Judd was on the witness stand relating her story of the slayings of Agnes Anne Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson.

CABINET GOSSIP FAVORS 3 MEN

President of Teamster's Union Suggested for Secretary of Labor

BY CECIL B. DICKSON (Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—Three outstanding national figures—Senator Glass of Virginia, Senator Walsh of Montana and Norman H. Davis—appeared tonight to be favored by President-elect Roosevelt for important cabinet posts.

Cabinet prospects were discussed at a series of conferences held by Mr. Roosevelt today with these three and others before he resumed his southward journey. The incoming president plans to give much of his time at Warm Springs, Georgia, to constructing the cabinet that will form the government's policies during the next four years.

A definite impression was gained by Mr. Roosevelt's intimates here that if they are willing, Glass may become secretary of the treasury, Walsh the attorney general, and Davis, secretary of state.

The appointment of Daniel J. Tobin of Indianapolis, as secretary of labor was urged on Mr. Roosevelt by William Green and Matthew Woll, president and vice-president of the American Federation of Labor. Tobin is president of the teamsters' union.

Associates of Mr. Roosevelt affirmed the general belief that James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, would become postmaster general. They also suggested that Swager Shirley, formerly representative from Kentucky and chairman of the house appropriations committee, had been tendered the position of director of the budget bureau, and that Daniel C. Roper of Washington, D. C., that of director of the bureau of internal revenue. Roper was director of the bureau in the last Democratic administration.

Talk about W. H. Woodin of New York, president of the American Car & Foundry company, as secretary of commerce was revived. Woodin is accompanying Mr. Roosevelt's party on its visit to Muscle Shoals.

The name of James M. Thomson of New Orleans, publisher of the Item and Tribune, has been put before Mr. Roosevelt for the post of secretary of war.

BUILDING BILL UP FOR REPEAL

Doyle, Menominee, Offers Guest - Passenger Automobile Law

Lansing, Jan. 20 (AP)—The first important measure to reach the floor of the legislature appeared today when the house ways and means committee reported favorably a measure advocated by a former commission to inquire into state governmental costs, providing for the repeal of the Hartman building bill.

The Hartman act originally provided for a five-year $20,000,000 schedule. It was cut down at various times and if the measure reported by the committee is adopted, the continuing appropriations for institutional buildings and improvements would be wiped out entirely.

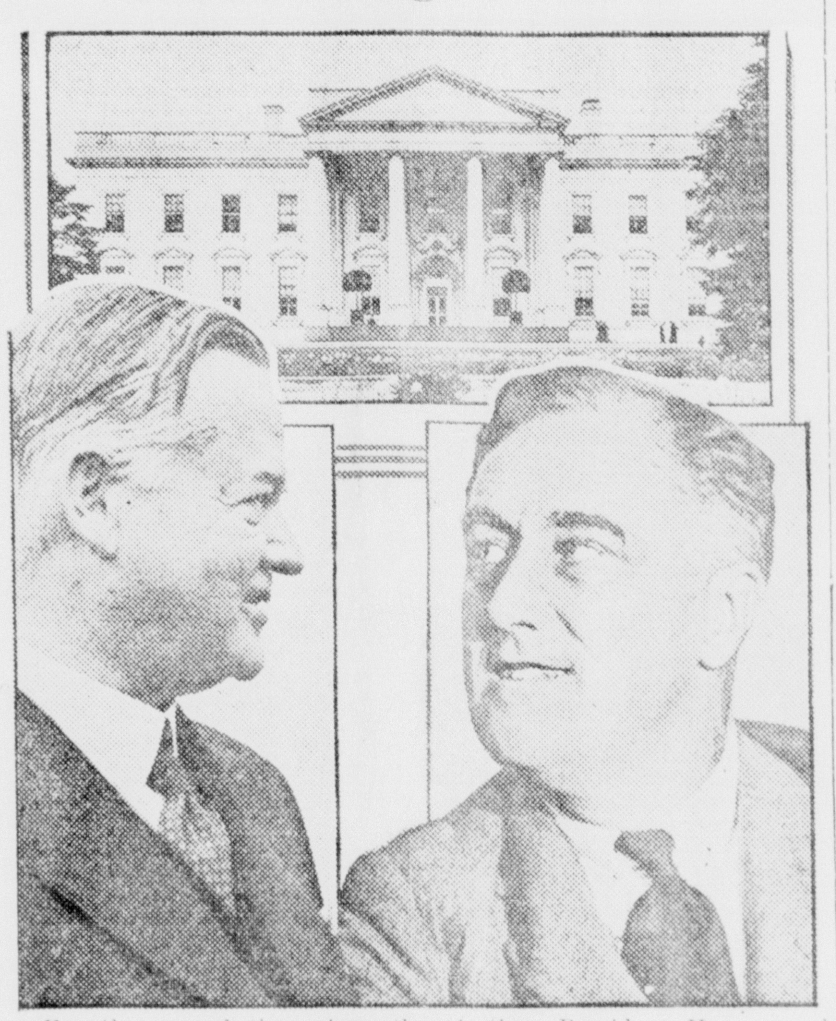
A bill proposing to make occupational diseases compensable under the workmen's compensation law was introduced in the house by Representative Alvin Rummel, of Ironwood.

A resolution condemning all forms of dancing and walking marathons was submitted in the senate today.

Senator John F. Nichczynski, Democrat of Detroit, was the sponsor of the measure against "walkathons" and long distance dancing contests. He said he would submit a bill making them illegal later in the session, declaring that humane societies would outlaw any similar punishment for dumb animals.

Virtual repeal of the guest-passenger staute was proposed in a bill offered by Senator W. F. Doyle, Republican, of Menominee. The act provides that the operator of an automobile be liable for damages suffered by a guest passenger.

Discuss Foreign Problems



For the second time since the election, President Hoover and President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt met for a conference in the White House Friday. The subject of their discussion was largely foreign affairs and international developments now unfolding.

SEEK RFC HELP FOR THE FARM

Mayor of Escanaba On Committee Named at Marquette

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 20 (AP)—Can needy farmers of the upper peninsula be given financial assistance by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation?

This question was brought before the Upper Peninsula employment relief conference here today by G. W. Putnam, director of the U. P. Farm Experiment Station at Chatham, and resulted in the conference approving the appointment of a committee of three men to confer with Andrew T. Sweet, of Houghton, zone chairman of the Michigan trade recovery committee, on the possibility of obtaining RFC aid for agricultural relief. The committee will consist of Mr. Putnam, C. J. Sawyer, of Escanaba, and James G. Wells, Jr., of Marquette .

This action was taken after Putnam had addressed the conference and submitted for its approval a resolution outlining proposed means of obtaining RFC funds for agricultural relief. The resolution, Putnam said, was drawn up at the recent annual conference of county agricultural agents and college extension workers in Marquette.

Secret Adoption, Grounds In Divorce

Detroit, Jan. 20. (AP)—A 29-year-old wife admitted tonight that she had deceived her husband into accepting an adopted baby as his own son.

She is Mrs. Harriet Edna Knapp, who was sued for divorce today by Patrolman Charles F. Knapp. The husband made the deception one of the bases of his suit, but said he would adopt the child provided his wife were not a party to the adoption.

Mrs. Knapp said tonight that love for children and her realization that she could not have a child of her own led to the hoax.

Old-Timers Still Talk About Pat Sheridan's Oration, When Ore Trimmers Went on Strike

As a reconteur of stories of early day happenings in Escanaba, James E. Tolan, 403 Ludington street, one of the city's pioneer citizens, has few equals. His favorite stories are those of amusing incidents that occurred about two score years ago, when Escanaba was a vastly different city than it is today, as far as the people's interests, amusements and mode of living were concerned.

The exploits or eccentricities of early day characters in this community often figure in the reminiscences of the old-timers, who every once in a while get together and talk of the "good old days." One whose name is frequently mentioned by Mr. Tolan and the other story-tellers is the late Pat Sheridan, whose impromptu oration on the occasion of an ore trimmers' strike has become somewhat of a classic.

Pat Was a Dude

Pat Sheridan, a typical Irishman, had a flair for public speaking. He was a large, handsome man, and a familiar figure about the streets of Escanaba for many years. After he was through work on the docks, he would strut up and down the main street, immaculately attired. He wore a Prince Albert coat and a plug-hat, and he allowed his attractive black curly hair to hang down in back like William Jennings Bryan's famous mane.

The ore trimmers had been getting four cents a ton for their work, and one day when the railroad had reduced the wage to three and a half cents, a protest meeting was called by the trim-

Tornado Wipes Out Village In Texas

Paris, Tex., Jan. 20 (AP)—Seventeen persons were known to have been injured by a tornado that struck south of Howland, then leveled most of the hamlet of Manchester, on the Red River 40 miles northeast of Paris, early tonight.

Houses were demolished and much property damage was done by the twister. First reports said five members of the family of E. A. Barham, living near Howland, were injured, as were nine members of the family of Calvin Richardson at Manchester.

BURNS ELECTED BY SUPERVISORS

Association Favors State Fair at Escanaba; Asks Tax Relief

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 20 (AP)—Sharp tax reduction as a means of putting basic upper peninsula industry on its feet and enable it to resume employment of persons now on relief rolls, and changes in the state constitution and state laws to provide home rule for counties in a measure that will enable them to have more control over their own expenditures will be urged upon Governor Comstock and upon U. P. members of the state legislature by the Upper Peninsula Supervisors' association, it was decided here tonight at the annual meeting of that organization in the Northland hotel.

Adopting a motion presented by R. C. Mahon, of Iron River, chairman of the Iron county board of supervisors, the association approved of the appointment of a committee of its members to arrange for a meeting with the governor and with the U. P. legislators in Lansing during the coming annual session there of the state association of supervisors.

County Home Rule

This committe will be under instructions to make an urgent demand for tax reduction and to put that demand directly before the governor.

"This is a legislative year", said Mr. Mahon, "and is a most opportune time, I believe, for us to fight for tax reduction. The iron, copper, and timber industries of the peninsula must be put in a position to meet competition and operate profitably. When they can do this they can employ men and our counties can be relieved of the relief burdens they are now carrying. The first thing to do to put these industries on their feet is to reduce taxes. The new state 15-mill tax amendment opens the way to do this.

"I believe the next most important matter for us is to effect changes in the state laws and constitution to provide a large measure of county home rule. Our counties now are compelled to spend much money unnecessarily because of state laws. These laws should be eliminated or changed

Small Boy Dies of Pneumonia on Reservation At Harris

The first death in the epidemic of influenza and other ailments which has been spreading among the Indians on the Harris reservation occurred yesterday afternoon.

William Wandahsga, nine-month old Indian boy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wandahsga, died at the family home on the reservation at 4 o'clock of pneumonia. He had been ailing for a week.

The body was taken to the Boyle Undertaking Parlors to be prepared for burial. Funeral services will be held at the Methodist church in Hannahville at 2 o'clock Monday afternon, with Rev. L. E. Shanks of Hermansville officiating. Burial will be in the Hannahville cemetery.

The flu epidemic has visited practically all the homes of approximately seventy Indian families in the Harris neighborhood. Lack of the usual employment in the woods camps during the last couple winters has made the problem of making a living exceedingly acute for the reservation inhabitants, although the U. S. Bureau of Indian Affairs has exerted increased efforts of late to improve their lot.

Generous allotments of khaki clothing and other wearing apparel, flour and other provisions have been made by the government. During last summer, the government sent an agricultural expert to advise the Indians concerning improved methods of farming, while a nurse has made frequent calls to give assistance to the housewives in the care of the sick and other problems of home making.

Negotiations to Open Soon After March 4

NEWS FROM HOOVER-ROOSEVELT CONFERENCE RECEIVED WITH SATISFACTION BY GREAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—The administration tonight began negotiations with Great Britain aimed at a readjustment of the long-troublesome war debts, in accordance with the newly-made Roosevelt-Hoover agreement.

Only a few hours after the incoming and outgoing chief executives had decided at the White House to cooperate in bringing British envoys to the American capital early in the new administration, Secretary Stimson called England's ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, to the state department and informed him of the developments.

Speaks for President-Elect

He gave the diplomat no written communication. After making it clear he was acting as a spokesman for Mr. Roosevelt, he informed the ambassador orally and at length of what had passed between Mr. Hoover and the president-elect and of the contents of the statement they later issued. The latter said:

"The British government has asked for a discussion of the debts. The incoming administration will be glad to receive their representative early in March for this purpose.

"It is, of course, necessary to discuss at the same time the world economic problems in which the United States and Great Britain are mutually interested and therefore that representatives should also be sent to discuss ways and means for improving the world situation."

No Delays

Meanwhile, on the special train aboard which Mr. Roosevelt was speading southward, it was learned that the president-elect expects the British envoys to be in Washington when he takes office, so that there will be no delay in the negotiations. It is hoped that they may be completed before the next payments are due, on June 15.

At the same time, it was made clear that Mr. Roosevelt does not regard France's failure to pay on December 15, as a default, but rather as a deferment. It was forecast, too, that the debt discussion would be kept physically separated from the conversations on means of improving the world economic situation, with separate delegations handling the two problems.

It was regarded as obvious here that Mr. Roosevelt expects nations other than Great Britain to seek some new schedule of debt payments. Possibly, although Mr Roosevelt would say nothing on the subject, the new president may make the discussions with Britain, and possibly with others, an instrument for seeking the tariff trades which he mentioned so frequently in the course of his campaign. It was considered that the economic discussion to supplement the debt talks, lent itself admirably to such a purpose.

France Is Ready

Congress displayed little interest in the day's debt developments although even while Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt were talking, Senator Robinson of Indiana, a Republican, lashed out at France for failing to meet her December 15 debt payments, and a brief debate on that angle of the debt problem followed.

World-wide reaction to the White House meeting was immediate. In responsible British political quarters the move was termed "the best news in weeks."

An official spokesman in France declared before the Hoover-Roosevelt move was announced that

100 DELEGATES AT CONFERENCE

All Counties Represented; Protection on Wood Pulp Favored

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 20 (AP)—More than 100 delegates, representing all of the 15 upper peninsula counties, meeting here today for the third U. P. Unemployment Relief conference, went on record in favor of legislation to protect products of home industries against imports from foreign lands, especially wood pulp and timber and mineral products; urging amendment of federal work relief legislation so that part of relief funds may be used for purchase of material and equipment on work relief projects; asking that efforts be made to procure federal relief for U. P. farmers and requesting the U. P. Supervisors' association to call a conference of county poor relief boards and superintendents for the purpose of adopting uniform methods of expending and accounting for relief funds.

Opening the afternoon session of the conference, Dr. W. O. Hotchkiss, of Houghton, pointed out that as a result of the previous conferences in Munising and Marquette $600,000 had been made available to the 15 U. P. counties as their first allotment of a $2,000,00 R. F. C. work re-

Police Use Clubs In Jobless Melee

Chicago, Jan. 20. (AP)—Heads were thumped by police clubs today as several scores of policemen drove back a crowd of demonstrators who attempted to invade an unemployment relief station on the northwest side.

The Rioters were repulsed only after a police captain, six policemen, and two civilians were injured, and a number of others beaten.

The melee started from a demonstration by several hundred persons against distribution of food to the unemployed.

"We want cash, not rotten food," said signs carried by the crowd.

The major trouble, near Garfield park, was quelled after 20 minutes of fighting. Three other demonstrations occurred on the north and west sides, but soon were quieted.

FISH HATCHERY BURNS

Bayport, Mich., Jan. 20 (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin Friday destroyed the state fish hatchery here, with a loss estimated by officials at $5,000. The hatchery, not in use since 1927, was used as a store house.

FORD IS SERVED WITH SUBPOENA

Motor Magnate Handed Paper at Old-Time Dance Jan. 10

Detroit, Jan. 20 (AP)—For the first time in many years, Henry Ford has been subpoenaed to testify in a legal action.

Information that the 69-year-old motor magnate has been summoned to appear before a notary to give testimony in a suit involving a company came today from Wilfrid C. Leland, son of the founder of the Lincoln Motor company, purchased several years ago by Ford. Leland revealed that he personally had slipped unnoticed into an old-fashioned dancing party at which Ford was a guest, and handed him the subpoena before Ford realized its nature. The Lincoln company was founded by the late Henry M. Leland.

6 Years in Court

The suit, originally started by the Ford company against the Sweeten Automobile Co., of Philadelphia, is an outgrowth of six years of legal action, which involved the Sweeten company, Ford, and Leland. It grew out of the purchase of the Lincoln company by Ford, although it is a side-issue in the purchase.

The Sweeten company, attorneys said, alleged it had lost several hundred thousand dollars when the Lincoln company failed to furnish cars to it as an agency, and put in claims for about $23,000. The company claimed Ford induced them to withdraw the claims, but that their sales contract later was cancelled. Then, they alleged, the Ford company started suit to collect $6,800 in notes which it had given the old Lincoln company, and the Sweeten company filed a counter-claim for $250,000. Since that time, nearly six years ago, the case has dragged through the courts.

In the subpoena, Ford was ordered to appear before Bertha D. Connolly, notary public, on Monday morning, to present testimony.

"Take it Back!"

"The sheriff's office had the subpoena for weeks and couldn't serve it," said Leland today. "So, on Jan. 10, I took it to an old-fashioned dance where Mr. Ford was a guest. I was received all right. During the evening Mr. Ford came and sat near me. I said 'Good evening, Mr. Ford.'

"He must have mistaken me for somebody else, but he rose and extended his hand. As he did so, I slapped the subpoena into it.

"'Why, what's this,' Ford exclaimed. "'That, sir, is a subpoena in which your company is involved,' " I said.

"'Take it back! Take it back!' Mr. Ford exclaimed as he stepped toward me.

"'I can't take it back,' I said, and then went on my way," Leland related.

Associates said Ford has not appeared to testify in legal action since the famous Chicago Tribune suit in 1919, in which he was awarded damages of six cents.

Officials at the Ford company, questioned tonight about the issuance of the subpoena, said they knew nothing of the case. Others, saying it was "all news to us," declined to comment until, they said, an investigation could be made.

Hoboes' Society First Devotees Of Technocracy

BY HOMER McCOY
Associated Press Staff Writer

Chicago, (AP)—Now take this technocracy thing!

The ancient and honorable society of hoboes took it for a thorough educational airing. They organized, at Hobo College—"Liberal Science Institute" in the telephone book—a course in advanced technocracy.

To 43 of the school's most gifted students, James McBeth, king of the hoboes and dean of the college, announced the step. But first, before erudition rolled over the classroom like a fog, he led them in cheer.

In this manner did the student body shout its enthusiasm for the aims and ideals of alma mater:

"Hobo! Hobo!
Always on the go.
We're the guys without any dough.
Where do we learn the things that we know?
R-A-A-Y!"

Then spake McBeth:

"The theory of technocracy is not new to the philosophers of the road at hobo college. At our last convention we adopted the 4-hour day and the 4-day week. The scientists have lagged far behind the hobo in social understanding. We have long since recognized that hard work dulls the mind and weakens the spirit, and that long hours of labor mean short years of life."

Hoboes, McBeth explained, are not at all alarmed at the ascendancy of machines. Their industrial elysium would have a one-day week for work, and a one-hour day—that preferably between noon and one o'clock, Lunch-time, that is.

They are even working (studying is the correct term) toward that end by planning more and better machines. "The deacon," who hasn't worked for 37 years, got up and told the assemblage what he was doing to create such a condition.

Many men have been thrown out of employment, he understood, by machines which do the labor of 20 men when you simply press a button.

"The deacon" is perfecting a machine that will press the button.

Japan Reenforcing Force in Manchuria

Tokyo, Jan. 20 (AP)—Throughout Japan army recruits began reporting to their stations today in obedience to a war office decision which is expected to increase by fifty percent Japan's manpower in Manchuria.

A spokesman for the war office announced that the army authorities had decided to dispatch a portion of the regular 1933 conscripts immediately to the command of General Nobuyoshi Muto, the supreme military official in Manchuria.

Competent military commentators said this meant that although the number of Japanese units under General Muto would be unchanged, the total strength, at least for the next few months, would be increased by approximately fifty per cent, one third of them raw recruits. The rest of the increase would be made up of auxiliaries.

It was suggested that the rookies soon would be available to garrison quiet sectors, thereby releasing Manchurian veterans for real fighting. The present strength of General Mutó's command is estimated at 40,000 men.

The 1931 class of conscripts, now veterans of the Manchurian campaigns, will remain in service despite the fact that their two-year term has expired.

Last month the war office announced that the military forces of the nation were being readjusted in order to permit reinforcement of the Manchurian army by decreasing the domestic garrison.

At the same time it was made known that General Muto's command was to be provided with greatly improved equipment, notably additional airplanes, tanks, heavy guns, and motorized units.

A war office spokesman in December said that under the readjustment plan the strength of the Manchurian army would be increased to 60,000 or 65,000 well-equipped men within two years. Funds for this purpose were included in the 1933-34 army budget.

VERNON BANDITS EVADE OFFICERS

No Clue to Guide Search; Bank Places Loss At $3,152

Vernon, Mich., Jan. 20. (AP)—Two youthful bandits who yesterday robbed the Vernon State bank and locked two employes in a vault and escaped with loot now estimated by bank officials at $3,152, continued to elude state troopers, sheriff's officers and farmer vigilantes who were vigorously searching for them today in the vicinity of Owosso and other parts of Genesee county.

Authorities were without any definite clues as to the whereabouts of the bandits. An airplane which had joined the search, today trailed a speeding car on a state highway below in the belief that it was the bandits'. Later it was discovered that the car was driven by a party of searchers.

It also developed that license plate No. 501-550, broadcast as the number on the bandits' car was on a car owned by Horace Gilbert, of Corunna, and that the car was in Gilbert's garage and had not been out for a month.

Numerous conflicting reports have reached those in charge of the search. One said the bandits had reached Detroit after escaping yesterday by way of Flint. Others reported the pair in Grand Rapids. Apparently there was no definitely substantiated clue to guide the searchers in organizing their campaign.

Dillman Is Named By Road Builders As Vice President

Detroit ,Jan. 20 (AP)—Members of the 22 organizations making up the highway and building congress in session here this week, closed their 1933 meeting last night with the appointment of T. H. Cutler, of New York City, chairman of the central committee on arrangements.

Cutler's appointment followed a resolution adopted by members of the 22 groups to make the highway and building congress a permanent organization. The move ended the five day program presented here this week.

A plan and scope committee composed of three members was also created. The committee is composed of Willard T. Chevalier, New York City, president of the manufacturing division of the congress, Robert D. Kohn, New York City, president of the Construction League of the United States, and A. C. Tozzer, Washington, D. C., president of the Associated General Contractors.

The plan and scope committee was charged with the responsibility of choosing a meeting place for the congress in 1934, and with laying out a program of coordination for the congress units. A meeting in New York was scheduled for this spring.

H .C. Whitehurst, director of highways, District of Columbia, was elected president of the American Road Builders association, largest group of the 22 making up the congress.

Grover C. Dillman, Michigan highway commissioner, was named regional vice president, and Otto S. Hess, Grand Rapids, was elected to a directorship for three years. He is manager of the Kent county road commission.

Cleveland, Jan. 20, (AP)—Five men described by police as members of a "$2,000,000 arson gang" were accused of first degree murder today in the burning of the downtown Ellington apartment hotel in which 13 persons perished, last June 9.

Tennessee county agents assisted 210 cooperative marketing associations in selling $2,515,000 worth of farm products in the last year.

Negotiations Will Open After March 4

France was ready to negotiate at the earliest possible moment concerning its debt, now in default. Later it was said no dissatisfaction was expressed in official comment over the fact that the Paris government was not mentioned in the announcement made here.

Germany Interested

In Belgium, Hungary, Poland and other defaulting nations as well as Italy, Czechoslovakia and other payee countries the new American move was taken under immediate consideration. In Germany, an official spokesman declared that nation "welcomes everything that will hasten a solution of the debts question."

The president and president-elect, in their second post-election meeting today, spoke not entirely of debts and world economics. In touching upon the tense Sino-Japanese situation, informed quarters reported Mr. Roosevelt as expressing a belief that the accord between the two administrations on foreign treaties would have a healthy effect. Nevertheless, it was the debt tangle that dominated the discussion.

The Hoover-Roosevelt meeting today was set against the same background of the formal red room as was their first meeting. The same mist of tobacco smoke from the cigars and cigarettes of the two party leaders and their advisors hung within the red-walled chamber as the talk proceeded.

"Hello Frank"

The chief executive, accompanied by Secretaries Stimson and Mills, had barely entered the room when the president-elect was announced. Only by holding up the Roosevelt party for a few seconds at the nearby elevator door were the formalities maintained.

"The president-elect," called out Irwin Hoover, chief usher of the White House, and Mr. Hoover stepped forward with a slight bow but without speaking or shaking hands with his successor.

As the president shook hands in turn with Professor Raymond I. Moley and Norman Davis, American delegate to the arms conference, and now mentioned as a prospect for secretary of state, Mr. Roosevelt greeted the others in the room.

There was a "Hello, Ogden" and a "Hello, Frank," as Mills and the president-elect, life-long acquaintances, met again.

Last Payment December 15

Mr. Roosevelt sat in a straight-backed chair beside the sofa, while Stimson and Moley occupied another sofa directly in front of the fireplace and Mills and Davis had individual chairs nearby to complete the semi-circle. Mr. Hoover chose his usual cigar and Mr. Roosevelt a cigarette from small tea tables set close at hand.

The talk turned immediately to the British debt question. Before making its December 15 payment of $95,550,000, England made clear in notes to this government that the payment probably would be its last unless negotiations were opened upon the problem. In one note Britain asked that this payment be taken to apply as a payment on any readjusted debt figure.

At the state department, later, Undersecretary Castle told newspapermen that there had been no requests from Great Britain for a review of the debts since the interchange of notes prior to the December 15 payment.

Meanwhile, as senators excoriated the French government for not meeting its December payment, fresh news was received from Paris of general "satisfaction" concerning the White House move. In the foreign office no disappointment was expressed, it was said, over the fact that France was not mentioned in the Washington communique. A spokesman termed the decision to act on the British problem a good omen for other debtor countries.

Robinson Scores France

In Washington, at the same time, the French embassy said no instructions had been received for another approach to the debts problem but the possibility was spoken of that the Paris government might move through the American embassy there. Senator Robinson, meanwhile, held the senate floor with a prepared speech in which he asserted "the republic of France is entitled to no consideration from us."

"Throughout the past year," Robinson said, "she has done everything possible to embarrass this country economically. In fact, her withdrawals of gold from this country at one time were so barefaced as to be positively unfriendly. It is a tragic thing to see France, who has received so much from the United States and the American people, turn into the thorough ingrate she has come to be."

Senator Fess (R., Ohio), joined in with a statement that France had assumed a "childish" attitude toward the country that had helped her in a time of need with "money and men."

Senator Smoot (R., Utah), Copeland (D., N. Y.), and Howell (R., Neb.), also criticized the Paris government, with the Utahan, a former member of the now defunct debt funding commission asserting that the loans made to France were "just as sacred as any obligation that could be made between man and man or nation and nation."

PILOT KILLED TESTING SHIP

Last of 'Three Muskteers' Gives His Life for Unproved Idea

Dayton, O., Jan. 20 (AP)—Death reached into the air lanes today for Lieut. Irvin A. Woodring—and thus passed the last of the army's "Three Musketeers of Aviation."

Like his fellow musketeers, Lieutenant Woodring died in harness trying to advance the standards of army aviation. He fell 2,000 feet from the sky near Wright field.

The daring flier's experimental attack-type ship flew to bits and his body was thrown clear. Apparently he had no chance to use his parachute, the device that twice before had saved his life, as it was found unopened on the body.

The accident was the second within the month that has claimed the life of a Wright field flier engaging in the hazardous business of experimenting with unproved ideas in aviation. Captain Hugh Elmendorf of Washington, D. C., was killed in an experimental pursuit plane last Friday.

Won World Renown

Brig .Gen. H. C. Pratt, chief of the Materiel division of the air corps immediately appointed a board of inquiry.

In 1928 while stationed at Rockwell field, San Diego, Calif., Woodring and two fellow lieutenants—W. L. Cornelius and J. J. Williams—won world-wide renown and their title of musketeers by their daring feats.

The first to die was Lieutenant Williams, who crashed in the midst of an inverted formation at the National Air Races at Los Angeles in the same year. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took Williams' place and the remaining musketeers carried on.

Lieutenant Cornelius met death a month later in a collision with Lieut. Roger V. Williams, who parachuted to safety.

Lieutenant Woodring, a member of the flight test branch at Wright field was 31 .

Awardad Flying Cross

In 1927 he won the Mitchell speed trophy race for army pilots at Dayton. But his most widely known contribution to the history of aviation probably came in October, 1931, when he carried documents of the Japanese ratification of the London naval treaty from Vancouver, B. C., to Newark, N. J., in record time. Another pilot carrying duplicate documents on that trip—Lieut. William Caldwell—fell to his death in a Wyoming blizzard.

For that dangerous flight, Lieutenant Woodring was awarded the distinguished Service Flying Cross.

Houghton College Offers BS Degree

Houghton, Mich., (AP)—The Michigan College of Mining and Technology will offer a general bachelor of science degree in addition to the general engineering degrees now conferred, the board of control has ruled.

This step, recommended by the faculty, is considered the most important expansion of the curriculum since 1927. Required subjects for the new degree total approximately 3,300 classroom hours and electives slightly more. The required subjects include three courses in mathematics, three in physics, four in chemistry. One in metallurgy, two years of French and German, five English courses, a year of economics, American government and politics, mechanical drawing, electric power, mineralogy, and three courses in geology.

The board has also approved 27 new courses, with the main additions in the departments of civil, electrical and mining engineering. In the new mining course an inspection trip to one or more mining districts outside the Lake Superior copper and iron regions is included.

Vermont had the first normal school to be established in the world.

Uniform Poor Budgets

The Supervisors' association also adopted a resolution calling for a conference, to be held as soon as possible, of U. P. county poor relief boards and superintendents for the purpose of adopting a uniform method of spending, administering and accounting for relief funds. The conference will be arranged for by officers of the association and the time and date therefore will be decided later.

This resolution was presented by Frank J. Russell, one of the Dickinson county delegates to the U. P. employment relief conference, and was endorsed at that conference in its evening session which preceded the meeting of th Supervisors' association.

Other resolutions adopted by the association were:

Bouschor Re-elected

Favoring a state appropriation for tourist and resort advertising in which the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau shall participate.

Urging no diversion of gasoline and weight tax receipts from the highway construction program of the state.

Objecting to the plan of legislative reopportionment as proposed by Wayne and other counties containing large cities.

Favoring the continuation of the U. P. State Fair in Escanaba, providing that the state fair in Detroit is continued.

C. J. Burns, of Escanaba, was elected president of the association to succeed R. P. Zinn, of Ironwood. Other officers elected were H. E. Perkins, of Marquette, first vice-president; A. M. Anderson, of Ewen, second vice-president; Leslie Bouschour, of Manistique, secretary and treasurer.

LEADERS SPEED FARM DEBT ACT

Robinson's Bill Adjusts Farmer's Problem on Ability to Pay

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP) — The powerful Democratic leadership in congress tonight threw the full force of its support behind a mammoth plan for adjusting the debts of the nation's farmers on a basis of their ability to pay.

After a conference with President-elect Roosevelt, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the party floor-leader, presented in legislative form a momentous proposal worked out by farm organization leaders under which the farmer could escape technical bankruptcy and avoid mortgage foreclosures while a rearrangement of his obligations is in progress.

Although numerous farm debt-relief measures are pending in the house, the Democratic leadership there has determined upon Robinson's measure as the one to be pushed. It is to be introduced there soon.

Party spokesmen said they believed the proposal had a good prospect of passage at this session, but that if shortness of time prevented its enactment, it would undoubtedly go through at the special session to be called by Mr. Roosevelt in mid-April.

Officers, Office And Everything For Technocracy

New York, (AP)—Technocracy took on a new and definite form, with skyscraper headquarters, a switchboard, an "official" exposition of its ideas, a definite national organization, and officers.

While 100 unemployed engineers and architects—being paid $54 a month by the unemployment relief committee—continued to pore over charts at Columbia university and in a park avenue office, official headquarters were opened in a building overlooking Fifth avenue.

"Continental committee on technocracy," the gilt letters on the door read. Langdon Post, former Democratic member of the state legislature, who was denied renomination by Tammany Hall last year ,is temporary chairman.

The official technocracy handbook will be published tomorrow. It is labelled "the only authorized presentation of technocracy."

FORD IS SERVED WITH SUBPOENA

Motor Magnate Handed Paper at Old-Time Dance Jan. 10

Detroit, Jan. 20 (AP)—For the first time in many years, Henry Ford has been subpoenaed to testify in a legal action.

Information that the 69-year-old motor magnate has been summoned to appear before a notary to give testimony in a suit involving his company came today from Wilfrid C. Leland, son of the founder of the Lincoln Motor company, purchased several years ago by Ford. Leland revealed that he personally had slipped unnoticed into an old-fashioned dancing party at which Ford was a guest, and handed him the subpoena before Ford realized its nature. The Lincoln company was founded by the late Henry M. Leland.

6 Years in Court

The suit, originally started by the Ford company against the Sweeten Automobile Co., of Philadelphia, is an outgrowth of six years of legal action, which involved the Sweeten company, Ford, and Leland. It grew out of the purchase of the Lincoln company by Ford, although it is a side-issue in the purchase.

The Sweeten company, attorneys said, alleged it had lost several hundred thousand dollars when the Lincoln company failed to furnish cars to it as an agency, and put in claims for about $23,000. The company claimed Ford induced them to withdraw the claims, but that their sales contract later was cancelled. Then, they alleged, the Ford company started suit to collect $6,800 in notes which it had given the old Lincoln company, and the Sweeten company filed a counter- claim for $250,000. Since that time, nearly six years ago, the case has dragged through the courts.

In the subpoena, Ford was ordered to appear before Bertha D. Connolly, notary public, on Monday morning, to present testimony.

"Take it Back!"

"The sheriff's office had the subpoena for weeks and couldn't serve it," said Leland today. "So, on Jan. 10, I took it to an old-fashioned dance where Mr. Ford was a guest. I was received all right. During the evening Mr. Ford came and sat near me. I said 'Good evening, Mr. Ford.'

"He must have mistaken me for somebody else, but he rose and extended his hand. As he did so, I slapped the subpoena into it.

" 'Why, what's this,' Ford exclaimed. " 'That, sir, is a subpoena in which your company is involved,' " I said.

" 'Take it back! Take it back!' Mr. Ford exclaimed as he stepped toward me.

" 'I can't take it back,' I said, and then went on my way," Leland related.

Associates said Ford has not appeared to testify in legal action since the famous Chicago Tribune suit in 1919, in which he was awarded damages of six cents.

Officials at the Ford company, questioned tonight about the issuance of the subpoena, said they knew nothing of the case. Others, saying it was "all news to us," declined to comment until, they said, an investigation could be made.

Hoboes' Society First Devotees Of Technocracy

BY HOMER McCOY
Associated Press Staff Writer

Chicago, (AP)—Now take this technocracy thing!

The ancient and honorable society of hoboes took it for a thorough educational airing. They organized, at Hobo College—"Liberal Science Institute" in the telephone book—a course in advanced technocracy.

To 43 of the school's most gifted students, James McBeth, king of the hoboes and dean of the college, announced the step. But first, before erudition rolled over the classroom like a fog, he led them in cheer.

In this manner did the student body shout its enthusiasm for the aims and ideals of alma mater:

"Hobo! Hobo!
Always on the go.
We're the guys without any dough.
Where do we learn the things that we know?
In hobo college!
R-A-A-A-Y!"

Then spake McBeth:

"The theory of technocracy is not new to the philosophers of the road at hobo college. At our last convention we adopted the 4-hour day and the 4-day week. The scientists have lagged far behind the hobo in social understanding. We long since recognized that hard work dulls the mind and weakens the spirit, and that long hours of labor mean short years of life."

Hoboes, McBeth explained, are not at all alarmed at the ascendancy of machines. Their industrial elysium would have a one-day week for work, and a one-hour day—that preferably between noon and one o'clock. Lunch-time, that is.

They are even working (studying is the correct term) toward that end by planning more and better machines. "The deacon," who hasn't worked for 37 years, got up and told the assemblage today what he was doing to create such a condition.

Many men have been thrown out of employment, he understood, by machines which do the labor of 20 men when you simply press a button.

"The deacon" is perfecting a machine that will press the button.

Japan Reenforcing Force in Manchuria

Tokyo, Jan. 20 (AP)—Throughout Japan army recruits began reporting to their stations today in obedience to a war office decision which is expected to increase by fifty percent Japan's manpower in Manchuria.

A spokesman for the war office announced that the army authorities had decided to dispatch a portion of the regular 1933 conscripts immediately to the command of General Nobuyoshi Muto, the supreme military official in Manchuria.

Competent military commentators said this meant that although the number of Japanese units under General Muto would be unchanged, the total strength, at least for the next few months, would be increased by approximately fifty per cent, one third of them raw recruits. The rest of the increase would be made up of auxiliaries.

It was suggested that the rookies soon would be available to garrison quiet sectors, thereby releasing Manchurian veterans for real fighting. The present strength of General Muto's command is estimated at 40,000 men.

The 1931 class of conscripts, now veterans of the Manchurian campaigns, will remain in service despite the fact that their two-year term has expired.

Last month the war office announced that the military forces of the nation were being readjusted in order to permit reinforcement of the Manchurian army by decreasing the domestic garrison.

At the same time it was made known that General Muto's command was to be provided with greatly improved equipment, notably additional airplanes, tanks, heavy guns, and motorized units.

A war office spokesman in December said that under the readjustment plan the strength of the Manchurian army would be increased to 60,000 or 65,000 well-equipped men within two years. Funds for this purpose were included in the 1933-34 army budget.

VERNON BANDITS EVADE OFFICERS

No Clue to Guide Search; Bank Places Loss At $3,152

Vernon, Mich., Jan. 20. (AP)—Two youthful bandits who yesterday robbed the Vernon State bank and locked two employes in a vault and escaped with loot now estimated by bank officials at $3,152, continued to elude state troopers, sheriff's officers and farmer vigilantes who were vigorously searching for them today in the vicinity of Owosso and other parts of Genesee county.

Authorities were without any definite clues as to the whereabouts of the bandits. An airplane which had joined the search, today trailed a speeding car on a state highway below in the belief that it was the bandits'. Later it was discovered that the car was driven by a party of searchers.

It also developed that license plate No. 501-550, broadcast as the number on the bandits' car was on a car owned by Horace Gilbert, of Corunna, and that the car was in Gilbert's garage and had not been out for a month.

Numerous conflicting reports have reached those in charge of the search. One said the bandits had reached Detroit after escaping yesterday by way of Flint. Others reported the pair in Grand Rapids. Apparently there was no definitely substantiated clue to guide the searchers in organizing their campaign.

Dillman Is Named By Road Builders As Vice President

Detroit ,Jan. 20 (AP)—Members of the 22 organizations making up the highway and building congress in session here this week, closed their 1933 meeting last night with the appointment of T. H. Cutler, of New York City, chairman of the central committee on arrangements.

Cutler's appointment followed a resolution adopted by members of the 22 groups to make the highway and building congress a permanent organization. The move ended the five day program presented here this week.

A plan and scope committee composed of three members was also created. The committee is composed of Willard T. Chevalier, New York City, president of the manufacturing division of the congress, Robert D. Kohn, New York City, president of the Construction League of the United States, and A. C. Tozzer, Washington, D. C., president of the Associated General Contractors.

The plan and scope committee was charged with the responsibility of choosing a meeting place for the congress in 1934, and with laying out a program of coordination for the congress units. A meeting in New York was scheduled for this spring.

H .C. Whitehurst, director of highways, District of Columbia, was elected president of the American Road Builders association, largest group of the 22 making up the congress.

Grover C. Dillman, Michigan highway commissioner, was named regional vice president, and Otto S. Hess, Grand Rapids, was elected to a directorship for three years. He is manager of the Kent county road commission.

France was ready to negotiate at the earliest possible moment concerning its debt, now in default. Later it was said no dissatisfaction was expressed in official comment over the fact that the Paris government was not mentioned in the announcement made here.

Germany Interested

In Belgium, Hungary, Poland and other defaulting nations as well as Italy, Czechoslovakia and other payee countries the new American move was taken under immediate consideration. In Germany, an official spokesman declared that nation "welcomes everything that will hasten a solution of the debts question."

The president and president-elect, in their second post-election meeting today, spoke not entirely of debts and world economics. In touching upon the tense Sino-Japanese situation, informed quarters reported Mr. Roosevelt as expressing a belief that the accord between the two administrations on foreign treaties would have a healthy effect. Nevertheless, it was the debt tangle that dominated the discussion.

The Hoover-Roosevelt meeting today was set against the same background of the formal red room as was their first meeting. The same mist of tobacco smoke from the cigars and cigarettes of the two party leaders and their advisors hung within the red-walled chamber as the talk proceeded.

"Hello Frank"

The chief executive, accompanied by Secretaries Stimson and Mills, had barely entered the room when the president-elect was announced. Only by holding up the Roosevelt party for a few seconds at the nearby elevator door were the formalities maintained.

"The president-elect," called out Irwin Hoover, chief usher of the White House, and Mr. Hoover stepped forward with a slight bow but without speaking or shaking hands with his successor.

As the president shook hands in turn with Professor Raymond I. Moley and Norman Davis, American delegate to the arms conference, and now mentioned as a prospect for secretary of state, Mr. Roosevelt greeted the others in the room.

There was a "Hello, Ogden" and a "Hello, Frank," as Mills and the president-elect, life-long acquaintances, met again.

Last Payment December 15

Mr. Roosevelt sat in a straight-backed chair beside the sofa, while Stimson and Moley occupied another sofa directly in front of the fireplace and Mills and Davis had individual chairs nearby to complete the semi-circle. Mr. Hoover chose his usual cigar and Mr. Roosevelt a cigarette from small tea tables set close at hand.

The talk turned immediately to the British debt question. Before making its December 15 payment of $95,550,000, England made clear in notes to this government that the payment probably would be its last unless negotiations were opened upon the problem. In one note Britain asked that this payment be taken to apply as a payment on any readjusted debt figure.

At the state department, later, Undersecretary Castle told newspapermen that there had been no requests from Great Britain for a review of the debts since the interchange of notes prior to the December 15 payment.

Meanwhile, as senators excoriated the French government for not meeting its December payment, fresh news was received from Paris of general "satisfaction" concerning the White House move. In the foreign office no disappointment was expressed, it was said, over the fact that France was not mentioned in the Washington communique. A spokesman termed the decision to act on the British problem a good omen for other debtor countries.

Robinson Scores France

In Washington, at the same time, the French embassy said no instructions had been received for another approach to the debts problem but the possibility was spoken of that the Paris government might move through the American embassy there. Senator Robinson, meanwhile, held the senate floor with a prepared speech in which he asserted "the republic of France is entitled to no consideration from us."

"Throughout the past year," Robinson said, "she has done everything possible to embarrass this country economically. In fact, her withdrawals of gold from this country at one time were so barefaced as to be positively unfriendly. It is a tragic thing to see France, who has received so much from the United States and the American people, turn into the thorough ingrate she has come to be."

Senator Fess (R., Ohio), joined in with a statement that France had assumed a "childish" attitude toward the country that had helped her in a time of need with "money and men."

Senator Smoot (R., Utah), Copeland (D., N. Y.), and Howell (R., Neb.), also criticized the Paris government, with the Utahan, a former member of the now defunct debt funding commission asserting that the loans made to France were "just as sacred as any obligation that could be made between man and man or nation and nation."

The question, "What fertilizers to use to get the greatest possible returns on potatoes, grain, hay crops, and rutabagas?" will be answered by the results of actual field experiments that were conducted in the upper peninsula.

Samples of soil will be tested at the meetings for those who will bring them.

Because of the shortage of cleared land in the upper peninsula, it should be the aim of every grower to endeavor to get the maximum yields from every acre during 1933. This will be necessary to reduce the amount spent for feed.

Magazine Has Item on First Delta School

Delta county's first school is the topic of an interesting article, written by Mrs. Pauline F. Lehmann Cordes of Menominee for the current issue of the Michigan History magazine.

The article reads as follows:

"How the first school in Delta county, Michigan, was opened in the summer of 1859 may be of interest. I have never seen it printed anywhere. Mrs. Naomi Fleming of Muskegon was the first teacher. As no money had been appropriated by the state for school purposes, parents paid the tuition for their children. There were nine children enrolled at that time: John McCreach, 14 years; Frank Langley, 8; David Langley, 6; Pauline F. Lehmann, 11; Mary Lehmann, 9; Caroline Lehmann, 7; Minerva Moulton, 7; Alma Moulton, 7, and Isabel Cheney, 8.

"The school was located at the old Flat Rock water mill in a room of the old boarding house, a parlor and bedroom occupied by Mr. Ashton, the clerk and bookkeeper at the store who gave his room to hold the school session in. There were no desks or benches as in schools today. There was a large table in the center of the big room, and those who had writing to do sat around that. Of books there were only a few that the children had brought with them from some other school when the parents moved to Flat Rock, or Escanaw bow, as it was spelled in those days. Some of the smaller ones were just learning their letters. Another scholar was added the next year, Helen Thorp, whose mother came as housekeeper at the Langley home, Mrs. Langley having died the previous summer.

"How this school came to exist, no money being allowed by the state, was that the mothers of these children came together and decided the children should have some kind of a school. Mrs. William Lehmann who had just moved to Flat Rock that spring said she knew of a woman who had had a private school in Muskegon who might possibly be persuaded to come as teacher. Mrs. Lehmann wrote Mrs. Fleming and she came in the summer of 1859 and opened the above mentioned school. Mrs. Fleming taught only the one summer of 1859. Miss Langley taught in the fall of 1860-61, then in the spring married James Hiller. The winter of 1861 to 1862 Mrs. James Morgan taught school, she coming with her husband to Flat Rock, where he had work. She had taught school in Ohio, their former home.

"Of course there was no school house. Sessions were held in the dining room of the boarding house, it not being in use, all the mill hands who boarded there being in the woods in camps logging. At the mill in the village were only the superintendent, David Langley, the clerk and bookkeeper, Thomas Ashton, and a chore boy, James Watson William Alger, who was cutting shingles by hand, and the blacksmith, William Lehmann (my father). Of those still living who went to school there, are Mrs. Mary Lehmann Bemus, Mrs. Caroline Lehmann Quimby and the writer."

GOVERNOR FACES DILEMMA

MEMBERS of the Democratic State Central Committee, attending a meeting at Lansing on Thursday, to make plans for the party's spring convention, displayed a highly restless spirit, according to news dispatches from the capital. The meeting was characterized by an open demand, from some of the committee members, for greater speed in providing jobs for deserving Democrats, with the plain implication that the matter of dishing out political jobs holds equal importance with settlement of the state's tax and other problems. It is reported that Gov. Comstock sounded a warning that too much of his time is being taken up in receiving delegations, many seeking jobs and delivered a fervent plea that he be given time to complete what he considers his most important job—that of shaping a legislative program to place before the legislature.

Among those who are looking to the new administration at Lansing, to carry out pledges of reducing the cost of government and the equally troublesome problem of reshaping the tax structure of the state, made necessary by the adoption of the $15 tax limitation amendment—and this class makes up about 99 per cent of Michigan's population—, there will be genuine sympathy for Gov. Comstock, in the position in which he is placed by less thoughtful members of his party.

Political job hunters should be satisfied with the knowledge that they are going to get all of the available jobs that are to be filled, when the administration can find the time to place the right men in the right places. The Democrats won the election and they will reap their full reward, but their immediate desires should be tempered with just a little patience.

Thoughtful leaders of Gov. Comstock's party will recognize that both Gov. Comstock and his party will be judged by the net result the governor is able to achieve through his administration of state affairs. If he makes good his party will also have made good and unbiased observers admit that he has made a pretty good start at the job. He should be helped, rather than hindered.

CUT IS CERTAIN

A PROPOSAL, urged in the peninsula for several years, now seems in a fair way of accomplishment—a drastic reduction in rates charged for transportation on the state ferries operating between St. Ignace and Mackinaw. Early in last fall Commissioner Grover C. Dillman, of the state highway department, announced that rates will be established for the season opening next spring, such as will cut former ferry fees approximately in half.

In the legislature, at Lansing, this week, a resolution was proposed requesting information from the highway department as to definite figures on the proposed ferry rates, in order that official information may be placed before the senate and house membership.

Everything now points to a satisfactory removal of a bar that has kept many tourists, in the past, from crossing the straits into the peninsula.

APPRECIATE IMPORTANCE

ESCANABA and Gladstone, being division points for important railway lines, thus being made the homes of division officials, train crews and shop employes, have felt the pinch of the disaster that has overtaken the railways of the nation, more severely than any other points in the peninsula. A diminishing number of division officials and great numbers of idle train crews and idle shopmen, have served to add to the economic problems of these cities.

If we did not fully appreciate the value of railway employment provided in these two cities in the days when business was at its height, we have now, in these days when such employment has been brought to the lowest point in all history, come to a full appreciation of the loss that has been sustained. At least, what is left of railroad employment is being guarded as never before. The laying off of five men, or the reemployment of five men, causes more comment today than would have been cases involving 100 men in former years.

It is because of our intimate knowledge of railroad affairs that we probably appreciate more fully than other communities, the problems faced by the railway managements.

But even with the nation's railroad business in its present status, figures have just been made public, in proof of the importance of railroad spending to the nation, even during the leanest of all years in history.

These figures show that the railroads of the United States spent approximately $441,500,000 in the markets of the country for fuel and materials and supplies in 1932, exclusive of expenditures for locomotives and cars, for construction work performed under contract and for heat, light, water, power and other miscellaneous services. They also show that railway purchases have been increasing steadily since June.

"In 1931," says the Railway Age, "corresponding railway purchases amounted to approximately $695,000,000. In 1930, they amounted to approximately $1,038,000,000. In 1929 they were $1,329,000,000, and in the five years from 1925 to 1929, inclusive, they averaged $1,389,000,000 per year. The money expended by the railroads for fuel and materials and supplies in 1932 was thus approximately $250,000,000, or 35 per cent less than was spent in 1931; approximately $600,000,000, or 57 per cent less than in 1930; approximately $885,000,000, or 67 per cent less than in 1929, and approximately $935,000,000, or 69 per cent less than the five-year average.

"These figures present two very significant facts," the Railway Age continues. "In the first place, they show what the railroads are capable of spending when railway earnings are again restored. Secondly, they show that the railroads, in the blackest year which they ever faced, contributed $441,500,000 to the business of this country for purchases of fuel and materials and supplies alone. Despite the reduction in these purchases which has occurred, the railways are still buyers to the extent of more than $1,200,000 every day.

"In 1932 the railroads spent over $150,000,000 with coal producers for fuel; approximately $32,000,000 with oil refiners for fuel oil and over $13,000,000 for lubricating and illuminating oils. Approximately $116,000,000 of their purchases represented iron and steel products, including more than $27,000,000 for track materials; more than $7,500,000 for telegraph, telephone and signaling materials; more than $17,000,000 for wheels, tires and axles, and more than $12,000,000 for locomotive and car castings. Their purchases also included expenditures of more than $50,000,000 for forest products, and of $8,000,000 for products of copper and brass; $5,000,000 for miscellaneous electrical supplies; $7,000,000 for restaurant supplies, and $11,000,000 for stationery.

"In the light of purchases averaging $1,200,000 daily in such times as these, can anyone question the importance of the railroads to the business of this country? In further light of the fact that railway purchases averaged $3,800,000 daily from 1925 to 1929, can anyone question the present effect on business of this average daily loss of $2,600,000 in rail purchases, or its value to national prosperity if restored? Yet there are a great many people who appear to know very little about the railroads or they could not be indifferent to their plight and to the efforts of their managements to solve the problems of excessive taxation, restrictive regulation, and subsidized and unregulated competition.

CHAPTER XVII

Sheila and Dick drove to Greenwich Village and sought out an Italian restaurant where dinner was still being served. Parking the roadster near the entrance, they passed through the half deserted dining room into the September coolness of the garden in the rear.

Tables were set here and a few diners lingered. A girl in lavender muslin wearing a wide hat, intriguingly simple, faced a middle-aged escort. A group of newspaper men were nearby discussing a late book. Farther away sat two women dining together.

John, the proprietor, wandered from table to table, a muffler wrapped about his throat as was his custom in any except the hottest July temperature. John had been a singer.

He hurried to greet the newcomers and usher them to a table.

"Would Madame like the special salad?" he asked eagerly. Then he frowned at his mistake. The young lady was not "madame." She looked much too young.

"It's very good, Sheila," Dick assured her. "Want to try it? All right, John. Two dinners with the special salad."

"Would you like to see the chicken cooked?" Dick asked. Grateful for the interruption, Sheila rose and followed Dick into the kitchen which was well forward. She did not want, just then, to hear more of his pleas that she should give up her part in the road show and stay in New York.

It was a large, airy kitchen with a huge range and spit. Three white-capped chefs wandered about, apparently aimlessly yet actually with deft purpose. This one with a fork lifted the curling, coiling spaghetti and let it fall once more with a shake of his head. That one watched the chicken or split uncooked fowls with a sharp cleaver on a smoothly scrubbed pine board. Another stirred, sniffed and seasoned a reddish sauce, thick and fragrant.

* * *

John himself, at the farther end of the kitchen, was apparently in what Dick called a "mood." A stranger stood beside him and gazed negligently and impatiently on some snapshots and cabinet photographs which John seemed bent on displaying.

The stranger shook his head. "I can't help it. I can't do a thing about it. Those are the orders! Pay up or get out."

"But my grandmother! My mother in Italia! They will starve if I close! You are wrong. I never sell one drop in this place!"

The restaurant keeper flung down the family portraits on a bare table. They were instantly swept aside to make room for a huge soup kettle. Bending, with tears gathering afresh, John collected the photographs together and held them to his breast.

"Is he in trouble?" asked Sheila hesitantly. Dick frowned.

"Don't know. If he's been selling booze he is. That's certain. But I'm sure he pays his rent. Trevor owns this block, you know. I'll see what I can do."

While Dick proffered his assistance Sheila returned to the table in the garden.

At the next table, vacant when she and Dick had arrived, a tall, blond young man was sitting. He was smoking thoughtfully. Presently a waiter, napkin on arm, hurried to the young man's side, bearing a steaming plate of soup.

Suddenly the stranger's eyes met Sheila's and he smiled. It was a frank smile, ingenuous and winning. There was nothing flirtatious about it. Sheila smiled back.

"Aren't you Miss Shayne?" the man asked in a low tone. Without waiting for an answer, he nodded slowly. "Yes, of course you are. I've seen you on the stage. I saw you at Atlantic City and I wanted to see you here. Where have you been?"

"You mean you saw me in 'When Lights Are Low'?"

He nodded.

* * *

Having secured another part, Sheila didn't mind in the least admitting what had happened. Others knew it now anyhow.

"I lost my job in that show in Atlantic City," she said. "I guess I wasn't much of a success."

"But you were! You were excellent! I suppose it was Marion—yes, of course, that was it! Marion doesn't like competition. Do you have a job now?"

Sheila nodded. "I'm going on the road."

"Not really? Why you can be a Broadway star if you stay here. On the road—!"

"I have to eat."

"Don't we all? Come and eat with me any time. But meanwhile don't go on the road. Are you married?"

Sheila gave a start. "Goodness, no!"

The man laughed. "Well, you will be. I've seen it so many times. Girls who have talent, looks, personality, spoil it all by running off and getting married. I'll bet you're engaged this minute—"

"No!" Sheila's voice rang out quickly.

"Well, you will be. Red checked curtains in your kitchen windows, a pot of geraniums on the sill, doll carriages around the place to stumble over—"

"How did you know?" Sheila began, her cheeks burning.

"How did I know? I didn't until a minute ago. You look just like that kind of a girl. Well—" his tone lowered, "I'll be seeing you."

His glance dropped. Looking up, Sheila saw Dick coming along the garden walk.

"It seems John was in a jam," Dick admitted, seating himself. "Hadn't paid his rent. I got Trevor on the wire and he gave him another week to raise it."

The waiter brought the first course, a plate carefully mosaicked with shiny red peppers, silver fish, cool green onion tops and radishes.

"When we're married—" Dick began.

"We're not going to be married," Shela interrupted.

"No? How much do you want to stake on it?"

"All I have!" She shook the contents of her little purse on the tablecloth. A key. A postage stamp. Four pennies and a folded bill.

"Say! Is that all you have? Forgive me but—well, I know you are only rehearsing. Listen—"

"I am listening." Arms on the table, Sheila framed her cheeks with two soft hands and smiled across at him provokingly. "I know it all by heart. Listen, girlie, if that's all you have let me help you. There are plenty of people waiting around to grab a nice little girl like you when she's out of work and hasn't any money. Let me stake you. I'm not like the others!"

"I hope I am," Dick said slowly, "if that's the case."

"Oh, it isn't. I have plenty of money."

"Sure?"

"Quite sure. Do you think if I were actually broke I'd have let you see that I had so little in my purse? Besides, it isn't a little. That bill is a 10.

"A fortune!" gasped Dick in mock agreement. "Look here, Sheila, please give up this road job. Marry me and forget the stage."

They discussed the pros and cons of marriage throughout the rest of the dinner. But Sheila had made up her mind. She would not marry him. She would not marry him and live in the city or in a suburb. She wanted a home in the country. A country-bred husband. She even mentioned red geraniums and was surprised and gratified because Dick did not laugh.

"But we can have all that, sweetheart," he said earnestly.

"No, we can't. You were born to a different life. You wouldn't like it."

And with a promise to write him frequently Dick had to be content.

WORK YOUR FARM

How much would be the farmer's yield.
The one who never plowed his field,
Or planted seed, or labored late—
Just sat him down for crops to wait?
Yet there are mortals even now
Who hope to reap, yet fail to plow.

The rest are learning in these days
That what they reap they'll have to raise.
We're sowing, if we own a store,
The seeds of advertising more.
Or, if a trade is all we own,
At least we're getting better known.

I may not find a job today—
I'm making contacts, anyway.
Though less, perhaps, the public spends.
The store keeps right on making friends.
Just sitting down has lost its charm—
We've found you have to work your farm.

CUT IS CERTAIN

A PROPOSAL, urged in the peninsula for several years, now seems in a fair way of accomplishment—a drastic reduction in rates charged for transportation on the state ferries operating between St. Ignace and Mackinaw. Early in last fall Commissioner Grover C. Dillman, of the state highway department, announced that rates will be established for the season opening next spring, such as will cut former ferry fees approximately in half.

In the legislature, at Lansing, this week, a resolution was proposed requesting information from the highway department as to definite figures on the proposed ferry rates, in order that official information may be placed before the senate and house membership.

Everything now points to a satisfactory removal of a bar that has kept many tourists, in the past, from crossing the straits into the peninsula.

APPRECIATE IMPORTANCE

ESCANABA and Gladstone, being division points for important railway lines, thus being made the homes of division officials, train crews and shop employes, have felt the pinch of the disaster that has overtaken the railways of the nation, more severely than any other points in the peninsula. A diminishing number of division officials and great numbers of idle train crews and idle shopmen, have served to add to the economic problems of these cities.

If we did not fully appreciate the value of railway employment provided in these two cities in the days when business was at its height, we have now, in these days when such employment has been brought to the lowest point in all history, come to a full appreciation of the loss that has been sustained. At least, what is left of railroad employment is being guarded as never before. The laying off of five men, or the re-employment of five men, causes more comment today than would have been cases involving 100 men in former years.

It is because of our intimate knowledge of railroad affairs that we probably appreciate more fully than other communities, the problems faced by the railway managements.

But even with the nation's railroad business in its present status, figures have just been made public, in proof of the importance of railroad spending to the nation, even during the leanest of all years in history.

These figures show that the railroads of the United States spent approximately $441,500,000 in the markets of the country for fuel and materials and supplies in 1932, exclusive of expenditures for locomotives and cars, for construction work performed under contract and for heat, light, water, power and other miscellaneous services. They also show that railway purchases have been increasing steadily since June.

"In 1931," says the Railway Age, "corresponding railway purchases amounted to approximately $695,000,000. In 1930, they amounted to approximately $1,038,000,000. In 1929 they were $1,329,000,000, and in the five years from 1925 to 1929, inclusive, they averaged $1,389,000,000 per year. The money expended by the railroads for fuel and materials and supplies in 1932 was thus approximately $250,000,000, or 35 per cent less than was spent in 1931; approximately $600,000,000, or 57 per cent less than in 1930; approximately $885,000,000, or 67 per cent less than in 1929, and approximately $935,000,000, or 69 per cent less than the five-year average.

"These figures present two very significant facts," the Railway Age continues. "In the first place, they show what the railroads are capable of spending when railway earnings are again restored. Secondly, they show that the railroads, in the blackest year which they ever faced, contributed $441,500,000 to the business of this country for purchases of fuel and materials and supplies alone. Despite the reduction in these purchases which has occurred, the railways are still buyers to the extent of more than $1,200,000 every day.

"In 1932 the railroads spent over $150,000,000 with coal producers for fuel; approximately $32,000,000 with oil refiners for fuel oil and over $13,000,000 for lubricating and illuminating oils. Approximately $116,000,000 of their purchases represented iron and steel products, including more than $27,000,000 for track materials; more than $7,500,000 for telegraph, telephone and signaling materials; more than $17,000,000 for wheels, tires and axles, and more than $12,000,000 for locomotive and car castings. Their purchases also included expenditures of more than $50,000,000 for forest products, and of $8,000,000 for products of copper and brass; $5,000,000 for miscellaneous electrical supplies; $7,000,000 for restaurant supplies, and $11,000,000 for stationery.

"In the light of purchases averaging $1,200,000 daily in such times as these, can anyone question the importance of the railroads to the business of this country? In further light of the fact that railway purchases averaged $3,800,000 daily from 1925 to 1929, can anyone question the present effect on business of this average daily loss of $2,600,000 in rail purchases, or its value to national prosperity if restored? Yet there are a great many people who appear to know very little about the railroads or they could not be indifferent to their plight and to the efforts of their managements to solve the problems of excessive taxation, restrictive regulation, and subsidized and unregulated competition.

"It seems John was in a jam," Dick admitted, seating himself. "Hadn't paid his rent. I got Trevor on the wire and he gave him another week to raise it."

The waiter brought the first course, a plate carefully mosaicked with shiny red peppers, silver fish, cool green onion tops and radishes.

"When we're married—" Dick began.

"We're not going to be married," Shela interrupted.

"No? How much do you want to stake on it?"

"All I have!" She shook the contents of her little purse on the tablecloth. A key. A postage stamp. Four pennies and a folded bill.

"Say! Is that all you have? Forgive me but—well, I know you are only rehearsing. Listen—"

"I am listening." Arms on the table, Sheila framed her cheeks with two soft hands and smiled across at him provokingly. "I know it all by heart. Listen, girlie, if that's all you have let me help you. There are plenty of people waiting around to grab a nice little girl like you when she's out of work and hasn't any money. Let me stake you. I'm not like the others!"

"I hope I am," Dick said slowly, "if that's the case."

"Oh, it isn't. I have plenty of money."

"Sure?"

"Quite sure. Do you think if I were actually broke I'd have let you see that I had so little in my purse? Besides, it isn't a little. That bill is a 10.

"A fortune!" gasped Dick in mock agreement. "Look here, Sheila, please give up this road job. Marry me and forget the stage."

They discussed the pros and cons of marriage throughout the rest of the dinner. But Sheila had made up her mind. She would not marry him. She would not marry him and live in the city or in a suburb. She wanted a home in the country. A country-bred husband. She even mentioned red geraniums and was surprised and gratified because Dick did not laugh.

"But we can have all that, sweetheart," he said earnestly.

"No, we can't. You were born to a different life. You wouldn't like it."

And with a promise to write him frequently Dick had to be content.

WORK YOUR FARM

How much would be the farmer's yield,
The one who never plowed his field,
Or planted seed, or labored late—
Just sat him down for crops to wait?
Yet there are mortals even now
Who hope to reap, yet fail to plow.

The rest are learning in these days
That what they reap they'll have to raise.
We're sowing, if we own a store,
The seeds of advertising more.
Or, if a trade is all we own,
At least we're getting better known.

I may not find a job today—
I'm making contacts, anyway.
Though less, perhaps, the public spends,
The store keeps right on making friends.
Just sitting down has lost its charm—
We've found you have to work your farm.

PENSION FUND HEAVY BURDEN

$41,271.25 Given in 1932 By County to Widowed Mothers

With mothers' pension bills in Delta county running over $3000 this month—and totaling $41,271.25 for the past year, a little review of the growth of this county expense during the years since Michigan taxpayers became financially conscious of their duty or obligations to the widowed mothers of the state, is timely just now.

Without digging back too far into county records, the mothers' pension law was passed in 1907. The law was enacted to provide financial assistance to widowed mothers, who were finding it difficult to both earn a living for, and properly care for the upbringing of their children.

Applications for this form of relief have appeared to increase each year, and although only the meritorious cases are taken care of the amount expended under this pension system has kept growing. The present period of unemployment has aggravated the problem. For instance, Delta county paid out $23,076.50 in mother's pensions in 1921. By 1925, the sum had increased to $28,203.50 and in 1932, the figure was $41,271.25.

The pension burden has been the topic of discussion at many meetings of the board of supervisors in the past. A couple years ago, the board appointed Supervisor Charles Gauthier of Garden to make an investigation of every pension case in an effort to weed out the undeserving. A slight saving was effected thereby. A few months ago, the board of supervisors ordered a reduction, amounting to about an average of ten per cent; and at a recent meeting in December an arbitrary cut of 10 per cent more was made.

With the reduction that recently was put into effect, it is expected that the pension bill in 1933 will be reduced to about $37,000.

Wage on RFC Loan Highway Jobs Reduced

Menominee—Road workers who labor on the highways built with Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan money in this county will receive 25 cents an hour instead of 30 cents an hour, the former standard rate for unskilled labor employed on state highway projects, County Road Commissioner George Barstow announced today.

The wage was set by the state highway department, working in co-operation with the R. F. C.

With announcement of the reduced wage, however, Commissioner Barstow said that the restriction of 30 working hours per week for one man, which applied when 30 cents an hour was paid, has been abolished. Road workers will now work for such length of time as the welfare authorities of the county may determine as necessary for that worker, Mr. Barstow said.

Weekly Limit Abolished

County road workers now work eight hours a day, which provides maximum employment of 48 hours a week, but crews have been changed in mid-week, giving laborers three days work a week, and an average employment of 24 hours a week.

The 25 cent an hour wage and unlimited working hours set-up announced today applies to projects financed with R. F. C. loans.

Menominee county has been loaned $10,000 by the R. F. C. for work relief on trunk line highways in the county in January and February. Another loan is in prospect for the next period of R. F. C. loan arrangements, Mar., April and May.

Inspect Project Sites

R. Martin of Nowberry, resident maintenance engineer of the state highway department in the upper peninsula spent yesterday with County Road Commissioners Barstow and George Dame of Ingalls and Claude Phillippo of Stephenson, maintenance superintendent of the county road commission, in a tour of inspection of trunk line highways where the R. F. C. loan money might be expended with maximum result in road improvement and work relief.

Projects approved by Mr. Martin and the county road commissioners included the grading on US-41 between Ingalls and Stephenson and elimination of a number of sharp turns on M-35, between Menominee and Cedar River.

M-35 Improvement Plans

The work planned on M-35 will be small projects and the bulk of the $10,000 loan will be expended on improvement of US-41. The sharp turns being considered for improvement include the one at the North Shore Golf Club and one just north of County Road 320, the Birch Creek cross road. The road will be widened to regulation width south of the bridge in Kleinke County Park and the "S" curve at the north end of the park will be eased.

Sharp turns at the Dominican college camp, at the Richard farm and one a half-mile south of the Cramer farm, which is about two miles south of the southern line of John W. Wells State Park, also are being considered for improvement.

Stephenson-Ingalls Project

Survey and plans for improvement of US-41 between Stephenson and Ingalls have been completed by the state highway department, which has a survey crew at work in the county, Mr. Barstow said, and the work will be started as soon as lands required for the right of way of the improved highway can be obtained.

With completion of grading on the Stephenson-Ingalls stretch and Daggett-Stephenson stretch on US-41, that highway will be ready for paving for a distance of eight miles, extending from more than a mile north of Daggett to a point south of Ingalls.

Other pieces of US-41 from one mile north of Daggett to Powers for which improvement is planned are awaiting final location and completion of surveys by state engineers. Completion of the survey work will be accomplished in a few days, Mr. Barstow said, and right of way needs will be determined.

R. F. C. County Road Aid

Clearing and ditching work will be undertaken whenever possible, as this type of work can be pursued in the winter most advantageously. Grading work also will be done in swampy areas.

State Highway Commissioner Grover C. Dillman has notified the county road commission that the state highway department has amended its original order requiring expenditures of all R. F. C. loan money on trunkline highways unless the county wished to assume responsibility for repayment of the loan. Under the loan plan authorized by the county the R. F. C. loans granted the county for work relief will be repaid by the state from anticipated federal highway aid funds.

Mr. Dillman, in a letter to the county road commission, stated: "The original proposal was that all R. F. C. money be spent on state trunkline routes.

R. F. C. Restrictions Eased

"After giving this matter further consideration, however, I believe that a fairer proposition would be to spend an amount of the R. F. C. money on your county roads on projects suggested by your board, equivalent to the amount of equipment rental, materials, and other items of cost assumed by your county in carrying out this (R. F. C.-financed highway) program on your trunklines."

(Under the original plan the county was to furnish all money for rental of equipment and materials used in the R. F. C. road projects in the county and the R. F. C. money was to be used exclusively for labor.)

"In other words, for each dollar of money spent by the county for the above items as a part of this R. F. C. program on trunklines, the state highway department would authorize the expenditure of one dollar of R. F. C. money from the total allotment for your county on your county highways."

Technocracy Invades Ironwood School in Mechanical Teacher

Ironwood, Mich. (AP)—The mechanical teacher, an electrical contraption of dials and lights, has been "installed" as a member of the faculty of the Luther L. Wright high school here.

The device has been called Mr. Markometer, and it is said of him that he never makes a mistake, that he eliminates completely the factor of human error because there is nothing human about him, and that being incapable of sentiment he couldn't possibly have a "teacher's pet."

Invention of Reynold Johnson, teacher at the high school, the machine is a test paper marker. It corrects examination papers with a speed and accuracy the human teacher cannot hope to attain. Then it calculates the percentage standing of a paper, and the result is asserted to be an infallible as the total of an adding machine.

With each examination an answer sheet is provided. In a certain column the student indicates one of numerous possible answers to questions. But instead of marking with a pen the student makes a small perforation.

Answer sheets are then inserted into the machine. Little beams of light passing through the perforations control electrical impulses which operate the dials.

Johnson said he has found the machine of practical use.

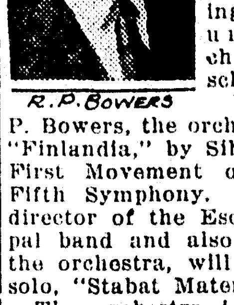
County Road Work Will Start Monday

As a result of the release of $14,000 by the Reconstruction Finance corporation to Delta county, a crew of forty men will be put to work Monday by the Delta road commission on US-41, north of Rapid River. Brushing and other work will be done on the highway.

Other crews will be put to work on several road development projects in the county later.

Orchestra Music Will Be Feature Of Benefit Show

Two musical numbers, played by the recently organized community orchestra, will be among the features of the benefit entertainment, which will be staged at the Wm. W. Oliver auditorium Monday evening under the sponsorship of the Kiwanis club. All receipts of the show will be used for furnishing milk to the undernourished children in the schools.



R. P. BOWERS

Directed by R. P. Bowers, the orchestra will play "Finlandia," by Sibelius, and the First Movement of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony. Frank Karas, director of the Escanaba municipal band and also a member of the orchestra, will play a cornet solo, "Stabat Mater," by Rossini.

The orchestra is composed of the following well known musicians:

First violin — Frank Karas, Melvin Holm, Isador Stein and Clara Karas.

Second violin—Edward Anderson and Orville Kallin.

Viola—Ed Lucas Jr.

Cello—E. L. Brotherton.

Flute—H. O. Brotherton.

Clarinets—Irving Cass, Dorothy Ferguson and Marian Stratton.

Trumpets — Charles Hammer and George Milkevich.

Bass viol—Charles Johnson and Vincent McGee.

Horn—Robert Larsen.

Trombone—Ewald Beck.

Percussion—Maurice Pirlot.

Accompanist—Pearl Olson.

THEATRES

"No More Orchids" and "Deception" will be shown at the Delft again today in a double feature program.

The wealthy Four Hundred whose names march in bold-face type across the society columns of the country are removed from their shelves of aloofness and luxury and permitted to tick like normal human beings in Columbia's "No More Orchids,".

"No More Orchids' 'is a shimmering story that shows the pathos and the sacrifice behind the gleaming marble fronts of Park Avenue penthouses, tracing the brilliant and carefree life of a social debutante who suddenly becomes serious when she comes face to face with the live and real emotion of love.

This Columbia picture might have been taken out of yesterday's newspaper, it is that timely. The note of modernity goes even further than the story; for the sets of the transatlantic liner on which the picture opens seemed more than vaguely suggestive of the "Bremen" and the "Europa," the two latest and fastest ocean liners.

"Deception," the Columbia picture which is the feature this week at the Delft Theatre, is an entertaining romantic drama played against a background of professional sports. Though the athletic scenes in the production tower head and shoulders above any similar shots you've seen before on the screen, the principal feature of "Deception" is its forceful, human story of a lad who, even with the world against him, didn't know what it was to cry "quits!"

Written especially for the screen by Pat Pendleton who also appears as the hero in question in the production, "Deception" features, besides Pendleton, Leo Carrillo, little Dickie Moore, Thelma Todd and Barbara Weeks in the leading roles.

SHERIFF DATA IS ASSEMBLED

Marquette County Pays Least for Board of Prisoners

The sheriff of Marquette county is now receiving less money for feeding prisoners than any other sheriff in the upper peninsula, according to a survey just completed by the Iron County Taxpayers' association.

The board of supervisors in this county reduced the allotment for feeding prisoners from 75 cents a day in 1932 to 40 cents a day in 1933. Dickinson county, which has the second lowest rate, feeds its prisoners at a cost of 45 cents daily. The highest per diem cost is found in Menominee and Ontonagon counties, where sheriffs get 75 cents for feeding county jail inmates. Chippewa county allows its sheriff 20 cents per meal for prisoners, while Baraga and Mackinac counties allow 25 cents per meal. On the assumption that Chippewa county prisoners are given three meals a day, this would make the allowance higher than that in Marquette county.

Ten Counties Cut Salaries

In 10 counties the salary of the sheriff has been reduced and in two counties, Dickinson and Marquette, there have been increases. The increases, however, are due to adjustments in the allowance given the sheriff for feeding the prisoners and the elimination of fees formerly collected by the sheriffs.

Houghton county, which is the most populous in the upper peninsula, pays the highest salary for the office of sheriff, $4,500, and Gogebic county is second with $4,200. The report shows that Houghton, Menominee and Chippewa counties are paying the same salaries to the sheriffs this year as in 1932.

PENSION FUND HEAVY BURDEN

$41,271.25 Given in 1932 By County to Widowed Mothers

With mothers' pension bills in Delta county running over $3000 this month—and totaling $41,271.25 for the past year, a little review of the growth of this county expense during the years since Michigan taxpayers became financially conscious of their duty or obligations to the widowed mothers of the state, is timely just now.

Without digging back too far into county records, the mothers' pension law was passed in 1907. The law was enacted to provide financial assistance to widowed mothers, who were finding it difficult to both earn a living for, and properly care for the upbringing of their children.

Applications for this form of relief have appeared to increase each year, and although only the meritorious cases are taken care of the amount expended under this pension system has kept growing. The present period of unemployment has aggravated the problem. For instance, Delta county paid out $23,076.50 in mother's pensions in 1921. By 1925, the sum had increased to $28,203.50 and in 1932, the figure was $41,271.25.

The pension burden has been the topic of discussion at many meetings of the board of supervisors in the past. A couple years ago, the board appointed Supervisor Charles Gauthier of Garden to make an investigation of every pension case in an effort to weed out the undeserving. A slight saving was effected thereby. A few months ago, the board of supervisors ordered a reduction, amounting to about an average of ten per cent; and at a recent meeting in December an arbitrary cut of 10 per cent more was made.

With the reduction that recently was put into effect, it is expected that the pension bill in 1933 will be reduced to about $37,000.

Wage on RFC Loan Highway Jobs Reduced

Menominee—Road workers who labor on the highways built with Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan money in the county will receive 25 cents an hour instead of 30 cents an hour, the former standard rate for unskilled labor employed on state highway projects, County Road Commissioner George Barstow announced today.

The wage was set by the state highway department, working in co-operation with the R. F. C.

With announcement of the reduced wage, however, Commissioner Barstow said that the restriction of 30 working hours per week for one man, which applied when 30 cents an hour was paid, has been abolished. Road workers will now work for such length of time as the welfare authorities of the county may determine as necessary for that worker, Mr. Barstow said.

Weekly Limit Abolished

County road workers now work eight hours a day, which provides maximum employment of 48 hours a week, but crews have been changed in mid-week, giving laborers three days work a week, and an average employment of 24 hours a week.

The 25 cent an hour wage and unlimited working hours set-up announced today applies to projects financed with R. F. C. loans.

Menominee county has been loaned $10,000 by the R. F. C. for work relief on trunk line highways in the county in January and February. Another loan is in prospect for the next period of R. F. C. loan arrangements, Mar., April and May.

Inspect Project Sites

R. Martin of Newberry, resident maintenance engineer of the state highway department in the upper peninsula spent yesterday with County Road Commissioners Barstow and George Dame of Ingalls and Claude Phillippo of Stephenson, maintenance superintendent of the county road commission, in a tour of inspection of trunk line highways in the county to determine where the R. F. C. loan money might be expended with maximum result in road improvement and work relief.

Projects approved by Mr. Martin and the county road commissioners included the grading on US-41 between Ingalls and Stephenson and elimination of a number of sharp turns on M-35, between Menominee and Cedar River.

M-35 Improvement Plans

The work planned on M-35 will be small projects and the bulk of the $10,000 loan will be expended on improvement of US-41. The sharp turns being considered for improvement include the one at the North Shore Golf Club and one just north of County Road 320, the Birch Creek cross road. The road will be widened to regulation width south of the bridge in Kleinke County Park and the "S" curve at the north end of the park will be eased.

Sharp turns at the Dominican college camp, at the Richard farm and one a half-mile south of the Cramer farm, which is about two miles south of the southern line of John W. Wells State Park, also are being considered for improvement.

Stephenson-Ingalls Project

Survey and plans for improvement of US-41 between Stephenson and Ingalls have been completed by the state highway department, which has a survey crew at work in the county, Mr. Barstow said, and the work will be started as soon as lands required for the right of way of the improved highway can be obtained.

With completion of grading on the Stephenson-Ingalls stretch and Daggett-Stephenson stretch on US-41, that highway will be ready for paving for a distance of eight miles, extending from more than a mile north of Daggett to a point south of Ingalls.

Other pieces of US-41 from one mile north of Daggett to Powers for which improvement is planned are awaiting final location and completion of surveys by state engineers. Completion of the survey work will be accomplished in a few days, Mr. Barstow said, and right of way needs will be determined.

R. F. C. County Road Aid

Clearing and ditching work will be undertaken whenever possible, as this type of work can be pursued in the winter most advantageously. Grading work also will be done in swampy areas.

State Highway Commissioner Grover C. Dillman has notified the county road commission that the state highway department has amended its original order requiring expenditures of all R. F. C. loan money on trunkline highways unless the county wished to assume responsibility for repayment of the loan. Under the loan plan authorized by the county the R. F. C. loans granted the county for work relief will be repaid by the state from anticipated federal highway aid funds.

Mr. Dillman, in a letter to the county road commission, stated: "The original proposal was that all R. F. C. money be spent on state trunkline routes.

R. F. C. Restrictions Eased

"After giving this matter further consideration, however, I believe that a fairer proposition would be to spend an amount of the R. F. C. money on your county roads on projects suggested by your board, equivalent to the amount of equipment rental, materials, and other items of cost assumed by your county in carrying out this (R. F. C.-financed highway) program on your trunklines."

(Under the original plan the county was to furnish all money for rental of equipment and materials used in the R. F. C. road projects in the county and the R. F. C. money was to be used exclusively for labor.)

"In other words, for each dollar of money spent by the county for the above items as a part of this R. F. C. program on trunklines, the state highway department would authorize the expenditure of one dollar of R. F. C. money from the total allotment for your county on your county highways."

Technocracy Invades Ironwood School in Mechanical Teacher

Ironwood, Mich. (AP)—The mechanical teacher, an electrical contraption of dials and lights, has been "installed" as a member of the faculty of the Luther L. Wright high school here.

The device has been called Mr. Markometer, and it is said of him that he never makes a mistake, that he eliminates completely the factor of human error because there is nothing human about him, and that being incapable of sentiment he couldn't possibly have a "teacher's pet."

Invention of Reynold Johnson, teacher at the high school, the machine is a test paper marker. It corrects examination papers with a speed and accuracy the human teacher cannot hope to attain. Then it calculates the percentage standing of a paper, and the result is asserted to be an infallible as the total of an adding machine.

With each examination an answer sheet is provided. In a certain column the student indicates one of numerous possible answers to questions. But instead of marking with a pen the student makes a small perforation.

Answer sheets are then inserted into the machine. Little beams of light passing through the perforations control electrical impulses which operate the dials.

Johnson said he has found the machine of practical use.

County Road Work Will Start Monday

As a result of the release of $14,000 by the Reconstruction Finance corporation to Delta county, a crew of forty men will be put to work Monday by the Delta road commission on US-41, north of Rapid River. Brushing and other work will be done on the highway.

Other crews will be put to work on several road development projects in the county later.

Orchestra Music Will Be Feature Of Benefit Show

Two musical numbers, played by the recently organized community orchestra, will be among the features of the benefit entertainment, which will be staged at the Wm. W. Oliver auditorium Monday evening under the sponsorship of the Kiwanis club. All receipts of the show will be used for furnishing milk to the undernourished children in the schools.

R. P. BOWERS

Directed by R. P. Bowers, the orchestra will play "Finlandia," by Sibelius, and the First Movement of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony. Frank Karas, director of the Escanaba municipal band and also a member of the orchestra, will play a cornet solo, "Stabat Mater," by Rossini.

The orchestra is composed of the following well known musicians:

First violin — Frank Karas, Melvin Holm, Isador Stein and Clara Karas.

Second violin—Edward Anderson and Orville Kallin.

Viola—Ed Lucas Jr.

Cello—E. L. Brotherton.

Flute—H. O. Brotherton.

SHERIFF DATA IS ASSEMBLED

Marquette County Pays Least for Board of Prisoners

The sheriff of Marquette county is now receiving less money for feeding prisoners than any other sheriff in the upper peninsula, according to a survey just completed by the Iron County Taxpayers' association.

The board of supervisors in this county reduced the allotment for feeding prisoners from 75 cents a day in 1932 to 40 cents a day in 1933. Dickinson county, which has the second lowest rate, feeds its prisoners at a cost of 45 cents daily. The highest per diem cost is found in Menominee and Ontonagon counties, where sheriffs get 75 cents for feeding county jail inmates. Chippewa county allows its sheriff 20 cents per meal for prisoners, while Baraga and Mackinac counties allow 25 cents per meal. On the assumption that Chippewa county prisoners are given three meals a day, this would make the allowance higher than that in Marquette county.

Ten Counties Cut Salaries

In 10 counties the salary of the sheriff has been reduced and in two counties, Dickinson and Marquette, there have been increases. The increases, however, are due to adjustments in the allowance given the sheriff for feeding the prisoners and the elimination of fees formerly collected by the sheriffs.

Houghton county, which is the most populous in the upper peninsula, pays the highest salary for the office of sheriff, $4,500, and Gogebic county is second with $4,200. The report shows that Houghton, Menominee and Chippewa counties are paying the same salaries to the sheriffs this year as in 1932.

THEATRES

"No More Orchids" and "Deception" will be shown at the Delft again today in a double feature program.

The wealthy Four Hundred whose names march in bold-face type across the society columns of the country are removed from their shelves of aloofness and luxury and permitted to tick like normal human beings in Columbia's "No More Orchids.".

"No More Orchids' 'is a shimmering story that shows the pathos and the sacrifice behind the gleaming marble fronts of Park Avenue penthouses, tracing the brilliant and carefree life of a social debutante who suddenly becomes serious when she comes face to face with the live and real emotion of love.

This Columbia picture might have been taken out of yesterday's newspaper, it is that timely. The note of modernity goes even further than the story; for the sets of the transatlantic liner on which the picture opens seemed more than vaguely suggestive of the "Bremen" and the "Europa," the two latest and fastest ocean liners.

"Deception," the Columbia picture which is the feature this week at the Delft Theatre, is an entertaining romantic drama played against a background of professional sports. Though the athletic scenes in the production tower head and shoulders above any similar shots you've seen before on the screen, the principal feature of "Deception" is its forceful, human story of a lad who, even with the world against him, didn't know what it was to cry "quits!"

Written especially for the screen by Pat Pendleton who also appears as the hero in question in the production, "Deception" features, besides Pendleton, Leo Carrillo, little Dickie Moore, Thelma Todd and Barbara Weeks in the leading roles.

Formal Note Has Returned to Tea Hour Fashions

Paris (AP)—Tea has replaced cocktails in the favor of many fashionable continentals and tea-time costumes have gone back to the formal mode which distinguished the 5 o'clock hour a decade ago.

Since ceylon and cream, paper-thin sandwiches and frosted cakes became the order of the tea hour in many of the smartest drawing rooms, rich velvets and crepes, sumptuous furs, little silver lace jackets and cream lace touches at the throat appear wherever smart women gather.

Scene Grows More Formal

Longer skirts, varying from eight inches from the ground to instep length, little floating nose veils and clinking bracelets add to the formality of the scene.

Princess Amedee de Brogile, who is slim and dark, wears a Chanel frock of emerald green velvet with a skirt long enough to reach the instep when she goes to tea. It is fashioned with intricate trellis-work incrustations on the corsage and is worn with a little shoulder cape trimmed with silver fox.

Varied Combinations

The Duchesse de Levis Mirepoix chooses a black velvet frock finished with a little jacket of silver Irish crochet lace and the Marquise de la Gandara wears a gown of the same fabric trimmed with rich old cream lace.

A brown crepe made with an openwork yoke and intricate sleeves is the choice of the Duchesse de Sermonette, while the Marquise Sommi Piccenardi and Marquise de la Romano wear heavy black marocain trimmed with open-work embroidery.

Brooch Fastens Capes

Little ermine shoulder capes caught near the throat with a sparkling diamond brooch are worn by many smart women at the tea hour, and such novelties as pastel blue gloves and kingfisher turbans worn with black costumes are chosen by others.

Mrs. Watt Acts At Installation

Mrs. Mary Watt of Iron Mountain, assistant grand commander of the Lady Maccabees, acted as installing officer at the ceremonies Tuesday at which officers of Corbin Hive of Iron Mountain and the Channing Hive took their places. Mrs. Watt has visited Escanaba on a number of occasions and she is well known here.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Milligan of Hardwood are the parents of a daughter, born at the Welch Maternity hospital, South Tenth street, Thursday morning. Both mother and baby are doing nicely.

SAVED BY THE BELL

Salt Lake City, Utah—A bobsleighing party that threatened to be a "washout" was recently saved by a bell. The horse which had furnished locomotion for the party had fallen and would not rise. A call to the fire department brought company No. 8 to the rescue, but their job was an easy one because the bell on the fire truck frightened the horse so that he scrambled to his feet and carried the sleighers merrily on their way.

DON'T LET COMMON CONSTIPATION DULL THE JOY OF LIVING

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief

Constipation takes the sunshine out of your days. It may bring headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness, sallow skins, pimples. If neglected, it can seriously impair health.

Fortunately, you can avoid this condition by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides two things needed to overcome common constipation: "bulk" and vitamin B. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much better than dosing yourself with patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Infantile Paralysis Victim Has No Brain Handicap, Says Lorenz

Editor's Note—Dr. Adolf Lorenz, originator of the "bloodless surgery" which cures congenital dislocation of the hip, today answered a question from the Associated Press as to what interests him most in modern medicine, with observations based on many years experience to show that infantile paralysis, far from disqualifying its victims for brain work, may even help them a little.

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
(Copyright 1933, By The Associated Press)

New York, (AP)—An infantile paralysis victim is not disqualified "to be king, emperor, president, executive—He is only unable to become the run champion," said Dr. Adolf Lorenz, noted Viennese bloodless surgeon, on his arrival here yesterday from Europe.

The disease, he said, instead of incapacitating the brain at all, may even leave the patient with a keener sense of optimism.

Groping now and then for precise English phrases, he discussed infantile paralysis as one topic in answer to the question: "What in modern medicine interests you most?" The other two were cancer and tuberculosis.

System Healthy

"Infantile paralysis," he said, "is at present incurable and all attempts to cure by serology therapy have failed. We can do nothing but correct the patient's deformity by some kind of surgery, bloodless or open.

"But this disease does not in the least affect mental qualities. It has absolutely nothing to do with the brain. A person stricken may get crooked limbs, but will never get a crooked brain. That means that his mental faculties will not be influenced at all."

"On what scientific grounds," he was asked, "do you base these conclusions?"

In reply the 79 year old surgeon, his blue eyes snapping, his cheeks pink and round above a snow-white and curly beard, leaned forward, and a hand that might have been the muscular model for a forward-passing football star, shot out to emphasize the points.

"Because," he exclaimed, "I've seen thousands of them myself. For 52 years I have seen them. Never one was mentally affected, never was there any symptom that had anything to do with incapacitating the brain.

"When the disease is over, the virus which causes it is gone from the system, absorbed or eliminated. Some parts of the body may remain paralyzed, but the whole system otherwise is in absolute health so far as this disease is concerned. These persons do not suffer any further infantile paralysis.

"Cure Not Hopeless"

"On the contrary they tend to be mostly hilarious characters—" Dr. Lorenz paused to think of a more exact phrase — "that is, more optimistic. They bear their misfortunes with great philosophy.

"The person who has had infantile paralysis could never be your run champion. But he could be king, emperor, president, executive, or whatever else needs like qualifications.

"Finding a cure for infantile paralysis is not hopeless. When the virus is detected and studied it may be that vaccination will be the way out.

"But cancer is not as far advanced in prospects. It is remarkable that in spite of all researches, the question of cancer is still unsolved. The number of cases increases year by year.

"There is progress in cancer study, progress in reducing the tolls of tuberculosis and progress in infantile paralysis. This progress is what interests me."

Rejuvenation Good

Nine years ago, at 70, Dr. Lorenz underwent the Steinach rejuvenation operation. This is not gland transplantation, but the tying of one of man's own glands so that it will more directly exercise whatever powers it has upon the general health.

"What do you think of the effects of the rejuvenation operation now, after nine years?" Dr. Lorenz was asked.

"That they are good," was the answer. "I believe such operations may be useful to men about 55 to 60 when they begin to decline."

Dr. Lorenz' "rejuvenation" operation, his medical companions today explained, was performed while he was at death's door, undergoing a major surgical operation for a prostatic trouble. The rejuvenation, they said, was entirely secondary and minor.

"Kingfish" Huey "Talks Turkey" To Friend Frank

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Huey Long talked things over with Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight and came away with ringing declarations of his admiration for the president-elect and numerous enigmatic statements of his plans with regard to the Glass banking bill against which he has filibustered for a week.

"He's the same old Frank," said Long. "He's just like he was before the election. He's all wool and a yard wide .We discussed the Glass branch banking bill, and Mr. Roosevelt is right and you can just watch my movements in the future to see how I'm agoin'."

With the filibuster question still looming large in the senate there was much speculation whether Mr. Roosevelt would use his influence to end the row between Long and the party chieftains. Newspapermen asked him tonight after he had left Mr. Roosevelt's suite whether the president elect was "going to crack down" on him. Long raised his voice and shouted:

"Crack down on me? He don't want to crack down on me. I came out of this room happy and satisfied. He told me 'Huey, you're going to do just as I tell you,' and that's just what I'm agoin' to do. He's a great president."

Although Long's Washington home is in the hotel in which Mr. Roosevelt is making his headquarters, the Louisianan was a half hour late in arriving at the president-elect's room. Somewhat disheveled he stalked through a cluster of newspapermen, to whom he said: "I'm agoin' to talk turkey to him" and pounded loudly on the door.

Drevdahls Defeat Fords In Overtime Contest; Oils Win

A large crowd of local basketball followers witnessed the most exciting game of the season on Thursday evening when the Drevdahls defeated the Fords 34-24 in an overtime game. In the opener, the Sinclair Oils added another game to their list of victories when they ran wild against Lauermans, winning 40-18.

Although the Ford-Drevdahl contest was close all the way, the Fords managed to hold a lead of a point or two through the regulation contest. At half time they led 12-11 and also held a slight lead up until the final minutes of the game when the Drevdahls tied the contest at 24-24 in the closing seconds. Slipping in five field goals in rapid succession while the Fords failed to count a point the clothiers easily put the game in the bag.

Carlson and Bergman led the scoring for the Drevdahls, the former sinking three baskets and four charity tosses while the latter sank three field goals and two free throws. Wassberg with five baskets, led the attack for the Fords.

In the opener the Oils stepped out at a brisk pace to lead 15-7 at half time. With Ralph Williams finding the basket with monotonous regularity, ably assisted by Davenport and Eek, the Oils rolled up a 22 point margin at the finish.

Ralph Williams, with 17 points, was the high scorer of the evening, while Bartman and Marks with six and five points respectively, were the main cogs in the nullified Lauerman attack.

Coach Wassberg Awards Letters Yesterday; Honor 22 Reserves

Football letters were awarded to 15 varsity players and 22 members of the reserve squad by Coach Oscar Wassberg yesterday morning at exercises held in the high school auditorium. Captain Harvey Ekdahl, who completed his fourth year of varsity football, was awarded the green varsity M trimmed with white, with four white bars denoting length of service on the varsity and a white star, emblematic of the captaincy. All varsity letters have a small white football placed in the center of the M.

Louis Rogers received his M with three white bars on the left side while five other players received letters emblematic of two years of competition.

Natty three-inch green M's, exact miniature duplicates of the varsity emblems, were received by 22 reserve players. Formerly the reserves received a six-inch R.

Coach Wassberg preceded his presentations with a brief resume of the 1932 season in which the Manistique eleven won five, lost two, and tied one, for one of the best records made by a green and white team in recent years, and told of the splendid cooperation given him by his players.

Varsity awards with the number of years of competition are as follows: Captain Harvey Ekdahl, 4; Louis Rogers, 3; Harry Dewey, 2; Stanley Norton, 2; Bruce Peasley, 2; Sylvester Rubick, 2; Orville Houghton, 2; Raymond Berger, Stephen Schultz, Jack McIntosh, Lionel Tyrrell, Junior Deloria, David Crawford, Francis Multhaupt, Harold Hupfer.

Four Local Delegates Attend 3 Gatherings At Marquette

Four Schoolcraft county supervisors left yesterday for Marquette where meetings of three upper peninsula organizations are being held. The Upper Peninsula Unemployment Relief conference was held yesterday afternoon and evening, the Upper Peninsula Development bureau meeting is being held today, and the Upper Peninsula Supervisors Association met yesterday afternoon at five o'clock.

Local delegates to the bureau meeting are Supervisors J. W. Gilligan and Ralph Merin, while Supervisors Harry Eriksen and A. J. Cayia represented the county at the supervisors' gathering. G. Leslie Bouschor, secretary of the Upper Peninsula Supervisors' association was also in attendance.

Munro, Munising, president of the Upper Peninsula Development bureau, ratified the work of previous meetings, announcement made of the amounts apportioned to the several upper peninsula counties for work relief through Reconstruction Finance corporation loans. At the evening meeting at the Northland hotel the committee on resolutions made its report and prospects for the future were given due consideration. Colonel James A. Sinke, of the state committee, attended.

Of primary importance at the Upper Peninsula Supervisors meeting late yesterday afternoon was the consideration of pending or suggested legislation likely to fundamentally affect the upper peninsula, and which later on will command the attention of either congress or the Michigan legislature.

On the schedule of the bureau meeting to be held today is the preparation of the 1933 budget and program. Reports of the secretary and treasurer will also be presented and the place of the annual summer meeting chosen.

LOCAL H. S. TRIO DEBATES TODAY

Meets Iron Mountain at Auditorium; Last of Prelim Series

Manistique high school debaters will make their second home appearance of the season tonight at 8 o'clock in the high school auditrium when they compete against Iron Mountain. The local trio will take the negative side of the question, "Resolved: That Michigan should adopt an income tax plan." A small admission will be charged.

Tonight's debate will be the last of the preliminary series being conducted by the Michigan High School Debate league. While Coach Tanis' proteges are practically assured of winning the Detroit Free Press plaque by reason of their victories over Negaunee, Ishpeming, and Gladstone, the team is bent upon making a clean sweep of the preliminary series to keep intact a prfect record.

Manistique speakers in the order of their appearance this evening are Leon Willoughby, Clayton Burrell, and Jack McIntosh, the three "iron men" of the Manistique squad who have participated in every contest this season, taking both the affirmative and negative sides of the argument. All have had two years of varsity experience and are determined to make a record showing in state debating circles.

In view of the splendid record of the green and white team, it is hoped that a large attendance will be present to show their appreciation of the efforts put forth by Coach Tanis and his debaters in moulding a winning team. The debate question is a vital topic of interest to all Michigan residents.

Little is known of the record of the Iron Mountain team over which Gladstone eked out a victory early in the season, but it is felt that the locals will have to be at their best to win from the Flivver City trio. Professor Forrest A. Roberts, of Northern State Teachers' college, will act in the capacity of sole judge.

Preceding the debate, special music will be provided under the direction of Miss Helen Hulbert, director of music of the public schools.

PLAY AT GARDEN

The Brault Specials, local amateur basketball team managed by John Dwyer, will play at Garden tonight at the town hall.

Walter Richards is confined to his home, 613 Michigan avenue, with influenza.

NOTICE

Complete lists of unemployed who are notified to report for work Monday morning at the county garage are posted at court house, Putnam's westside store, and the Press Office.

County Will Again Receive Dental Aid

Assurance that Schoolcraft county will again have the services of a Children's Fund dental clinic with Dr. A. K. Toepfer in charge was received in a communication this week from Dr. K. R. Gibson, director of the dental division of that organization. The letter was received in response to an inquiry by A. F. Hall, local chairman.

Dr. Gibson stated that present plans are to the effect that the county will have the services of the clinic during the latter half of this year and that Dr. Toepfer, who has been in charge of the service here for the past two years, will again be identified with the work. His services in the county have been very satisfactory and his methods of handling children very effective. Local residents will be pleased to learn of his return.

Louis Sauheitle, who has been working at the Thompson Fish Hatchery, during the absence of Stanley Schust, returned to Marquette Thursday.

Infantile Paralysis Victim Has No Brain Handicap, Says Lorenz

Editor's Note—Dr. Adolf Lorenz, originator of the "bloodless surgery" which cures congenital dislocation of the hip, today answered a question from the Associated Press as to what interests him most in modern medicine, with observations based on many years experience to show that infantile paralysis, far from disqualifying its victims for brain work, may even help them a little.

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
(Copyright 1933, By The Associated Press)

New York, (AP)—An infantile paralysis victim is not disqualified "to be king, emperor, president, executive—He is only unable to become the run champion," said Dr. Adolf Lorenz, noted Viennese bloodless surgeon, on his arrival here yesterday from Europe.

The disease, he said, instead of incapacitating the brain at all, may even leave the patient with a keener sense of optimism.

Groping now and then for precise English phrases, he discussed infantile paralysis as one topic in answer to the question: "What in modern medicine interests you most?" The other two were cancer and tuberculosis.

System Healthy

"Infantile paralysis," he said, "is at present incurable and all attempts to cure by serology therapy have failed. We can do nothing but correct the patient's deformity by some kind of surgery, bloodless or open.

"But this disease does not in the least affect mental qualities. It has absolutely nothing to do with the brain. A person stricken may get crooked limbs, but will never get a crooked brain. That means that his mental faculties will not be influenced at all."

"On what scientific grounds," he was asked, "do you base these conclusions?"

In reply the 79 year old surgeon, his blue eyes snapping, his cheeks pink and round above a snow-white and curly beard, leaned forward, and a hand that might have been the muscular model for a forward-passing football star, shot out to emphasize the points.

"Because," he exclaimed, "I've seen thousands of them myself. For 52 years I have seen them. Never one was mentally affected, never was there any symptom that had anything to do with incapacitating the brain.

"When the disease is over, the virus which causes it is gone from the system, absorbed or eliminated. Some parts of the body may remain paralyzed, but the whole system otherwise is in absolute health so far as this disease is concerned. These persons do not suffer any further infantile paralysis.

"Cure Not Hopeless"

"On the contrary they tend to be mostly hilarious characters—" Dr. Lorenz paused to think of a more exact phrase — "that is, more optimistic. They bear their misfortunes with great philosophy.

"The person who has had infantile paralysis could never be your run champion. But he could be king, emperor, president, executive, or whatever else needs like qualifications.

"Finding a cure for infantile paralysis is not hopeless. When the virus is detected and studied it may be that vaccination will be the way out.

"But cancer is not as far advanced in prospects. It is remarkable that in spite of all researches, the question of cancer is still unsolved. The number of cases increases year by year.

"There is progress in cancer study, progress in reducing the tolls of tuberculosis and progress in infantile paralysis. This progress is what interests me."

Rejuvenation Good

Nine years ago, at 70, Dr. Lorenz underwent the Steinach rejuvenation operation. This is not gland transplantation, but the tying of one of man's own glands so that it will more directly exercise whatever powers it has upon the general health.

"What do you think of the effects of the rejuvenation operation now, after nine years?" Dr. Lorenz was asked.

"That they are good," was the answer. "I believe such operations may be useful to men about 55 to 60 when they begin to decline."

Dr. Lorenz' "rejuvenation" operation, his medical companions today explained, was performed while he was at death's door, undergoing a major surgical operation for a prostatic trouble. The rejuvenation, they said, was entirely secondary and minor.

"Kingfish" Huey "Talks Turkey" To Friend Frank

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—Huey Long talked things over with Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight and came away with ringing declarations of his admiration for the president-elect and numerous enigmatic statements of his plans with regard to the Glass banking bill against which he has filibustered for a week.

"He's the same old Frank," said Long. "He's just like he was before the election. He's all wool and a yard wide .We discussed the Glass branch banking bill, and Mr. Roosevelt is right and you can just watch my movements in the future to see how I'm agoin'."

With the filibuster question still looming large in the senate there was much speculation whether Mr. Roosevelt would use his influence to end the row between Long and the party chieftains. Newspapermen asked him tonight after he had left Mr. Roosevelt's suite whether the president elect was "going to crack down" on him. Long raised his voice and shouted:

"Crack down on me? He don't want to crack down on me. I came out of this room happy and satisfied. He told me 'Huey, you're going to do just as I tell you,' and that's just what I'm agoin' to do. He's a great president."

Although Long's Washington home is in the hotel in which Mr. Roosevelt is making his headquarters, the Louisianan was a half hour late in arriving at the president-elect's room. Somewhat disheveled he stalked through a cluster of newspapermen, to whom he said: "I'm agoin' to talk turkey to him" and pounded loudly on the door.

Drevdahls Defeat Fords In Overtime Contest; Oils Win

A large crowd of local basketball followers witnessed the most exciting game of the season on Thursday evening when the Drevdahls defeated the Fords 34-24 in an overtime game. In the opener, the Sinclair Oils added another game to their list of victories when they ran wild against Lauermans, winning 40-18.

Although the Ford-Drevdahl contest was close all the way, the Fords managed to hold a lead of a point or two through the regulation contest. At half time they led 12-11 and also held a slight lead up until the final minutes of the game when the Drevdahls tied the contest at 24-24 in the closing seconds. Slipping in five field goals in rapid succession while the Fords failed to count a point the clothiers easily put the game in the bag.

Carlson and Bergman led the scoring for the Drevdahls, the former sinking three baskets and four charity tosses while the latter sank three field goals and two free throws. Wassberg with five baskets, led the attack for the Fords.

In the opener the Oils stepped out at a brisk pace to lead 15-7 at half time. With Ralph Williams finding the basket with monotonous regularity, ably assisted by Davenport and Eck, the Oils rolled up a 22 point margin at the finish.

Ralph Williams, with 17 points, was the high scorer of the evening, while Bartman and Marks with six and five points respectively, were the main cogs in the nullified Lauerman attack.

Coach Wassberg Awards Letters Yesterday; Honor 22 Reserves

Football letters were awarded to 15 varsity players and 22 members of the reserve squad by Coach Oscar Wassberg yesterday morning at exercises held in the high school auditorium. Captain Harvey Ekdahl, who completed his fourth year of varsity football, was awarded the green varsity M trimmed with white, with four white bars denoting length of service on the varsity and a white star, emblematic of the captaincy. All varsity letters have a small white football placed in the center of the M.

Louis Rogers received his M with three white bars on the left side while five other players received letters emblematic of two years of competition.

Natty three-inch green M's, exact miniature duplicates of the varsity emblems, were received by 22 reserve players. Formerly the reserves received a six-inch R.

Coach Wassberg preceded his presentations with a brief resume of the 1932 season in which the Manistique eleven won five, lost two, and tied one, for one of the best records made by a green and white team in recent years, and told of the splendid cooperation given him by his players.

Varsity awards with the number of years of competition are as follows: Captain Harvey Ekdahl, 4; Louis Rogers, 3; Harry Dewey, 2; Stanley Norton, 2; Bruce Peasley, 2; Sylvester Rubick, 2; Orville Houghton, 2; Raymond Berger, Stephen Schultz, Jack McIntosh, Lionel Tyrrell, Junior Deloria, David Crawford, Francis Multhaupt, Harold Hupfer.

LOCAL H. S. TRIO DEBATES TODAY

Meets Iron Mountain at Auditorium; Last of Prelim Series

Manistique high school debaters will make their second home appearance of the season tonight at 8 o'clock in the high school auditrium when they compete against Iron Mountain. The local trio will take the negative side of the question, "Resolved: That Michigan should adopt an income tax plan." A small admission will be charged.

Tonight's debate will be the last of the preliminary series being conducted by the Michigan High School Debate league. While Coach Tanis' proteges are practically assured of winning the Detroit Free Press plaque by reason of their victories over Negaunee, Ishpeming, and Gladstone, the team is bent upon making a clean sweep of the preliminary series to keep intact a prfect record.

Manistique speakers in the order of their appearance this evening are Leon Willoughby, Clayton Burrell, and Jack McIntosh, the three "iron men" of the Manistique squad who have participated in every contest this season, taking both the affirmative and negative sides of the argument. All have had two years of varsity experience and are determined to make a record showing in state debating circles.

In view of the splendid record of the green and white team, it is hoped that a large attendance will be present to show their appreciation of the efforts put forth by Coach Tanis and his debaters in moulding a winning team. The debate question is a vital topic of interest to all Michigan residents.

Little is known of the record of the Iron Mountain team over which Gladstone eked out a victory early in the season, but it is felt that the locals will have to be at their best to win from the Flivver City trio. Professor Forrest A. Roberts, of Northern State Teachers' college, will act in the capacity of sole judge.

Preceding the debate, special music will be provided under the direction of Miss Helen Hulbert, director of music of the public schools.

PLAY AT GARDEN

The Brault Specials, local amateur basketball team managed by John Dwyer, will play at Garden tonight at the town hall.

Walter Richards is confined to his home, 613 Michigan avenue, with influenza.

NOTICE

Complete lists of unemployed who are notified to report for work Monday morning at the county garage are posted at court house, Putnam's westside store, and the Press Office.

County Will Again Receive Dental Aid

Assurance that Schoolcraft county will again have the services of a Children's Fund dental clinic with Dr. A. K. Toepfer in charge was received in a communication this week from Dr. K. R. Gibson, director of the dental division of that organization. The letter was received in response to an inquiry by A. F. Hall, local chairman.

Dr. Gibson stated that present plans are to the effect that the county will have the services of the clinic during the latter half of this year and that Dr. Toepfer, who has been in charge of the service here for the past two years, will again be identified with the work. His services in the county have been very satisfactory and his methods of handling children very effective. Local residents will be pleased to learn of his return.

Louis Sauheitle, who has been working at the Thompson Fish Hatchery, during the absence of Stanley Schust, returned to Marquette Thursday.

DEATH CLAIMS OLD RESIDENT

Peter Van Mieghen, 78, Stricken at Farm Home

Peter Van Mieghen, long time resident of Delta county and of Gladstone, passed away Thursday evening about 6 o'clock at his farm home in Escanaba township, northeast of Chaison. He was in his 79th year and had been ailing for the past six years. Death was attributed to infirmities of old age.

Peter Van Mieghen was born in Belgium, Feb. 28, 1854. He came to the United States and Delta county 45 years ago, residing here for a period of 17 years when he returned to his home land. After remaining there for nine years, he returned to this city in 1914 and lived here until two years ago when he moved to a farm in Escanaba township.

He worked as a section laborer on the Soo Line railroad, and for a time as a laborer in the mines in the vicinity of Iron Mountain. He retired from active work about 10 years ago.

Surviving is a son, Louis Van Mieghen, of Gadstone. His wife preceded him in death seven years ago.

The remains were taken to the Swenson Brothers funeral parlors to be prepared for burial. Arrangements for the rites are indefinite.

Freshman Debaters Will Compete Today

Gladstone high school's debate tyros will get a taste of competition when two freshman trios oppose each other this afternoon. The debate, which will be staged in the auditorium in the junior high school, will start at 2 o'clock and will be open to the public. There will be no admission charge.

The question relative to the adoption of a state income tax plan will be used.

Teams for the occasion have been chosen by Wesley Gustafson, in charge of freshman debate work. The affirmative trio will be composed of El . or O'Brien, Ruth Snyder and Dorothy Slye with Edith Tang as alternate, while the negative team consists of Linda Jackson, James Dehlin and Mary Krueger with Henry Levault as alternate. Debaters are named in the order in which they will speak.

Three members of the local faculty will act as judges.

The teams were originally scheduled to compete against two freshmen teams from Ishpeming high, but word was received yesterday that the teams would be unable to come here at this time. It is probable that they will clash at a later date.

THEATRES

For dark and tricky ways the "heathen Chinee" is not nearly so peculiar as the ways of Walter Huston with the heathen black of Africa in ":Kongo," the weird jungle melodrama which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is sending to the screen of the Rialto Theatre today.

In bringing to the screen his celebrated New York stage role of "Deadlegs" Flint, Huston resorts to tricks of black magic in holding the rebellious savage tribes in subjection.

Among the tricks which Huston plays are feats of fire-eating, turning a man into a skeleton and the chopping off of Lupe Velez's head in front of the astonished blacks. Needless to say the head is restored and Lupe goes on her grinning way.

11 P. M. Preview

Saturday night, which used to be known as the night of the bath, and which now rates higher as "date night" for the general American public, is the inspiration for "Hot Saturday," which comes tonight and Sunday to the Rialto Theatre. It is the story of a girl who chose that evening to "walk home," only to find the next morning that she has suffered all the shame of not having done so.

Cary Grant, six-foot English newcomer to the screen; red headed Nancy Carroll, well established favorite; and Randolph Scott, Georgia Tech football star who is rising to movie stardom, play in leading roles.

"HONEST" THIEF

Seattle, Wash.—Papers meant nothing to the thief who stole the purse of Mrs. O. L. Cary, but they did to her. In the purse were several important documents and a check book. The thief took $10 the purse contained, wrapped up the papers, and sent them to Mrs. Cary by mail.

R. J. RILEY NEW CITY CLUB HEAD

Annual Meeting Held; Outdoor Carnival to Be Held Here

Robert J. Riley, prominent local business man, was chosen to head the Gladstone City club during 1933 at the annual meeting held last night in the Legion hall. He succeeds B. R. Micks to the presidency. E. A. Erickson was elected vice president, succeeding H. W. Blackwell, and A. D. Alguire was named secretary-treasurer, replacing O. K. Fjetland.

John M. Olson was named a member of the board of directors, taking the place of Fjetland who has moved from the city. Other retiring officers automatically become members of the board.

Holding of an outdoor carnival here on February 22 was assured with the promise of the club's cooperation. The idea of the carnival was espoused by Dr. O. S. Hult, long an ardent advocate of outdoor activities for the young people of the community.

Tentative plans call for skating races, hockey games, skiing and snowshoe races. They will be held on the same day as the annual dog derby sponsored by the local Legion post and both the Legion and the club will work together in arranging the outdoor event. It is believed that the event can be expanded later, and that in future years it may become one of the big events of the winter.

In a short speech of acceptance President Riley said he believed that unified work of club members was the solution to present problems confronting business men. He recalled creditable work carried on by the club in past years, citing the fine work done by the organization in connection with the successful culmination of the Ford project here, and urged an active program for 1933, working for the ultimate benefit of the merchants and the city in general. In closing he stated that the benefits to be derived would be in direct ratio to the efforts put forth by the members.

Retiring officers were given a rising vote of thanks by the club.

CAN'T HOLD CHILD FOR BOARD BILL

Montreal.—Holding a child as hostage until a board bill is paid is all wrong, Mr. Justice Boyer in Practice Court here has ruled.

The case came up when Joseph Cleroux was hailed into court and asked to show cause why he was holding the baby girl of James Patrick Lapierre. Cleroux contended that Lapierre owed him $45 for boarding the baby for 16 months and that he was holding the child until the bill was paid.

Parents of the child admitted giving the child to Cleroux to board and that he had refused to give their baby back to them when they had called for it.

Wife Makes Good Hunting Partner Says Sid Gordon

Another story written by Sid W. Gordon, formerly of Gladstone, is contained in the current issue of the Northern Sportsman and will prove of interest to many in this city. This time it is an amusing tale entitled, "The Wife and I Go Deer Hunting," in which Sid points out that the better half is by no means out of place presiding at the camp stove.

The story:

You He-hunters may think you know what real hunting means, you've probably been "up to camp" with the gang, probably the most congenial bunch of fellows ever brought together. Plenty of shooting, a camp such as you always dreamed of, a cook who was a wonder and beds as soft as those at home.

And, before the war with prohibition, just enough good bourbon to toast each hunter when he made his "kill." Then you come back and sit around the rest of the year with wonderfully pleasant memories, just itching for the feel of the old 30-30 under your arm next November.

That stuff may be alright with you, but—if you want to have a real hunting trip, let the gang alone, take the wife up and don't bring a cook or a bunch with you!

I've hunted and fished since I was seven or eight years old When I was eleven and Frank was twelve, Frank would "borrow" his dad's old 45-75 as soon as dad went to the shop.

There were always deer "just back of the roundhouse" in the very late 1890's, and still are for that matter. Over the top of the "bluff" we'd go, dragging that blooming cannon. The old time lumberjacks used it for clearing the pine off a forty in one shot.

It was so heavy that we carried it together. Frank with both hands on the stock and yours truly carrying the muzzle. Two shells apiece ready to slip in the chamber when we saw a deer. We weren't taking any chances of shooting outselves. It was deer we were after.

When we saw a deer, if it were Frank's turn to shoot I would get down on my knees, he'd rest the barrel on my shoulders, aim and fire.

Hit 'em? Of course we'd hit 'em! Never seemd to get them in a vital place tho, we'd tear through the jackpine after them but we always seemed to make those terrible internal wounds that never started to bleed until after we lost their trail.

I was twelve years old before I got one, and then with a twelve guage loaded with buckshot jumped him out of his bed. After that I WAS a hunter! Twenty-one years after that episode found me married to the girl who was going to be my hunting and fishing pal.

She listened to my ravings about the wonderful sport there was in deer hunting. It was the second year before she could induce me to ditch the gang and take her to camp with me. I had a nice featherweight 30-30 for her and you ought to see the way she'd knock pennies off the stump with it. (This was long before this here depression.)

She could shoot as well or better than I. When we got into camp that night after bucking snow, ice and windfalls for over six hours and covered twenty miles in so doing, there never was a cook in the world who put a better meal together. Eat? Well you know how it is when your own wife hands you the sort of dishes you wanted in camp, but never could get them.

Unfortunately, the last bunch into camp had selfishly left without leaving a bit of wood. There should have been a decent supply, but I took the axe and the cross cut saw and in a couple of hours we had enough wood to last us the four days we intended to stay. Anyone would have been proud to see the way she handled that cross cut saw. Of course she was a little bit tired, after heaving on the windfalls, cutting the wood and getting the meal. I washed the dishes for her tho.

And I sure was proud of her when we started out through the hardwood at daylight the next morning. Her high top bots with rubber bottoms, heavy wool trousers, flannel shirt and woolen mackinaw were ample protection against any sort of weather.

She had a map of the territory, her compass pinned on her sleeve, a waterproof match box and safety pocket axe all meant safety in the event she was "turned around."

Our "gang" had quit "driving" years before this. We were still-hunters because we had more fun hunting in this manner. Nevertheless I wanted her to be sure and get some shooting and I decided to drive the first small swamp which looked good to me.

We traveled about a mile, when I dug the snow away from a big windfall, letting her stand on the soft earth with her back up against the windfall. A cedar and spruce swamp at her right, a hemlock ridge facing her and fairly open hardwood at her left.

I started down wind from her, entered the cedar swamp, and winding around windfalls and tangles I picked up the trail of a buck and a doe. The water was dripping from their tracks in the swamp and I swung right so as to make time and try and drive them over to her.

Barking like a dog, howling like a wolf, pounding on the trees and dead stuff with a hardwood club, I tore through that swamp on my feet, hands, knees and other portions of my anatomy.

Leaping from tree to tree, and many times from bough to bough, I kept those deer working over her way. When I decided I was far enough up wind of them, I made a half circle to bring me out to the hemlock ridge.

I'll admit that all the time I felt sure she would miss 'em. I was willing to bet any amount with myself that she would get buck fever, she would not remember what I had told her about taking plenty of time for her first shot, wouldn't keep herself hidden and at the same time keep a sharp lookout. Says I to myself "I'd give anything if one of the gang were there with their rifles, instead of the wife."

After a little I became ashamed of myself. I should have given her the benefit of the doubt, the idea of crabbing to myself before the blessed kid even had a chance to see them. I knew I could bank on her leading my carefully explained warning not to stir from the windfall until I came in sight.

Finally I hit the hemlock ridge as per schedule and worked down wind towards her, expecting every second to hear a shot. It seemed hours before I heard anything.

Then—bang! The sharp crack of that 3-30 and a little yell from the big wife—¼ pardon—a big yell from the little wife. Then some more yelling.

I just couldn't believe it. Think of that green huntress downing one at her first shot! I tore through the hemlocks, saw where the deer had come out of the swamp on the jump and crossed not over forty feet north, and upwind of the windfall where I had placed her.

Picking up her trail I saw where she had walked south. Keeping on her trail and watching to see that the wounded deer did not get by me, I met her right where I had entered the swamp to start the drive.

If you ever saw an excited kid, she was one. I shouted to her, "How's that for a drive, putting 'em right within forty feet of where you want 'em to go? Did you get &one?"

"Did I, Honey? Look!"

I looked, gentlemen, I looked and damfi didn't see the blankety-blank carcass of a porcupine at the foot of a tree. She had left the place where I had stationed her and ambled south on her back track. "The woods were so beautiful dear, I had such a nice walk and then I saw the porcupine and got him the first shot!"

After I wiped off my brow, wrung the water out of my sox, we started back to camp. Somehow or other I must have been unusually quiet for she said, "I'll bet you're tired, honey, you are so quiet?"

Pulling off my Scotch cap and again wiping the sweat off'n my fevered brow, I answered sweetly, "No dear, not tired, just rum'nating on how wonderful it is to have the little pal along on a deer hunting trip."

MILKFED PORK CHOPS

Detroit—Even a pig that has been raised on a bottle won't squeal with delight at the sight of a bottle of milk when he is in the form of pork chops. Farmer Joseph Koineg wanted to prove his ownership of the pig, which was taken from three men who had the animal tied in the back seat of their automobile, by tempting it with a bottle of milk. His scheme didn't work because the pig had been converted into pork and given to the Felician Sisters convent.

NEWBERRY PLEASED

General satisfaction is expressed here concerning the appointments of the personnel of the conservation department for this district. Julius Thorson, supervisor of the district, came here from Munising and has made a place for him and his family in the locality. He has faced many difficult problems the solution of which had to be unhappy for someone, but on the whole he has done a good job. The report in a Mining Journal story to the effect that the department had "one unpopular warden" here came through a misunderstanding, it is believed, and this misunderstanding was due to the political upset at the last election.

Richard Beach is his assistant. Mr. Beach is a local young man, having grown up here and receiving his education in the Newberry schools. He is known throughout the department for his ability in forest fire work.

George Mattson is office man and expert fire fighter. Leo Marquette and Harold Peters are the two field men, both with excellent records in game law cases.

DEATH CLAIMS OLD RESIDENT

Peter Van Mieghen, 78, Stricken at Farm Home

Peter Van Mieghen, long time resident of Delta county and of Gladstone, passed away Thursday evening about 6 o'clock at his farm home in Escanaba township, northeast of Chaison. He was in his 79th year and had been ailing for the past six years. Death was attributed to infirmities of old age.

Peter Van Mieghen was born in Belgium, Feb. 28, 1854. He came to the United States and Delta county 45 years ago, residing here for a period of 17 years when he returned to his home land. After remaining there for nine years, he returned to this city in 1914 and lived here until two years ago when he moved to a farm in Escanaba township.

He worked as a section laborer on the Soo Line railroad, and for a time as a laborer in the mines in the vicinity of Iron Mountain. He retired from active work about 10 years ago.

Surviving is a son, Louis Van Mieghen, of Gadstone. His wife preceded him in death seven years ago.

The remains were taken to the Swenson Brothers funeral parlors to be prepared for burial. Arrangements for the rites are indefin'te.

Freshman Debaters Will Compete Today

Gladstone high school's debate tyros will get a taste of competition when two freshman trios oppose each other this afternoon. The debate, which will be staged in the auditorium in the junior high school, will start at 2 o'clock and will be open to the public. There will be no admission charge.

The question relative to the adoption of a state income tax plan will be used.

Teams for the occasion have been chosen by Wesley Gustafson, in charge of freshman debate work. The affirmative trio will be composed of Eleanor O'Brien, Ruth Snyder and Dorothy Slye with Edith Tang as alternate, while the negative team consists of Linda Jackson, James Dehlin and Mary Krueger with Henry Levault as alternate. Debaters are named in the order in which they will speak.

Three members of the local faculty will act as judges.

The teams were originally scheduled to compete against two freshmen teams from Ishpeming high, but word was received yesterday that the teams would be unable to come here at this time. It is probable that they will clash at a later date.

THEATRES

For dark and tricky ways the "heathen Chinee" is not nearly so peculiar as the ways of Walter Huston with the heathen black of Africa in ":Kongo," the weird jungle melodrama which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is sending to the screen of the Rialto Theatre today.

In bringing to the screen his celebrated New York stage role of "Deadlegs" Flint, Huston resorts to tricks of black magic in holding the rebellious savage tribes in subjection.

Among the tricks which Huston plays are feats of fire-eating, turning a man into a skeleton and the chopping off of Lupe Velez's head in front of the astonished blacks. Needless to say the head is restored and Lupe goes on her grinning way.

Saturday night, which used to be known as the night of the bath, and which now rates higher as "date night" for the general American public, is the inspiration for "Hot Saturday," which comes tonight and Sunday to the Rialto Theatre. It is the story of a girl who chose that evening to "walk home," only to find the next morning that she has suffered all the shame of not having done so.

Cary Grant, six-foot English newcomer to the screen; red headed Nancy Carroll, well established favorite; and Randolph Scott, Georgia Tech football star who is rising to movie stardom, play in leading roles.

R. J. RILEY NEW CITY CLUB HEAD

Annual Meeting Held; Outdoor Carnival to Be Held Here

Robert J. Riley, prominent local business man, was chosen to head the Gladstone City club during 1933 at the annual meeting held last night in the Legion hall. He succeeds B. R. Micks to the presidency. E. A. Erickson was elected vice president, succeeding H. W. Blackwell, and A. D. Alguire was named secretary-treasurer, replacing O. K. Fjetland.

John M. Olson was named a member of the board of directors, taking the place of Fjetland who has moved from the city. Other retiring officers automatically become members of the board.

Holding of an outdoor carnival here on February 22 was assured with the promise of the club's cooperation. The idea of the carnival was espoused by Dr. O. S. Hult, long an ardent advocate of outdoor activities for the young people of the community.

Tentative plans call for skat'ng races, hockey games, skiing and snowshoe races. They will be held on the same day as the annual dog derby sponsored by the local Legion post and both the Legion and the club will work together in arranging the outdoor event. It is believed that the event can be expanded later, and that in future years it may become one of the big events of the winter.

In a short speech of acceptance President Riley said he believed that unified work of club members was the solution to present problems confronting business men. He recalled creditable work carried on by the club in past years, citing the fine work done by the organization in connection with the successful culmination of the Ford project here, and urged an active program for 1933, working for the ultimate benefit of the merchants and the city in general. In clos'ng he stated that the benefits to be derived would be in direct ratio to the efforts put forth by the members.

Retiring officers were given a rising vote of thanks by the club.

CAN'T HOLD CHILD FOR BOARD BILL

Montreal.—Holding a child as hostage until a board bill is paid is all wrong, Mr. Justice Boyer in Practice Court here has ruled.

The case came up when Joseph Cleroux was hailed into court and asked to show cause why he was holding the baby girl of James Patrick Lapierre. Cleroux contended that Lapierre owed him $45 for boarding the baby for 16 months and that he was holding the child until the bill was paid.

Parents of the child admitted giving the child to Cleroux to board and that he had refused to give their baby back to them when they had called for it.

Wife Makes Good Hunting Partner Says Sid Gordon

Another story written by Sid W. Gordon, formerly of Gladstone, is contained in the current issue of the Northern Sportsman and will prove of interest to many in this city. This time it is an amusing tale entitled, "The Wife and I Go Deer Hunting," in which Sid points out that the better half is by no means out of place presiding at the camp stove.

The story:

You He-hunters may think you know what real hunting means, you've probably been "up to camp" with the gang, probably the most congenial bunch of fellows ever brought together. Plenty of shooting, a camp such as you always dreamed of, a cook who was a wonder and beds as soft as those at home.

And, before the war with prohibition, just enough good bourbon to toast each hunter when he made his "kill." Then you come back and sit around the rest of the year with wonderfully pleasant memories, just itching for the feel of the old 30-30 under your arm next November.

That stuff may be alright with you, but—if you want to have a real hunting trip, let the gang alone, take the wife up and don't bring a cook or a bunch with you!

I've hunted and fished since I was seven or eight years old. When I was eleven and Frank was twelve, Frank would "borrow" his dad's old 45-75 as soon as dad went to the shop.

There were always deer "just back of the roundhouse" in the very late 1890's, and still are for that matter. Over the top of the "bluff" we'd go, dragging that blooming cannon. The old time lumberjacks used it for clearing the pine off a forty in one shot.

It was so heavy that we carried it together. Frank with both hands on the stock and yours truly carrying the muzzle. Two shells apiece ready to slip in the chamber when we saw a deer. We weren't taking any chances of shooting ourselves. It was deer we were after.

When we saw a deer, if it were Frank's turn to shoot I would get down on my knees, he'd rest the barrel on my shoulders, aim and fire.

Hit 'em? Of course we'd hit 'em! Never seemd to get them in a vital place tho, we'd tear through the jackpine after them but we always seemed to make those terrible internal wounds that never started to bleed until after we lost their trail.

I was twelve years old before I got one, and then with a twelve guage loaded with buckshot jumped him out of his bed. After that I WAS a hunter! Twenty-one years after that episode found me married to the girl who was going to be my hunting and fishing pal.

She listened to my ravings about the wonderful sport there was in deer hunting. It was the second year before she could induce me to ditch the gang and take her to camp with me. I had a nice featherweight 30-30 for her and you ought to see the way she'd knock penn'es off the stump with it. (This was long before this here depression.)

She could shoot as well or better than I. When we got into camp that night after bucking snow, ice and windfalls for over six hours and covered twenty miles in so doing, there never was a cook in the world who put a better meal together. Eat? Well you know how it is when your own wife hands you the sort of dishes you wanted in camp, but never could get them.

Unfortunately, the last bunch into camp had selfishly left without leaving a bit of wood. There should have been a decent supply, but I took the axe and the cross cut saw and in a couple of hours we had enough wood to last us the four days we intended to stay. Anyone would have been proud to see the way she handled that cross cut saw. Of course she was a little bit tired, after heaving on the windfalls, cutting the wood and getting the meal. I washed the dishes for her tho.

And I sure was proud of her when we started out through the hardwood at daylight the next morning. Her high top bots with rubber bottoms, heavy wool trousers, flannel shirt and woolen mackinaw were ample protection against any sort of weather.

She had a map of the territory, her compass pinned on her sleeve, a waterproof match box and safety pocket axe all meant safety in the event she was "turned around."

Our "gang" had quit "driving" years before this. We were still-hunters because we had more fun hunting in this manner. Nevertheless I wanted her to be sure and get some shooting and I decided to drive the first small swamp which looked good to me.

We traveled about a mile, when I dug the snow away from a big windfall, letting her stand on the soft earth with her back up against the windfall. A cedar and spruce swamp at her right, a hemlock ridge facing her and fairly open hardwood at her left.

I started down wind from her, entered the cedar swamp, and winding around windfalls and tangles I picked up the trail of a buck and a doe. The water was dripping from their tracks in the swamp and I swung right so as to make time and try and drive them over to her.

Barking l'ke a dog, howling like a wolf, pound'ng on the trees and dead stuff with a hardwood club, I tore through that swamp on my feet, hands, knees and other portions of my anatomy.

Leaping from tree to tree, and many times from bough to bough, I kept those deer working over her way. When I decided I was far enough up wind of them, I made a half circle to bring me out to the hemlock ridge.

I'll admit that all the time I felt sure she would miss 'em. I was willing to bet any amount with myself that she would get buck fever, she would not remember whatI had told her about taking plenty of time for her first shot, wouldn't keep herself hidden and at the same time keep a sharp lookout. Says I to myself "I'd give anything if one of the gang were there with their rifles, instead of the wife."

After a little I became ashamed of myself. I should have given her the benefit of the doubt, the idea of crabbing to myself before the blessed kid even had a chance to see them. I knew I could bank on her leading my carefully explained warning not to stir from the windfall until I came in sight.

Finally I hit the hemlock ridge as per schedule and worked down wind towards her, expecting every sevond to hear a shot. It seemed hours before I heard anything.

Then—bang! The sharp crack of that 3-30 and a little yell from the big wife—¼ pardon—a big yell from the little wife. Then some more yelling.

I just couldn't believe it. Think of that green huntress downing one at her first shot! I tore through the hemlocks, saw where the deer had come out of the swamp on the jump and crossed not over forty feet north, and upwind of the windfall where I had placed her.

Picking up her trail I saw where she had walked south. Keeping on her trail and watching to see that the wounded deer did not get by me, I met her right where I had entered the swamp to start the drive.

If you ever saw an excited kid, she was one. I shouted to her, "How's that for a drive, putting 'em right within forty feet of where you want 'em to go? Did you get &one?"

"Did I, Honey? Look!"

I looked, gentlemen, I looked and damfi didn't see the blankety-blank carcass of a porcupine at the foot of a tree. She had left the place where I had stationed her and ambled south on her back track. "The woods were so beautiful dear, I had such a nice walk and then I saw the porcupine and got him the first shot!"

After I wiped off my brow, wrung the water out of my sox, we started back to camp. Somehow or other I must have been unusually quiet for she said, "I'll bet you're tired, honey, you are so quiet?"

Pulling off my Scotch cap and again wiping the sweat off'n my fevered brow, I answered sweetly, "No dear, not tired, just rum'nating on how wonderful it is to have the little pal along on a deer hunting trip."

MILKFED PORK CHOPS

Detroit—Even a pig that has been raised on a bottle won't squeal with delight at the sight of a bottle of milk when he is in the form of pork chops. Farmer Joseph Koineg wanted to prove his ownership of the pig, which was taken from three men who had the animal tied in the back seat of their automobile, by tempting it with a bottle of milk. His scheme didn't work because the pig had been converted into pork and given to the Felician Sisters convent.

NEWBERRY PLEASED

General satisfaction is expressed here concerning the appointments of the personnel of the conservation department for this district. Julius Thorson, supervisor of the district, came here from Munising and has made a place for him and his family in the locality. He has faced many difficult problems the solution of which had to be unhappy for someone, but on the whole he has done a good job. The report in a Mining Journal story to the effect that the department had "one unpopular warden" here came through a misunderstanding, it is believed, and th's misunderstanding was due to the political upset at the last election.

Richard Beach is h's assistant. Mr. Beach is a local young man, having grown up here and receiving his education 'n the Newberry schools. He is known throughout the department for his ability in forest fire work.

George Mattson is office man and expert fire fighter. Leo Marcotte and Harold Peters are the two field men, both with excellent records 'n game law cases.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Stocks received with quiet firmness today the word that America had agreed to discuss war debts with Great Britain.

Familiar trading favorites poked up a point or two in the morning when the market at times was fairly animated, but publication of the White House statement found quotations declining sluggishly. Toward the close, leaders plucked up more courage, as though heartened by the Washington decision, but earlier highs were not re-established and net improvement averaged less than a point. Sales totaled 702,937 shares.

Bonds had the favorable news of a cut in interest rates paid by New York clearing house banks and there was some lifting of quotations in the investment market. The upturn of stocks was marred silghtly by rather heavy selling of certain issues, among them Chrysler and Consolidated Gas of New York, though both closed unchanged.

Railroad shares did well. There were net gains of one to more than two points for Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Lackawanna, among others. U. S. Steel issues, American Can, American Tobacco "B," Liggett & Myers "B," Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Case, American Telephone and North American showed net advances of roughly similar extent, representing moderate recession from their highs.

Weekly trade reviews sounded an optimistic note, being especially impressed by the existence of low inventories in commodities. Bradstreet's thought the most significantly favorable item was the downward trend of cold storage holdings of certain foodstuffs, while Dun's said there has been signs of a buying revival in certain lines. The same review noted that the hesitancy apparent a few weeks ago was losing its force, "although unsettling causes still are present in the political attitude toward taxation of some of the manufactured products and further levies on individual incomes, to say nothing of domestic and international debts and depreciated currencies."

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Jan. 20—Selling orders predominated in the grain pits late today, and price advances made earlier failed to hold.

"Spread" dealings in wheat, sales here against purchases at Kansas City, were largely responsible for Chicago market setbacks. Weakness of the Winnipeg wheat market was also an unsettling factor.

Wheat in Chicago closed unsteady, 1-8 to 3-8 under yesterday's finish, with corn at a shade decline to a shade advance, oats unchanged to a shade higher, and provisions unchanged to a decline of 2 cents.

Almost a cent a bushel quick early jump in corn prices had a good deal to do with transient strength shown by wheat. There were reports that half the corn crop of Cordoba province, Argentina, had been destroyed by locusts which were also menacing the corn in Santa Fe province.

Corn arrivals in Chicago today were scantier, 75 cars compared with 144 a week ago and 138 at this time last year. Oats followed corn.

Provisions were easy owing to likelihood of larger receipts of hogs next week.

Closing indemnities: Wheat May, 47 to 47 1-8, 48 1-8; July, 47 to 47 1-8, 48 to 48 1-8; September, 47 7-8, 49. Corn—May, 26 3-8, 26 3-4; July, 28 3-8, offers; September, 29¼, bids.

BY VICTOR EUBANK
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—The bond market apparently felt better today, but prices, as a whole, were unable to retain early gains and drifted back to around their starting point.

The Associated Press-Standard Statistics average for 60 domestic corporate loans closed unchanged. Further activiti in the United States government group, however, raised aggregate sales to $12,802,000, par value. The turnover of government bonds alone was more than $3,500,000.

Most of the federals finished at their top levels of the day, with gains ranging from 2-32nds to 19-32nds of a point. Liberty 3½s reached a new 1932-33 high and treasury 3 1-8s were the heaviest traded.

The most active rail gainers included some liens of Santa Fe, Baltimore & Ohio, Burlington, New York Central, Reading, Texas & Pacific and Union Pacific. Southern railway issues were heavy and a number of others drifted irregularly lower.

War Debt Parley Backs Curb Rally

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Editor)

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Prices moved upward from fractions to about a point in a quiet professional curb market session today. Transfers totaled 90,000 shares against 100,000 yesterday.

Principal sustenance for the improved tone was drawn from Washington reports, which indicated that an early exchange of official views on the British war debt question would be arranged.

In the utility group, Electric Bond and Share common gained slightly, following publication of that company's 1932 report showing 99 cents a share earned on the common, but the $5 preferred broke more than 3 points in light trading. American Gas & Electric, American Superpower and Cities Service were steady. Niagara Hudson Power and United Light & Power A were fractionally higher.

Aluminum gained more than a point although buying was light. The Ford issues were steady. Woolworth, Ltd., gained a shade.

The oils were steady with Standard of Indiana and Gulf advancing fractionally.

HE SERVED FIRST

Fort Worth, Tex.—Alfred Wells, 22, served a sentence for liquor transportation before the sentence was passed on him. Wells was kept in jail 113 days before his case was brought to trial. When he was finally tried to pleaded guilty and Judge James C. Wilson sentenced him to the 113 days that he had already served. There was an added sentence of six months and a fine of $500, but both were suspended.

Escapes Clad in Night Robe

Costume meant little to Alfred Davis (above) who suddenly decided he disliked the Industrial Home School at Washington, D. C. Clad only in night garments he skipped about for a couple of miles—through woods and creeks—until finally he was caught and returned by a policeman.

U. P. Briefs

Found Not Guilty

Iron River—Charged with possessing venison out of season, Gunnard Wickman, 45, of Iron Mountain, was freed by a jury in Justice Lyle's court yesterday afternoon. The jury deliberated only 15 minutes.

On the stand in his own defense, Wickman testified that venison found at the Rescik camp, where he is cutting wood, did not belong to him, and he disclaimed any knowledge of it. Wickman said that other men had occupied the camp before him and probably had left the meat there.

Golden Wedding

Norway—Mr. and Mrs. Isador Jossens, residing on Depot hill, Norway, observed their golden wedding anniversary on Tuesday, January 17. Mr. Jossens, who is 76 years of age, and his wife, who is 73, were married on January 17, 1883, in Vracene, Belgium.

The couple have four children, Mrs. Peter DeDecker, Philip and Edward Jossens, of Norway, and Leo Jossens, of Chicago.

To Run Sugar Plant?

Menominee, Mich.—Menominee county board of supervisors will be asked to seek a county loan of $100,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for reloaning to the bondholders protective committee of the Menominee River Sugar Company to operate the company's beet sugar plant here next fall.

B. D. Kuhn, county agricultural agent, is now preparing letters enclosing return cards on which Menominee county farmers will be asked if they are interested in raising sugar beets for the local factory on a cooperative plan, price of beets to be determined by the price of sugar manufactured from them.

The farmers of the county will be circularized with these letters so that the county board, when considering request for negotiation of the $100,000 loan, may know the feeling of the farmers on the project.

COMEDY OF ERRORS

Boston—A comedy of errors was enacted by Mrs. James Hibbard and George W. Bentley recently. Bentley was visiting some friends and left his car parked at the curb. When he returned he found, not his own new automobile, but another of similar make, standing at the curb. He reported it to the police, who found that Mrs. Hubbard, who owned a similar car, had parked behind Bentley's car and then had ridden off in his by mistake.

Miss Doris Fitzpatrick returned to her duties at the Newberry State hospital Wednesday evening after spending a few days' vacation in town as the guest of her mother, Mrs. Blanche Fitzpatrick.

Mr. and Mrs. N. K. Zeigler visited with a number of friends in Munising Tuesday.

William Viland and son Elmer of Lakefield visited the forepart of the week here with the former's daughters, Mrs. A. J. Mainville and Mrs. Harvey Mainville.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Leech have returned to their home after spending a few days' visit at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Leech.

Mrs. Elsie Hammond was pleasantly surprised at her home Wednesday evening from eight till ten by a number of her younger friends who dropped in to help her pass the evening. Mrs. Hammond is recovering from a long illness and although able to be about she is still confined to her home. She suffered a fractured hip two months ago when she fell on the icy road.

A LOAD OF TOAST

Columbus, O.—A bakery wagon load of bread is not uncommon, but it is very seldom that one sees a load of toast. Leaking gasoline on a hot exhaust pipe caused a bakery truck to catch fire and to burn with its load of bake goods. The damage to the truck was set at $50, while $40 worth of bakery products were ruined.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Stocks received with quiet firmness today the word that America had agreed to discuss war debts with Great Britain.

Familiar trading favorites poked up a point or two in the morning when the market at times was fairly animated, but publication of the White House statement found quotations declining sluggishly. Toward the close, leaders plucked up more courage, as though heartened by the Washington decision, but earlier highs were not re-established and net improvement averaged less than a point. Sales totaled 702,937 shares.

Bonds had the favorable news of a cut in interest rates paid by New York clearing house banks and there was some lifting of quotations in the investment market. The upturn of stocks was marred silghtly by rather heavy selling of certain issues, among them Chrysler and Consolidated Gas of New York, though both closed unchanged.

Railroad shares did well. There were net gains of one to more than two points for Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Lackawanna, among others. U. S. Steel issues, American Can, American Tobacco "B," Liggett & Myers "B," Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Case, American Telephone and North American showed net advances of roughly similar extent, representing moderate recession from their highs.

Weekly trade reviews sounded an optimistic note, being especially impressed by the existence of low inventories in commodities. Bradstreet's thought the most significantly favorable item was the downward trend of cold storage holdings of certain foodstuffs, while Dun's said there has been signs of a buying revival in certain lines. The same review noted that the hesitancy apparent a few weeks ago was losing its force, "although unsettling causes still are present in the political attitude toward taxation of some of the manufactured products and further levies on individual incomes, to say nothing of domestic and international debts and depreciated currencies."

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Jan. 20—Selling orders predominated in the grain pits late today, and price advances made earlier failed to hold.

"Spread" dealings in wheat, sales here against purchases at Kansas City, were largely responsible for Chicago market setbacks. Weakness of the Winnipeg wheat market was also an unsettling factor.

Wheat in Chicago closed unsteady, 1-8 to 3-8 under yesterday's finish, with corn at a shade decline to a shade advance, oats unchanged to a shade higher, and provisions unchanged to a decline of 2 cents.

Almost a cent a bushel quick early jump in corn prices had a good deal to do with transient strength shown by wheat. There were reports that half the corn crop of Cordoba province, Argentina, had been destroyed by locusts which were also menacing the corn in Santa Fe province.

Corn arrivals in Chicago today were scantier, 75 cars compared with 144 a week ago and 138 at this time last year. Oats followed corn.

Provisions were easy owing to likelihood of larger receipts of hogs next week.

Closing indemnities: Wheat May, 47 to 47 1-8, 48 1-8; July, 47 to 47 1-8, 48 to 48 1-8; September, 47 7-8, 49. Corn—May, 26 3-8, 26 3-4; July, 28 3-8, offers; September, 29¼, bids.

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—The bond market apparently felt better today, but prices, as a whole, were unable to retain early gains and drifted back to around their starting point.

The Associated Press-Standard Statistics average for 60 domestic corporate loans closed unchanged. Further activitl in the United States government group, however, raised aggregate sales to $12,802,000, par value. The turnover of government bonds alone was more than $3,500,000.

Most of the federals finished at their top levels of the day, with gains ranging from 2-32nds to 19-32nds of a point. Liberty 3½s reached a new 1932-33 high and treasury 3 1-8s were the heaviest traded.

The most active rail gainers included some liens of Santa Fe, Baltimore & Ohio, Burlington, New York Central, Reading, Texas & Pacific and Union Pacific. Southern railway issues were heavy and a number of others drifted irregularly lower.

War Debt Parley Backs Curb Rally

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Editor)

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Prices moved upward from fractions to about a point in a quiet professional curb market session today. Transfers totaled 90,000 shares against 100,000 yesterday.

Principal sustenance for the improved tone was drawn from Washington reports, which indicated that an early exchange of official views on the British war debt question would be arranged.

In the utility group, Electric Bond and Share common gained slightly, following publication of that company's 1932 report showing 99 cents a share earned on the common, but the $5 preferred broke more than 3 points in light trading. American Gas & Electric, American Superpower and Cities Service were steady. Niagara Hudson Power and United Light & Power A were fractionally higher.

Aluminum gained more than a point although buying was light. The Ford issues were steady. Woolworth, Ltd., gained a shade.

The oils were steady with Standard of Indiana and Gulf advancing fractionally.

Fort Worth, Tex.—Alfred Wells, 22, served a sentence for liquor transportation before the sentence was passed on him. Wells was kept in jail 113 days before his case was brought to trial. When he was finally tried to pleaded guilty and Judge James C. Wilson sentenced him to the 113 days that he had already served. There was an added sentence of six months and a fine of $500, but both were suspended.

U. P. Briefs

Found Not Guilty

Iron River—Charged with possessing venison out of season, Gunnard Wickman, 45, of Iron Mountain, was freed by a jury in Justice Lyle's court yesterday afternoon. The jury deliberated only 15 minutes.

On the stand in his own defense, Wickman testified that venison found at the Rescik camp, where he is cutting wood, did not belong to him, and he disclaimed any knowledge of it. Wickman said that other men had occupied the camp before him and probably had left the meat there.

To Run Sugar Plant?

Menominee, Mich.—Menominee county board of supervisors will be asked to seek a county loan of $100,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for reloaning to the bondholders protective committee of the Menominee River Sugar Company to operate the company's beet sugar plant here next fall.

B. D. Kuhn, county agricultural agent, is now preparing letters enclosing return cards on which Menominee county farmers will be asked if they are interested in raising sugar beets for the local factory on a cooperative plan, price of beets to be determined by the price of sugar manufactured from them.

The farmers of the county will be circularized with these letters so that the county board, when considering request for negotiation of the $100,000 loan, may know the feeling of the farmers on the project.

COMEDY OF ERRORS

Boston—A comedy of errors was enacted by Mrs. James Hibbard and George W. Bentley recently. Bentley was visiting some friends and left his car parked at the curb. When he returned he found, not his own new automobile, but another of similar make, standing at the curb. He reported it to the police, who found that Mrs. Hubbard, who owned a similar car, had parked behind Bentley's car and then had ridden off in his by mistake.

A LOAD OF TOAST

Columbus, O.—A bakery wagon load of bread is not uncommon, but it is very seldom that one sees a load of toast. The damage to the truck was set at $50, while $40 worth of bakery products were ruined.

Eskymos Defeat Maroons, 24-19, St. Joseph Wins

NORDMEN STILL ARE OFF COLOR

Spurt in Third Period Locals' Margin of Victory

Escanaba gained a step in the Northern Nine conference basketball race last evening but they aren't bragging much about it. The Eskymos defeated the Menominee Maroons, 24 to 19, in a game that was very loosely played but close enough throughout to keep the large crowd keenly interested.

The lethargy that gripped the Eskymos a week ago was plainly evident for a major part of the game against Menominee last evening and it was only the apparent inferiority of the Maroons that saved the local cagers from a neat shellacking.

Two bright features stood out during the game, however. They were the adeptness under the basket of W. Erickson, Escanaba center, who showed the fans they can quit moaning about the loss of Anderson, star pivot man on the 1932 championship Eskymos, and the sen[illegible]onal comeback of the Eskym[illegible] in the third period. Trailing, 14 to 8, at half time, the Nordmen spurted in the third period to score 13 points while the Maroons were netting just two free throws.

The Eskymos' greatest weakness, nability to connect on charity osses, was given a fine workout ast night, the Nordmen getting 27 shots on 20 Menominee personals. The locals responded with nine successful attempts—and 18 misses, an average of .333.

Ishpeming Cage Squad Beats Gladstone, 39-15

Gladstone, Jan. 20—A blue and white whirlwind in the shape of the Ishpeming high school cage squad swept across the local court here tonight to a 39-15 victory over Gladstone.

The ability of the Hematites to hit the hoop was almost uncanny and the sweeping rush of scoring that they unloosed in the first period and continued during the next two quarters completely demoralized the Koilmen.

Wills, Hematite guard, carried off the evening's scoring honors with five field goals and a free throw for 11 points, while Kemp, a forward, followed closely with 10 points. Carter, local center, with two field goals and three free throws, was high point man for Gladstone.

Carter had put Gladstone in front with a 5-0 lead when Ishpeming started the fireworks and run up a 11-5 lead at the end of the first quarter. They continued the onslaught in the second period, running up 15 more points to Gladstone's 5 to take a commanding 26-10 advantage at half time.

Taking up the scoring where they left off, the Hematites in the third quarter ran up 10 points to Gladstone's lone free throw and the score stood 36-11 at the end of the period. Substitutes were tossed in freely by both coaches in the final period and play slowed up, Gladstone scoring 4 points to the Hematites' three, when the whistle ended the fray.

Nahma defeated the Gladstone reserves, 25-23, in a close fought preliminary.

COACHES VETO RAMBLER TILT

Michigan Mentors Favor University of Detroit If Shift Is Made

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 20 (AP)—The University of Michigan football coaching staff has said "thumbs down" on the suggestion that Notre Dame be scheduled for a series of games.

Following agitation for a Michigan-Notre Dame football series, begun after the annual Rambler football banquet at South Bend this week, Athletic Director Fielding H. Yost called a meeting of the varsity coaches to learn their attitude toward such a game.

While what was said at the coaches' meeting, held Thursday afternoon, was kept secret, it was learned today on good authority that the football teachers did not favor scheduling Notre Dame. It was their concensus that only "continued hard times" and "worse financial condition of the Michigan athletic association than at present" should be allowed to alter Michigan's attitude. It also was said today that the coaches favored University of Detroit over Notre Dame if Michigan's football scheduling policy were to be changed.

For the present, it is believed, the coaches favor continuing the policy of scheduling six Western conference elevens, Michigan State college and one team from the east. Cornell is the eastern school which will send a football team to the Michigan stadium next fall. Intersectional games after 1933 have not been arranged, but it is no secret here that Harvard, Yale, Pennsylvania, Columbia, Navy and Princeton are the universities looked upon with most favor by Michigan athletic authorities.

Navy and Harvard were good drawing cards in their home-and-home series with Michigan from 1925 to 1930. The Michigan policy has been to maintain a position of allowing prospective opponents to "come half way" in the matter of proposing games.

LABARBA SUBS FOR CHOCOLATE

Cuban Deported, Rival To Box Briton Jan. 27

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Fidel Labarba, of Los Angeles, foremost rival of New York's featherweight champion, Kid Chocolate, signed articles today to fill in for the Cuban negro against Sailor Tom Watson, British titleholder, in a 12-round bout in Madison Square Garden Jan. 27.

Deported from Key West, Fla., yesterday, the Cuban negro, recognized by the New York state athletic commission as the world featherweight titleholder, left a wide gap in the Garden program and no opponent for the imported challenger. Even though Chocolate receives the department of labor permit he lacked when he was turned back at Key West, it was realized hat he could not get back to New York this month.

Chocolate, therefore, will defend his title against the winner of next Friday night's match sometime in February, provided that he can arrange his private affairs with the immigration officials.

Victory over Watson would give Labarba his second chance at Chocolate's laurels within three months. The slick Cuban outpointed the Californian in a fierce 15-round match here Dec. 9.

Labarba and Watson will meet at 128 pounds, two over the featherweight limit, for 12 rounds.

TEACHERS EVEN UP THE COUNT

Northern State Defeats Superior Normal 28 to 27

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 20 (AP)—Northern State Teachers' college evened the count here tonight when it defeated Superior, Wis., Normal, 28 to 27, in one of the best basketball games seen on the Northern college floor. Northern overcame a 17 to 15 lead the Yellowjackets held at the half to win.

Superior presented a smooth working team, carrying the ball under the basket for "dog" shots to count, while Northern scored from long range.

The contest was remarkably clean, due to almost perfect guarding by both quintets, and only 16 personal fouls were called.

Escanaba Reserves Defeat Cooks, 11-8

FLIRT IS LONG-LOST BROTHER

Miami, Fla., (NEA) — Mrs. Elizabeth S. Wa'lace was quite alarmed the other night when a gray-haired man started to flirt with her while she was performing her nightly task of cleaning up some offices in a downtown building.

The stranger finally approached her, and after a good deal of shouting, for Mrs. Wallace is deaf, impressed on her that he was a brother she had not seen for 55 years.

He hitch-hiked to Miami and started a search. They're happily together now.

Hecox and Jacobs Put on Great Little Program

Manistique, Jan. 20 (Special)—Hecox and Jacobs, veteran Soo football and basketball stars, put on a duet here tonight which was directly responsible for a 36 to 21 defeat handed the Manistique high school basketball team in a Northern Nine conference game. Jacobs scored 15 points and Hecox 14 for the Cranemen.

For one period the Schoolcrafters scored point for point with the Lock City crew but as far as determining the winner was concerned the game was all over at half time. The Lock City team scored 12 points in the second period against none for Manistique and the half ended, 18 to 6, with the game safely put away for the Soo.

Ekdahl led the Manistique offense with three field goals.

Can't Always Tell In Baseball, Points Out Honus Wagner

Pittsburgh, Jan. 20 (AP)—A lot of people very emphatically naming his year's major league baseball champions are leaving themselves open for some long and loud horselaughs in October.

At least John Wagner thinks so, and he used to play the game. John—more easily recognized as Hans, or Honum, though the real name is Jahannes, which is German for John—Wagner says the 1933 world championship may be predestined, but he doesn't see how anybody can know it.

"The loss of one or two particular men can make a great deal of difference in any team," said the old time Pittsburgh Pirate shortstop today. "The Yankees? Of course, that's a great team. But suppose Babe Ruth breaks an arm and Lou Gehrig gets sick, eh?

"The Senators look good, but I tell you, you can't tell at this time of the year anyway. Maybe some youngster has just been signed from off in the sticks somewhere that will burn up either circuit.

"Pitchers are a great part of any team, of course. Washington has a good staff now, and Washington also has Clark Griffith. That fellow can make good pitchers out of ordinary ones. I faced a lot of pitchers in my day, and he was the smartest one in the lot. But, no, I tell you, I'm not predicting what they'll do. It's too early for that."

The veteran who will be 59 years old next month won't be induced even to name a favorite in either eague.

"Cubs? Certainly the Cubs are good, but didn't I say it will be a long time yet before you can tell what they're going to do?

"No, don't you worry about Connie Mack, either. That fellow is smart. And he's broken up the best baseball teams in the world and then shown up again with another best team."

BOXING

Madison Square Garden, New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Hans Birkie, stolid German heavyweight, and Jimmy Braddock, once the clouting pride of the light heavyweights, plodded through ten weary rounds of a "feature" ten round bout tonight with scarcely half of the meagre crowd of 4,000 that saw the start, lasting through to hear the decision.

Boston, Jan. 20 (AP)—Jose Santa, ponderous Portuguese heavyweight, tonight gained a five-round technical knockout over Jimmy Maloney, veteran Boston heavyweight, after they clashed heads in a clinch during their contest, scheduled for 10 rounds. Santa's unintentional butt opened a wide cut over Maloney's eye and Referee Johnny Martin refused to permit him to continue after the fourth. Santa weighed 245 pounds and Maloney 205.

Although the acreage of Ohio farm crops this year was about the same as in 1931, the yield per acre was 5 per cent less than normal.

Champion Craig Wood Retired at Age of 13, Came Back at 21

BY BRAN BELL
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Los Angeles, Jan. 20 (AP)—Craig Wood, who won all the open golf tournaments California had this winter—three—holds another record which may be unique. He retired from the game at the age of 13 and put on a snappy comeback when he was 21.

Craig Wood

The tall, blond New Jersey professional connected himself with golf as a caddy and was good enough when he quit at 13 to shoot nine holes in from 40 to 43 strokes.

A native of Lake Placid, N. Y., Wood started out to be a civil engineer, attending Clarkson Tech at Potsdam, N. Y. When not studying, he played defense on a hockey team in the winter and shortstop on sandlot baseball teams in the summer.

Golf was a game for the other fellow until he was 21 and then he came back to the links he had left at 13, but far away from his native New York. He was assistant bookkeeper for a tobacco company at Winchester, Ky., and did part time work as a golf professional on the side.

After he was runner-up in the Kentucky open he left the tobacco business and became professional at the Louisville country club. Later he went to the Norwood Club, Long Branch, N. J., then to the Forest Hills Fields Club, Bloomfield, N. J., where he spent three years, finally moving on to the Hollywood Golf and Country club of Deal, N. J., his present connection.

This, his fifth winter in tournament play, was his most successful and he led the field home in the San Francisco match play open, the Pasadena open and the Los Angeles open. He tied for third in the Agua Caliente open in Mexico.

One of the secrets of Wood's successful play is his strength. He survives the stern test of tournament play in much more impressive fashion than do many of his fellow pros because he is very strong physically.

Two weaknesses last season cost him many shots, poor putting and ineffective niblick play. That gold golf doctor, Leo Diegel, who can sometimes cure others' ills when he can not prescribe for his own, straightened out the niblick approaches and a changed method on the greens started the putts dropping.

In this season's play, Wood has taken much more time and gained confidence. Spectators have thought sometimes he was studying the line of his putts over carefully but he was only waiting for what a baseball player once called "the old con-fee-dence." The system seems to have worked for there has been no more consistently good putter in the far western tournaments.

The man who retired at 13 and came back at 21 promises to win more important events in one season than he has captured throughout his competitive life. After he got his start with first money at Pasadena in 1929 he followed through by winning the Oklahoma City and Honolulu opens the next year, but since then the pickings have been slim. In 1931 he had to be satisfied with the Harlington, Texas, open and last year, when he had a chance in the North-South open, Johnny Golden defeated him in a play-off.

PIRATES' ACE SIGNS ON LINE

Babe Herman, Perennial Holdout, Back With Chicago Cubs

Pittsburgh, Jan. 20 (AP)—Heinie Meine, ace of the Pittsburgh Pirates' pitching staff, signed his 1933 contract today.

The big right-hander, who was a holdout for many weeks last season, came to town unexpectedly on some other business, and called on President W. E. Benswanger of the Pirates as a matter of courtesy.

Benswanger invited "The Duke" to talk terms and a half hour later pitcher and president announced they had come to an agreement. The terms were not announced, but the contract is known to involve five figures and is for one year.

VEECK BUYS HITTER

Los Angeles, Jan. 20 (AP)—Floyd (Babe) Herman, baseball's perennial holdout, in a sharp reversal of form, made a surprisingly quick flourish of his pen today and signed his contract with the Chicago Cubs.

The former Cincinnati and Brooklyn outfielder went into a huddle with William Veeck, president of the Cubs, here this afternoon and was induced to affix his name without hesitation. The salary was not announced.

Herman annually was one of the last to sign up when he played for Brooklyn and, after a determined stand for more pay last year, he was sold to Cincinnati. The Cubs bought him last fall.

All-in-all it was a big day for the Cubs. Veeck bought George Stainback, 20 year old Los Angeles outfielder, from the Angels for 1934 delivery. The price was an unannounced sum of cash, Marvin Gudat, outfielder; Ed Baecht, pitcher, and another pitcher as yet unnamed.

The players will be delivered to the Angels this spring. Stainback came to Los Angeles from a local high school. He was farmed in the Arizona-Texas League for a year and hit .356 with the club last season.

REGULAR IN FOLD

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Continuing to manifest no difficulty in signing their players to 1933 contracts, the New York Giants today added Hughey Critz of Greenwood, Miss., veteran second baseman, to the autograph fold. Critz is the third regular to sign this week.

VOSMIK SATISFIED

Cleveland, Jan. 20 (AP)—The first of the Cleveland Indians' 1933 contracts was opened today by Joe Vosmik who found himself well satisfied.

It was understood unofficially that Vosmik, a star of only two seasons with the Tribe, was given an increase in salary, contrary to the general run of baseball contracts this year, but neither he nor club officials would comment on the amount. Vosmik said he would sign at once.

A BOY, HIS DOG, AND A FRIENDLY JUDGE

Knoxville, Tenn. (NEA)—"They're gonna kill my dog because it bit a man on the leg," a 12 year old Knoxville boy sobbed out in the court of County Judge Houston. "If I had $2 I could have the dog vaccinated and they wouldn't kill him."

And the judge, probably remembering that he was once a boy with a nondescript hound that was the light of his life, set the mighty gears of the law in motion and the boy got $2 to save his dog.

The boy's mother was his guardian for a fund. But only the interest of the fund could be used without permission of the court. So the court consented to the withdrawal of the $2 on Judge Houston's recommendation.

Mangrum and Peter Winners At Phoenix

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 20 (AP)—Playing in a cold, drizzling rain, Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles professional, and his Phoenix amateur partner, George Peter, today won the $300 first annual Arizona pro-amateur best ball event with a 65 on a par 72 course.

Craig Wood, of Deal, N. J., and Bob Goldwater, Phoenix, scored 66 for second place.

Byron Nelson of Fort Worth, Texas, and Herb Askins of Phoenix came in third with 67, and Al Zimmerman of Portland, Ore., and Dave Peter of Phoenix, were fourth at 68.

Three towsomes were tied for fifth place with 69's. They were Marty Walsh of Chicago, and Arthur LaPrade of Phoenix, Al Espinosa of Arkon, Ohio, and Tom Teller of Oakland, Calif., and Charles Gust of Los Angeles, and George Cornes of Phoenix.

MUNISING FAILS TO HOLD LEAD

Escanaba Parochials Best In Passing, Final Score 28-20

Munising, Jan. 20 (Special)—Passing advantage played a part in St. Joseph's 28 to 20 basketball victory over Munising high school here tonight. The Munising crew took an early lead, scoring the first free-throw and the first field goal, but the Escanaba boys opened up before the end of the half and it ended 14 to 10 in the visitors' favor. Munising forged ahead again in the third quarter, but were unable to hold their advantage, with the taller St. Josephites breaking in on passes. In a fast preliminary game, the Munising reserves defeated Trenary 22 to 9.

Chicago Stadium Goes Bankrupt; Receivers Named

Chicago, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Chicago Stadium corporation, owner of America's biggest indoor sports arena, today surrendered in its four-year fight to beat general economic conditions when Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson placed it in equity receivership.

The huge $5,000,000 building, scene of two great political conventions last summer, will continue to operate, however, with no radical change in policy and with hockey games, boxing, and other sports going on as usual.

Sidney N. Strotz, president of the corporation, and Fred E. Hummel were named receivers. Their bonds were set at $25,000 each.

Judge Wilkerson's action, regarded as entirely friendly, was taken on a petition of Charles E. Perry of Milwaukee, whose petition set forth that the bonds of the corporation defaulted Jan. 1, 1932. Outstanding are $1,679,000 in first mortgage bond notes and $183,000 in second mortgages, the petition recited.

In addition, the corporation has general debts amounting to $128,000,000 and owes $180,000 in past due interest, according to the petition. Total current obligations, including bonds now due, were fixed at $525,000.

The stadium was erected at a cost of $5,000,000 in 1929.

Eskymos Defeat Maroons, 24-19, St. Joseph Wins

NORDMEN STILL ARE OFF COLOR

Spurt in Third Period Locals' Margin of Victory

Escanaba gained a step in the Northern Nine conference basketball race last evening but they aren't bragging much about it. The Eskymos defeated the Menominee Maroons, 24 to 19, in a game that was very loosely played but close enough throughout to keep the large crowd keenly interested.

The lethargy that gripped the Eskymos a week ago was plainly evident for a major part of the game against Menominee last evening and it was only the apparent inferiority of the Maroons that saved the local cagers from a neat shellacking.

Two bright features stood out during the game, however. They were the adeptness under the basket of W. Erickson, Escanaba center, who showed the fans they can quit moaning about the loss of Anderson, star pivot man on the 1932 championship Eskymos, and the sensational comeback of the Eskymos in the third period. Trailing, 4 to 8, at half time, the Nordmen spurted in the third period to score 13 points while the Maroons were getting just two free throws.

The Eskymos' greatest weakness, inability to connect on charity tosses, was given a fine workout last night, the Nordmen getting 27 shots on 20 Menominee personals. The locals responded with nine successful attempts—and 18 misses, an average of .333.

Selfridge Field Private Is Hero Of Air for 1932

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—The army's air corps hero for 1932 is Private Arden M. Farley of the 17th Pursuit Squardon at Selfridge Field, Michigan, who rescued his flying companion from a blazing plane after it had crashed.

Farley, the war department announced today, is to receive the Cheney award presented annually for the outstanding act of valor connected with army aviation.

The accident in which young Farley distinguished himself occurred Dec. 6, last, near Pontiac, Mich., while Farley was flying in a two-seater pursuit plane with Lieut. William H. Dum as pilot. The engine cut off, necessitating a forced landing on rough ground. In the crash, the plane turned over and burst into flames.

Lieut. Dum was pinioned in the cockpit. Though badly injured, Farley freed himself and crawled beneath the burning wreckage and dragged the pilot to safety a few seconds before the fuel tank exploded, enveloping the machine in flames.

Farley, born at Albany, Ohio, enlisted in the flying corps four years ago at the age of 19. His family lives in Springfield, Ohio.

PROF. GAMBLE HAS SOME NEW THEORIES

Houston, Tex., (NEA)—A continent, Albert Gamble, cornfield philosopher and scientist contends, is a chunk of moon floating around on a sea of water. He further believes that a tide is the moon pushing the land around. And, dear people, the earth is some day going to collide with the moon, he says.

Gamble, who recently dropped into Houston, is trying to "spread light and dispell the darkness of ignorance." Consequently, he would have you believe the following theory:

About five or six million years ago the earth, a solid ball of water got too near the moon and now chunks of the moon are now continents on the watery earth.

Ishpeming Cage Squad Beats Gladstone, 39-15

Gladstone, Jan. 20—A blue and white whirlwind in the shape of the Ishpeming high school cage squad swept across the local court here tonight to a 39-15 victory over Gladstone.

The ability of the Hematites to hit the hoop was almost uncanny and the sweeping rush of scoring that they unloosed in the first period and continued during the next two quarters completely demoralized the Keilmen.

Wills, Hematite guard, carried off the evening's scoring honors with five field goals and a free throw for 11 points, while Kemp, a forward, followed closely with 10 points. Carter, local center, with two field goals and three free throws, was high point man for Gladstone.

Carter had put Gladstone in front with a 5-0 lead when Ishpeming started the fireworks and run up a 11-5 lead at the end of the first quarter. They continued the onslaught in the second period, running up 15 more points to Gladstone's 5 to take a commanding 26-10 advantage at half time.

Taking up the scoring where they left off, the Hematites in the third quarter ran up 10 points to Gladstone's lone free throw and the score stood 36-11 at the end of the period. Substitutes were tossed in freely by both coaches in the final period and play slowed up, Gladstone scoring 4 points to the Hematites' three, when the whistle ended the fray.

Nahma defeated the Gladstone reserves, 25-23, in a close fought preliminary.

COACHES VETO RAMBLER TILT

Michigan Mentors Favor University of Detroit If Shift Is Made

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 20 (AP)—The University of Michigan football coaching staff has said "thumbs down" on the suggestion that Notre Dame be scheduled for a series of games.

Following agitation for a Michigan-Notre Dame football series, begun after the annual Rambler football banquet at South Bend this week, Athletic Director Fielding H. Yost called a meeting of the varsity coaches to learn their attitude toward such a game.

While what was said at the coaches' meeting, held Thursday afternoon, was kept secret, it was learned today on good authority that the football teachers did not favor scheduling Notre Dame. It was their concensus that only "continued hard times" and "worse financial condition of the Michigan athletic association than at present" should be allowed to alter Michigan's attitude. It also was said today that the coaches favored University of Detroit over Notre Dame if Michigan's football scheduling policy were to be changed.

For the present, it is believed, the coaches favor continuing the policy of scheduling six Western conference elevens, Michigan State college and one team from the east. Cornell is the eastern school which will send a football team to the Michigan stadium next fall. Intersectional games after 1933 have not been arranged, but it is no secret here that Harvard, Yale, Pennsylvania, Columbia, Navy and Princeton are the universities looked upon with most favor by Michigan athletic authorities.

Navy and Harvard were good drawing cards in their home-and-home series with Michigan from 1925 to 1930. The Michigan policy has been to maintain a position of allowing prospective opponents to "come half way" in the matter of proposing games.

TEACHERS EVEN UP THE COUNT

Northern State Defeats Superior Normal 28 to 27

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 20 (AP)—Northern State Teachers' college evened the count here tonight when it defeated Superior, Wis., Normal, 28 to 27, in one of the best basketball games seen on the Northern college floor. Northern overcame a 17 to 15 lead the Yellowjackets held at the half to win.

Superior presented a smooth working team, carrying the ball under the basket for "dog" shots to count, while Northern scored from long range.

The contest was remarkably clean, due to almost perfect guarding by both quintets, and only 16 personal fouls were called.

Escanaba Reserves Defeat Cooks, 11-8

The Escanaba Reserves defeated Cooks, 11 to 8, in a preliminary to the Escanaba-Menominee game last evening. Cooks led at th half by 6 to 5. The score was tied 8 to 8 at the end of the third period and the local reserve team went out to score three points in the final period while Cooks was held scoreless.

FLIRT IS LONG-LOST BROTHER

Miami, Fla., (NEA) — Mrs. Elizabeth S. Wallace was quite alarmed the other night when a gray-haired man started to flirt with her while she was performing her nightly task of cleaning up some offices in a downtown building.

The stranger finally approached her, and after a good deal of shouting, for Mrs. Wallace is deaf, impressed on her that he was a brother she had not seen for 55 years.

He hitch-hiked to Miami and started a search. They're happily together now.

The child born on the Mayflower during its epic trip to America was named Peregrine White.

LABARBA SUBS FOR CHOCOLATE

Cuban Deported, Rival To Box Briton Jan. 27

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Fidel Labarba, of Los Angeles, foremost rival of New York's featherweight champion, Kid Chocolate, signed articles today to fill in for the Cuban negro against Sailor Tom Watson, British titleholder, in a 12-round bout in Madison Square Garden Jan. 27.

Deported from Key West, Fla., yesterday, the Cuban negro, recognized by the New York state athletic commission as the world featherweight titleholder, left a wide gap in the Garden program and no opponent for the imported challenger. Even though Chocolate receives the department of labor permit he lacked when he was turned back at Key West, it was realized that he could not get back to New York this month.

Chocolate, therefore, will defend his title against the winner of next Friday night's match sometime in February, provided that he can arrange his private affairs with the immigration officials.

Victory over Watson would give Labarba his second chance at Chocolate's laurels within three months. The slick Cuban outpointed the Californian in a fierce 15-round match here Dec. 9.

Labarba and Watson will meet at 128 pounds, two over the featherweight limit, for 12 rounds.

Jacobs scored 15 points and Hecox 14 for the Cranemen.

For one period the Schoolcrafters scored point for point with the Lock City crew but as far as determining the winner was concerned the game was all over at half time. Can't Always Tell In Baseball, Points Out Honus Wagner

Pittsburgh, Jan. 20 (AP)—A lot of people very emphatically naming this year's major league baseball champions are leaving themselves open for some long and loud horselaughs in October.

At least John Wagner thinks so, and he used to play the game. John—more easily recognized as Hans, or Honum, though the real name is Jahannes, which is German for John—Wagner says the 1933 world championship may be predestined, but he doesn't see how anybody can know it.

"The loss of one or two particular men can make a great deal of difference in any team," said the old time Pittsburgh Pirate shortstop today. "The Yankees? Of course, that's a great team. But suppose Babe Ruth breaks an arm and Lou Gehrig gets sick, eh?

"The Senators look good, but I tell you, you can't tell at this time of the year anyway. Maybe some youngster has just been signed from off in the sticks somewhere that will burn up either circuit.

"Pitchers are a great part of any team, of course. Washington has a good staff now, and Washington also has Clark Griffith. That fellow can make good pitchers out of ordinary ones. I faced a lot of pitchers in my day, and he was the smartest one in the lot. But, no, I tell you, I'm not predicting what they'll do. It's too early for that."

The veteran who will be 59 years old next month won't be induced even to name a favorite in either league.

"Cubs? Certainly the Cubs are good, but didn't I say it will be a long time yet before you can tell what they're going to do?

"No, don't you worry about Connie Mack, either. That fellow is smart. And he's broken up the best baseball teams in the world and then shown up again with another best team."

BOXING

Madison Square Garden, New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Hans Birkie, stolid German heavyweight, and Jimmy Braddock, once the clouting pride of the light heavyweights, plodded through ten weary rounds of a "feature" ten round bout tonight with scarcely half of the meagre crowd of 4,000 that saw the start, lasting through to hear the decision.

Boston, Jan. 20 (AP)—Jose Santa, ponderous Portuguese heavyweight, tonight gained a five-round technical knockout over Jimmy Maloney, veteran Boston heavyweight, after they clashed heads in a clinch during their contest, scheduled for 10 rounds. Santa's unintentional butt opened a wide cut over Maloney's eye and Referee Johnny Martin refused to permit him to continue after the fourth. Santa weighed 245 pounds and Maloney 205.

Although the acreage of Ohio farm crops this year was about the same as in 1931, the yield per acre was 5 per cent less than normal.

Champion Craig Wood Retired at Age of 13, Came Back at 21

BY BRAN BELL
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Los Angeles, Jan. 20 (AP)—Craig Wood, who won all the open golf tournaments California had this winter—three—holds another record which may be unique. He retired from the game at the age of 13 and put on a snappy comeback when he was 21.

Craig Wood

The tall, blond New Jersey professional connected himself with golf as a caddy and was good enough when he quit at 13 to shoot nine holes in from 40 to 43 strokes.

A native of Lake Placid, N. Y., Wood started out to be a civil engineer, attending Clarkson Tech at Potsdam, N. Y. When not studying, he played defense on a hockey team in the winter and shortstop on sandlot baseball teams in the summer.

Golf was a game for the other fellow until he was 21 and then he came back to the links he had left at 13, but far away from his native New York. He was assistant bookkeeper for a tobacco company at Winchester, Ky., and did part time work as a golf professional on the side.

After he was runner-up in the Kentucky open he left the tobacco business and became professional at the Louisville country club. Later he went to the Norwood Club, Long Branch, N. J., then to the Forest Hills Fields Club, Bloomfield, N. J., where he spent three years, finally moving on to the Hollywood Golf and Country club of Deal, N. J., his present connection.

This, his fifth winter in tournament play, was his most successful and he led the field home in the San Francisco match play open, the Pasadena open and the Los Angeles open. He tied for third in the Agua Caliente open in Mexico.

One of the secrets of Wood's successful play is his strength. He survives the stern test of tournament play in much more impressive fashion than do many of his fellow pros because he is very strong physically.

Two weaknesses last season cost him many shots, poor putting and ineffective niblick play. That gold golf doctor, Leo Diegel, who can sometimes cure others' ills when he can not prescribe for his own, straightened out the niblick approaches and a changed method on the greens started the putts dropping.

In this season's play, Wood has taken much more time and gained confidence. Spectators have thought sometimes he was studying the line of his putts over carefully but he was only waiting for what a baseball player once called "the old con-fee-dence." The system seems to have worked for there has been no more consistently good putter in the far western tournaments.

The man who retired at 13 and came back at 21 promises to win more important events in one season than he has captured throughout his competitive life. After he got his start with first money at Pasadena in 1929 he followed through by winning the Oklahoma City and Honolulu opens the next year, but since then the pickings have been slim. In 1931 he had to be satisfied with the Harlington, Texas, open and last year, when he had a chance in the North-South open, Johnny Golden defeated him in a play-off.

PIRATES' ACE SIGNS ON LINE

Babe Herman, Perennial Holdout, Back With Chicago Cubs

Pittsburgh, Jan. 20 (AP)—Heinie Meine, ace of the Pittsburgh Pirates' pitching staff, signed his 1933 contract today.

The big right-hander, who was a holdout for many weeks last season, came to town unexpectedly on some other business, and called on President W. E. Benswanger of the Pirates as a matter of courtesy.

Benswanger invited "The Duke" to talk terms and a half hour later pitcher and president announced they had come to an agreement. The terms were not announced, but the contract is known to involve five figures and is for one year.

VEECK BUYS HITTER

Los Angeles, Jan. 20 (AP)—Floyd (Babe) Herman, baseball's perennial holdout, in a sharp reversal of form, made a surprisingly quick flourish of his pen today and signed his contract with the Chicago Cubs.

The former Cincinnati and Brooklyn outfielder went into a huddle with William Veeck, president of the Cubs, here this afternoon and was induced to affix his name without hesitation. The salary was not announced.

Herman annually was one of the last to sign up when he played for Brooklyn and, after a determined stand for more pay last year, he was sold to Cincinnati. The Cubs bought him last fall.

All-in-all it was a big day for the Cubs. Veeck bought George Stainback, 20 year old Los Angeles outfielder, from the Angels for 1934 delivery. The price was an unannounced sum of cash, Marvin Gudat, outfielder; Ed Baecht, pitcher, and another pitcher as yet unnamed.

The players will be delivered to the Angels this spring. Stainback came to Los Angeles from a local high school. He was farmed in the Arizona-Texas League for a year and hit .256 with the club last season.

REGULAR IN FOLD

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Continuing to manifest no difficulty in signing their players to 1933 contracts, the New York Giants today added Hughey Critz of Greenwood, Miss., veteran second baseman, to the autograph fold. Critz is the third regular to sign this week.

VOSMIK SATISFIED

Cleveland, Jan. 20 (AP)—The first of the Cleveland Indians' 1933 contracts was opened today by Joe Vosmik who found himself well satisfied.

It was understood unofficially that Vosmik, a star of only two seasons with the Tribe, was given an increase in salary, contrary to the general run of baseball contracts this year, but neither he nor club officials would comment on the amount. Vosmik said he would sign at once.

A BOY, HIS DOG, AND A FRIENDLY JUDGE

Knoxville, Tenn. (NEA)—"They're gonna kill my dog because it bit a man on the leg," a 12 year old Knoxville boy sobbed out in the court of County Judge Houston. "If I had $2 I could have the dog vaccinated and they wouldn't kill him."

And the judge, probably remembering that he was once a boy with a nondescript hound that was the light of his life, set the mighty gears of the law in motion and the boy got $2 to save his dog.

The boy's mother was his guardian for a fund. But only the interest of the fund could be used without permission of the court. So the court consented to the withdrawal of the $2 on Judge Houston's recommendation.

Portugal has created an official government agency to study and encourage bee-keeping.

Mangrum and Peter Winners At Phoenix

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 20 (AP)—Playing in a cold, drizzling rain, Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles professional, and his Phoenix amateur partner, George Peter, today won the $300 first annual Arizona pro-amateur best ball event with a 65 on a par 72 course.

Craig Wood, of Deal, N. J., and Bob Goldwater, Phoenix, scored 66 for second place.

Byron Nelson of Fort Worth, Texas, and Herb Askins of Phoenix came in third with 67, and Al Zimmerman of Portland, Ore., and Dave Peter of Phoenix, were fourth at 68.

Three towsomes were tied for fifth place with 69's. They were Marty Walsh of Chicago, and Arthur LaPrade of Phoenix, Al Espinosa of Arkon, Ohio, and Tom Teller of Oakland, Calif., and Charles Cust of Los Angeles, and George Cornes of Phoenix.

MUNISING FAILS TO HOLD LEAD

Escanaba Parochials Best In Passing, Final Score 28-20

Munising, Jan. 20 (Special)—Passing advantage played a part in St. Joseph's 28 to 20 basketball victory over Munising high school here tonight. The Munising crew took an early lead, scoring the first free-throw and the first field goal, but the Escanaba boys opened up before the end of the half and it ended 14 to 10 in the visitors' favor. Munising forged ahead again in the third quarter, but were unable to hold their advantage, with the taller St. Josephites breaking in on passes. In a fast preliminary game, the Munising reserves defeated Trenary 22 to 9.

Chicago Stadium Goes Bankrupt; Receivers Named

Chicago, Jan. 20 (AP)—The Chicago Stadium corporation, owner of America's biggest indoor sports arena, today surrendered in its four-year fight to beat general economic conditions when Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson placed it in equity receivership.

The huge $5,000,000 building, scene of two great political conventions last summer, will continue to operate, however, with no radical change in policy and with hockey games, boxing, and other sports going on as usual.

Sidney N. Strotz, president of the corporation, and Fred E. Hummel were named receivers. Their bonds were set at $25,000 each.

Judge Wilkerson's action, regarded as entirely friendly, was taken on a petition of Charles E. Perry of Milwaukee, whose petition set forth that the bonds of the corporation defaulted Jan. 1, 1932. Outstanding are $1,679,000 in first mortgage bond notes and $183,000 in second mortgages, the petition recited.

In addition, the corporation has general debts amounting to $128,000,000 and owes $180,000 in past due interest, according to the petition. Total current obligations, including bonds now due, were fixed at $525,000.

The stadium was erected at a cost of $5,000,000 in 1929.

REGRETS ACTION OF DEMOCRATS

Hoover Declares House Did Not Study His Economy Plan

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—President Hoover took the Democratic house to task today for blocking his government reorganiation program and to its leaders' claims that his budget estimates for supply bills had been reduced replied that they actually had been increased by $35,000,000.

Charging that the house apparently made no examination of the merits of his regrouping proposals before vetoing them yesterday, the chief executive said in a formal statement that great economies would have been made if his executive orders had been permitted to stand.

850 Million Cut

The statement was issued at the White House conference a few hours after Democrats on the ways and means committee overrode efforts of Republicans to initiate revenue raising legislation at this session. It also was in answer to criticism Chairman Byrns of the house appropriations committee directed at his recent budget message.

The Tennessee Democrat told the house then that his committee had reduced Mr. Hoover's budget estimates on five appropriation bills by $57,000,000.

"The estimates which I gave in my recent message to congress as to the probable size of the deficit will depend, of course, upon how far the congress adopts economies which I have recommended," Mr. Hoover said. "The budget calls for $850,000,000 reduction in appropriations for the next fiscal year, which would result in a reduction of about $530,000,000 of expenditures, the difference being due to old continuing appropriations and commitments in respect to them.

Analyzes Budget

"I stated the other day that the five appropriation bills so far dealt with by the house or committees of the house showed an actual increase of about $35,000,000 instead of a decrease."

With his statement, Mr. Hoover made public an analysis compiled by the budget bureau of the increases and decreases in the bills for the war, treasury, postoffice, agriculture and interior departments and the first deficiency measure.

It showed that by failure to accept his economy recommendations, the appropriations were increased by $43,309,632 and placed other increases at $14,923,593. The analysis gave credit for $23,538,116 in "genuine reductions" and listed a total of $41,378,121 as postponement of outlays to be made up in subsequent deficiency bills.

Lansing Republican Says Senator Gave His Wife a Job

Lansing, Jan. 20 (AP)—Newborn harmony was swept aside in the senate today as charges were made on the floor that a member had succeeded in obtaining legislative employment for his wife under her maiden name.

The charge was made against Senator Leo G. Karwick, Democrat of Detroit by Senator Joseph C. Foster, Lansing Republican. It followed by a day a round table "love feast" of senators in which both the majority and minority groups pledged their cooperation in expediting legislation for tax reduction and economy.

Senator Foster charged that Miss Irene M. Danic, assistant enrolling clerk of the senate, "is in reality the wife of Senator Karwick." The Detroit senator was absent from the session and was unable to defend the charges. Miss Danic said she "did not know." Foster quoted Senator Karwick as saying he "did not know that Miss Danic is my wife."

Senator Foster's charges brought widespread disapproval from leaders of both parties. They contended he should not have spoken about the matter in Senator Karwick's absence and that it should have been brought up in executive session, if at all.

Nadeau Girl Sent To Adrian School

Menominee—Juvenile Judge John W. Stiles yesterday sentenced Lucille Draye, 16, of Nadeau, to the girls' training school at Adrian, as a delinquent. She must remain until she is 21.

The girl is to be taken to Adrian tonight by Mrs. F. A. Bruce, wife of the county agent.

Prosecutor Meredith H. Doyle made complaint against the girl following her arrest by sheriff's officers in a house between Powers and Spalding where she had been living for a month with Walter D. Van, 20, of Powers, who awaits hearing on a charge of breaking and entering the home of Mrs. Ruth Drake, east of Nadeau, and taking a quantity of potatoes.

Carl Lee, 18, of Powers, who was arrested with Van at the Drake home this week by Sheriff Edward Reindl's offiers, pleaded guilty in justice court here yesterday to a charge of larceny and was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail by Justice Dan Burns. Testimony revealed that Lee assisted in the theft, but did not break down the front door of the Drake home, through which the youths entered the house when denied admission by Mrs. Drake, who formerly employed Miss Draye.

The girl was represented at the hearing in juvenile court yesterday by Attorney John J. O'Hara, who was appointed by Judge Stiles. The girl threatened suicide if separated from Van. Both asked that they be permitted to wed.

Van, when arrested, was serving a five year probationary sentence imposed in Escanaba for car theft. He had served two years of the sentence.

Circus Lions Balk; Refuse to Roar On Synthetic "Safari"

Wolf Island, Ky., Jan. 20. (AP)—Two full grown lions refused to take Denver M. Wright and his score of hunters seriously today when the St. Louis novelty manufacturer released the animals from their cage as prey for an "African" lion hunt.

Wright climbed to the top of the lion cage and opened the door to freedom for the huge cats as other members of the party took refuge inside a barbed wire barricade.

One of the lions dashed out of the cage and then streaked through the side of a barbed wire runway designed to lead the animals into the underbrush of Hog Island. His companion languorously walked out of the cage and then with a roar dashed through the fence to join the first animal.

Just Tired

This second show of force sent about half of the hunters shinnying up trees to the safety of spreading branches. But the lions meant no offense.

The second lion stopped, sat down and yawned at the hunters while his companion, eager for some fun after the cramped hours in the cage, gamboled about on the sands of the little river island, roaring happily.

The tired lion viewed his antics with apparent boredom but once when the playful one slapped him with a huge paw, he snapped back pettishly.

Very Bad Taste

Members of the hunting expedition agreed that this playfulness was in extremely poor taste on the part of the lions, particularly with a movie camera grinding away, and discussed means of persuading the animals to take to the willow underbrush on the island.

If the lions can be persuaded to leave the camp, Wright plans to track them down in true African fashion either tomorrow or Monday.

The animals will have about 190 acres to roam in and get used to their liberty.

Wright was surprised when his lions took the whole affair playfully, for the man who told the animals to him said they were "jungle bred" and of savage disposition.

A kentucky sheriff who said he would stop the hunt, had not put in an appearance at the island today.

ROCKET MAIL FLIGHT SUCCESSFULLY MADE

Graz, Austria—What is claimed to be first rocket in the world to successfully carry mail was constructed and flown here by Fritz Schmeidel, chemistry student.

The rocket, specially constructed of composition metal and asbestos, was taken to the top of Hochtroetch mountain, and 300 letters placed in it. From the top of the mountain Schmiedel started his rocket and it made several miles to the village of Semriach, in the valley below.

In appearance, the rocket was like a cannon ball, supported by a contrivance much like a rudder and wings of a plane. The whole outfit weighs only seven pounds.

A large number of trimmers assembled at their meeting hall. Pat Sheridan, intensely devoted to the cause of labor, asked the chairman for permission to address the gathering. His request was granted.

Upon the platform, Pat, with much gesture, delivered his speech:

"Mr. President and mimbers of the trimmers' union," he began. "I have not the illoquince of a Daniel O'Connell, a Burke Cochran, or the Honur-r-ible John Power. But I would climb the highest peenacle of yonder Lutheerian church, and watch the cohorts go prancing by——"

At that point in his oration, Pat became befuddled. He took a drink of water, to play for time as he attempted to think of something more to say.

"And then I would come down again," he resumed. "But I'll be damned if I'll go down into the hold of a vessel for less than four cints a ton."

With a haughty air, Pat then marched off the platform and returned to his seat.

Other Stories Told.

There are countless other stories told about Pat Sheridan. Once he was elected constable, and so pleased he was with the honor conferred upon him that he gave a twenty dollar bill to small brass band that came to his house election night to serenade him, as was a regular political custom in the old days. Sometime later, Ed Donovan, Mort Hitchcock and other chronic jokesters decided to play a prank upon the new constable. They had a fake warrant issued for the arrest of Pat Fogarty, a dear friend of Sheridan, and gave the papers to Pat to serve.

Pat protested against the idea of arresting his best friend. He offered to pay the fine himself. Tears came to his eyes, and he went as far as to announce that he would resign his office of constable.

Active at 79

James E. Tolan, who now conducts a grocery store at the lower end of Ludington street, came to Escanaba from Wisconsin in 1880, a year before his brother, Chief of Police John J. Tolan, arrived here. He engaged in the cigar making business for several years. Before coming here, he was a member of the fire department in Fond du Lac for four years.

Not long after his arrival in Escanaba, he became a member of the hook and ladder brigade. A few years later, he helped organize the four volunteer hose companies, under which system a hose house was established in each of the four wards. This system was discontinued later. The first paid fire department was formed in 1892, and for several years he served as chief.

Mr. Tolan is 79 years old. He was born Dec. 10, 1853. Despite his advanced age, he is always active. He drives his own automobile; goes hunting for deer and other game; and spends his summers puttering around a small farm he has out in the country; and also conducts his grocery business.

REGRETS ACTION OF DEMOCRATS

Hoover Declares House Did Not Study His Economy Plan

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—President Hoover took the Democratic house to task today for blocking his government reorganiation program and to its leaders' claims that his budget estimates for supply bills had been reduced replied that they actually had been increased by $35,000,000.

Charging that the house apparently made no examination of the merits of his regrouping proposals before vetoing them yesterday, the chief executive said in a formal statement that great economies would have been made if his executive orders had been permitted to stand.

850 Million Cut

The statement was issued at the White House conference a few hours after Democrats on the ways and means committee overrode efforts of Republicans to initiate revenue raising legislation at this session. It also was in answer to criticism Chairman Byrns of the house appropriations committee directed at his recent budget message.

The Tennessee Democrat told the house then that his committee had reduced Mr. Hoover's budget estimates on five appropriation bills by $57,000,000.

"The estimates which I gave in my recent message to congress as to the probable size of the deficit will depend, of course, upon how far the congress adopts economies which I have recommended," Mr. Hoover said. "The budget calls for $850,000,000 reduction in appropriations for the next fiscal year, which would result in a reduction of about $530,000,000 of expenditures, the difference being due to old continuing appropriations and commitments in respect to them.

Analyzes Budget

"I stated the other day that the five appropriation bills so far dealt with by the house or committees of the house showed an actual increase of about $35,000,000 instead of a decrease."

With his statement, Mr. Hoover made public an analysis compiled by the budget bureau of the increases and decreases in the bills for the war, treasury, postoffice, agriculture and interior departments and the first deficiency measure.

It showed that by failure to accept his economy recommendations, the appropriations were increased by $43,309,632 and placed other increases at $14,923,593. The analysis gave credit for $23,538,116 in "genuine reductions" and listed a total of $41,378,121 as postponement of outlays to be made up in subsequent deficiency bills.

HARMONY GIVEN ROUGH SETBACK

Lansing Republican Says Senator Gave His Wife a Job

Lansing, Jan. 20 (AP)—Newborn harmony was swept aside in the senate today as charges were made on the floor that a member had succeeded in obtaining legislative employment for his wife under her maiden name.

The charge was made against Senator Leo G. Karwick, Democrat of Detroit by Senator Joseph C. Foster, Lansing Republican. It followed by a day a round table "love feast" of senators in which both the majority and minority groups pledged their cooperation in expediting legislation for tax reduction and economy.

Senator Foster charged that Miss Irene M. Danic, assistant enrolling clerk of the senate, "is in reality the wife of Senator Karwick." The Detroit senator was absent from the session and was unable to defend the charges. Miss Danic said she "did not know." Foster quoted Senator Karwick as saying he "did not know that Miss Danic is my wife."

Senator Foster's charges brought widespread disapproval from leaders of both parties. They contended he should not have spoken about the matter in Senator Karwick's absence and that it should have been brought up in executive session, if at all.

Nadeau Girl Sent To Adrian School

Menominee—Juvenile Judge John W. Stiles yesterday sentenced Lucille Draye, 16, of Nadeau, to the girls' training school at Adrian, as a delinquent. She must remain until she is 21.

The girl is to be taken to Adrian tonight by Mrs. F. A. Bruce, wife of the county agent.

Prosecutor Meredith H. Doyle made complaint against the girl following her arrest by sheriff's officers in a house between Powers and Spalding where she had been living for a month with Walter D. Van, 20, of Powers, who awaits hearing on a charge of breaking and entering the home of Mrs. Ruth Drake, east of Nadeau, and taking a quantity of potatoes.

Carl Lee, 18, of Powers, who was arrested with Van at the Drake home this week by Sheriff Edward Reindl's officers, pleaded guilty in justice court here yesterday to a charge of larceny and was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail by Justice Dan Burns. Testimony revealed that Lee assisted in the theft, but did not break down the front door of the Drake home, through which the youths entered the house when denied admission by Mrs. Drake, who formerly employed Miss Draye.

The girl was represented at the hearing in juvenile court yesterday by Attorney John J. O'Hara, who was appointed by Judge Stiles. The girl threatened suicide if separated from Van. Both asked that they be permitted to wed.

Van, when arrested, was serving a five year probationary sentence imposed in Escanaba for car theft. He had served two years of the sentence.

POPE TO NAME NEW CARDINALS

Vacancies Will Be Filled March 31st at Consistory

Vatican City, Jan. 21 (AP)—Three cardinals, who will open the holy doors of three of Rome's basilicas at the inauguration of the holy year April 1, will be nominated at a consistory Pope Pius XI convoked today for March 13, and possibly at the same time many of the seventeen vacancies in the sacred college of cardinals will be filled.

The announcement of convocation does not carry a definite statement on the latter point, but vatican prelates point out that due to the unusual number of vacancies it would not be surprising if the Pope decided to utilize the occasion for numerous promotions to the purple.

Last One in 1930

The Pope himself will officiate at the opening of the holy door at St. Peter's April 1 where the main holy year ceremony is to be held. This door remains closed 96 years every century, being opened only during holy years which ordinarily fall every quarter century.

At the consistory the Pontiff is expected to deliver an allocution to the cardinals asking economic and moral cooperation among the nations during the holy year.

The last consistory was in 1930 and was held for the creation of only one cardinal.

The number of cardinals now is down to 53. The Pope may create seventeen new ones if he wishes, but this would be contrary to the precedent requiring that a few vacancies be left to be filled by the succeeding Pope in the event of the death of the reigning Pope.

In the ten years of his pontificate Pius has created 22 cardinals. In the course of the decade 49 have died, 12 of them his nominees.

Msgr. Jean Marie Rodrique Villeneuve, archbishop of Quebec, may be one of those raised to the purple in March, it is reported.

Subpoena On Ford May Prove In Vain

Philadelphia, Jan. 21 (AP)—The strategy employed in serving a subpoena on Henry Ford at an old-fashioned dancing party in Detroit, calling for his appearance in an old court case, may have been in vain.

It is up to the Pennslyvania supreme court to decide whether he will be examined as a witness on Monday in Detroit ,and it may be that tribunal's job to say whether he is to appear at any other time.

The case is that of the Sweeten Automobile company, of Philadelphia ,which was agent for the Lincoln Automobile company. The Lincoln concern was taken over by the Ford company, and the Sweeten company avers that it suffered a loss of $227,000 because of the alleged failure of the Ford company to furnish it with Lincoln cars. The suit was counter to one filed against the Sweeten company for $6,800.

Peaceful Berliners Fear Socialist Show

Berlin, Jan. 21 (AP)—Peaceful citizens will breathe freer again when tomorrow's National Socialist demonstration in front of the Communist headquarters in Buelow Platz is over.

Chancellor Kurt Von Schleicher, refusing today to accede to a demand by Communists that he forbid the mass meeting, said he had been assured the police were fully prepared to maintain order.

Communist organs are boiling with rage at the Nazis' "provocation," while the papers that support Adolph Hitler are full of taunts. Hence the situation is most tense.

The police already have forbidden Communist gatherings within a wide radius of Buelow Platz, but moderate papers declare that ultimate responsibility for clashes and possible bloodshed rests on the chancellor. They assert that the present situation is exactly the same as the one at Altona, July 16, 1932, when despite a ban on Communist counter demonstrations 17 persons were killed in riots.

London Strikers Halt Bus Service

London, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Tranport Workers union tonight refused to recognize the strike of 10,000 bus drivers and conductors in the London area and issued a strongly-worded appeal to the men to return to work.

Half the bus service in the city was tied up when the strike began this morning, and the situation continued tonight despite the union's action.

QUAKE IN ONTARIO

Alexandria, Ont., Jan. 21 (AP)—Residents of Alexandria and the surrounding district in Glengarry county were alarmed today when a severe earth shock was felt at a few minutes after 11 a. m. Buildings were shaken and windows rattled when a rending sound as of a great explosion rocked the ground.

FORMER SENATOR DEAD

Big Rapids, Mich., Jan. 21 (AP)—Aaron Amon, 74, former member of the state senate and the state house of representatives, died in Remus Saturday. He was connected with numerous banks and sponsored legislation for consolidated schools in Michigan during his service in the legislature.

"Perfect" Town Has $3 Balance on Hand

Banner Elk, N. C., Jan. 21 (AP)—Take a look at the "perfect" town of 1932. It's Banner Elk—a community of 350 people that takes the banner for near perfection in almost everything.

Last year Banner Elk did not: Spend a single cent for relief work;

See a business house fail or foreclosure;

See any person arrested for any misdemeanor or crime.

In fact, it was the fourth year the policeman failed to make an arrest.

Neither has a business failed nor a foreclosure been made in four years.

The town finished the year with no indebtedness, had a surplus in the treasury and saw the city council lower taxes from 40 cents to 10 cents. Taxes are Banner Elk's sole public revenue.

Banner Elk is the home of Lees-McRae Junior college, has an orphanage and a hospital, a bank, a high school with 300 pupils, and two churches. Last year two new dwellings were erected and a third is going up.

J. C. Shell, mayor for over four years, elaborated on a statement of possible crime here.

"I didn't say there are no bootleggers here," he said. "I said we hadn't caught any.

"The balance in the treasury? About $3."

BOMBINGS STIR JAP TROUBLES

Thousands of Soldiers Being Sent to the Front

Shanghai, Jan. 21 (AP)—Persistent reports circulated here today that General Nobuyoshi Muto, supreme military and diplomatic representative of Japan in Manchukuo, has been seriously injured by a bomb exploded at the railway station at Changchun, Manchuria.

In the same bombing Chang Hsiashsu, premier of Manchukuo, was killed, according to these reports, which could not be verified because of Japanese censorship on press dispatches.

The rumors of the bombing came as China showed evidence of becoming increasingly apprehensive regarding the course of the conflict with Japan.

It was reported that thousands of troops were being sent into the "war area" of North China by the Nationalist government from Honan, South Chihli and Shantung. Some estimates put the total number of men involved in this troop movement at 250,000, but conservative commentators considered this exaggerated.

SOLONS DEBATE NEW DEBT DEAL

economic conference.

The Hoover-Roosevelt communique of yesterday announcing the incoming administration would receive British debt representations stirred up a torrid senate debate during the day in which Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, branded as "cheap politics" a charge by Robinson, Indiana Republican, that it was "usurpation of authority."

The Republican contended congress, with full power on the subject, had "closed the door" to further debt discussions, but the Democratic leader replied it would "be an act of gross discourtesy" for this country to refuse to discuss the question with Great Britain.

(Ass'd Press Staff Correspondent)

London, Jan. 21 (AP)—The British government at a cabinet session Monday will consider the action to be taken on the Hoover-Roosevelt decision to inaugurate debts negotiations with great Britain.

If the discussions are held directly between members of the United States and British governments, some quarters in London already mention Austen Chamberlain, many times a cabinet member, as the logical man to head the mission to Washington.

Paris, Jan. 21 (AP)—France will mark time so far as the war debt question is concerned until results are evident from the pending negotiations between the United States and Great Britain, a high foreign office official said today.

Neither government officials nor the Press reflected any disappointment over the fact that the Hoover-Roosevelt communique issued in Washington yesterday paved the way only for debt discussions between the United States and Britain ,with no mention of France.

Avalanche Crushes Cabin On Mountain

Los Angeles, Jan. 21 (AP)—At the point of exhaustion after a 36-hour struggle through the snows in the region of Camp Baldy, S. Geyer, employe of a mining outfit in Coldwater canyon, reached the camp Bonita forest ranger station today and reported an avalanche early yesterday in which one man was believed killed.

Geyer said a wall of snow crushed the mining cabin of Charles E. Smith, 62, of Azusa, and that Smith apparently was buried under the debris.

A rescue party estimated it would take two days on horseback and by snowshoes to reach the cabin.

Geyer said he was in the cabin with Smith and heard the roar of the avalanche, barely escaping to safety. He was clad only in night clothes and started the difficult journey to the ranger station after fashioning outer clothing and foot coverings from gunny sacks.

About five feet of snow has fallen in the mountains.

VOTE EXPANSION FOR CURRENCY

Bill to Give Reserve Banks More Gold Is Approved

Washington, Jan. 21. (AP)—Extension of the currency expansion of the Glass-Steagall law for another year was approved by the senate today and prospects of house sanction were described as favorable.

Without previous notice and in the midst of discussion of his banking reform bill, Senator Glass (D., Va.), co-author of the currency measure with Representative Steagall (D., Ala.), called up the latter and put it through.

The measure continues until March 3, 1934, the authority to expand the free gold supply by permitting federal reserve banks to pledge government securities as collateral for additional reserve notes.

It is intended to maintain a larger supply of gold in the hands of the reserve banks for whatever purpose the demand requires. To date, the act has inflated the currency to the extent of about $400,000,000.

Meanwhile, the house banking committee discussed inflationary moves and heard several of its members urge currency expansion and an over-hauling of the administration of the federal reserve board. Eugene Meyer, governor of the reserve board was summoned to testify Monday.

Irish Free State Election Tuesday Is Important One

Dublin, Irish Free State, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Irish Free State votes Tuesday in the most fateful general election since the government was born of anguish and bloodshed a decade ago. In substance, the people will be asked to decide upon their whole political and economic future.

They must choose between momentous courses—either to follow President Eamon De Valera in his fight against the might of England along the path of absolute independence from Britain, or to reinstate former President William T. Cosgrave and help him try to develop the country within the British commonwealth of nations.

The fierce campaign that followed upon Mr. De Valera's dramatic dissolution of the Dail January 3 closes Monday with Mr. De Valera's last appeal from Dublin where he opened the campaign, while Mr. Cosgrave's final rally will be at Cork. Mr. De Valera is making eleven week-end speeches and Mr. Cosgrave seven.

The final results of the voting will not be known until the end of the week due to the preferential ballot system, but it should be known within 48 hours whether the government is likely to be changed.

New York Shacks Allowed To Stay

New York, Jan. 21 (AP)—Mayor John P. O'Brien today assured a group of unemployed men living in self-made shacks along the North river overlooking Riverside drive that their homes would not be destroyed.

After making a personal inspection trip of their colony, the mayor promised to have the part department's plan to raze the huts rescinded.

"I believe everything the city can do to aid the unemployed is a public duty," he said.

The mayor disclosed that his intervention in the proposed evacuation of the colony had been brought about by an unidentified benefactor of the homeless men, who had provided them with lumber and other materials for their homes.

Kerness Says He Fired Fatal Shot

Detroit, Jan. 21. (AP)—Maurice (Al) Kerness arrived from Duluth, Minn., tonight in the custody of officers to face a charge of murder for the shooting of Ulysses Nicles, to which two other persons have "confessed."

At the station, he told questioners that he fired the shot that killed Nicles a week ago.

AIRMAIL IN FOG HITS HILLSIDE

Body of Pilot Found in Cockpit; Maps Used By Searchers

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 21 (AP)—Still seated in the cockpit of the mail plane in which he was lost in the fog early yesterday, the body of Ray Fuller, 36, was found late today. The plane had crashed into the side of a hill seven miles southwest of Boerne, Tex.

A "hunch" led A. B. Williams, San Antonio oil engineer, and Paul Green, employe of Williams and a friend of Fuller, who lived in the same apartment house, almost directly to the scene of the crash.

Consulting maps, they marked the hill where the plane was found because its altitude was slightly above 1,900 feet. All the other hills in the vicinity were 1,850 feet or less.

Fuller, flying the mail in a single-seater plane, left Big Spring at 11 p. m. Thursday night, halted briefly at San Angelo at midnight, then took off along the lighted airway toward San Antonio, 200 miles to the southeast. His course lay over rugged, sparsely inhabited ranching country.

The last heard from him was shortly after 2 a. m., when he told a radio operator at the San Antonio field by means of his ship's radio, that the weather was "getting tough." A heavy thunder storm had blown up along his course.

Adopted Boy, Cause Of Divorce, Keeps Parents Together

Detroit, Jan. 21 (AP)—Although a divorce action has been started, a smiling year old baby boy born to strangers kept Mrs. Harriet Edna Knapp and her husband, Patrolman Charles F. Knapp under the same roof tonight.

Knapp filed suit for divorce after discovering the child he thought his own had been secretly adopted by his wife two days after its birth. Each is seeking custody of the boy.

"I want the baby; I've become so attached to him," Knapp said today.

"I'll never give the baby up; he's been like my own son," Mrs. Knapp retored.

Asserting that despite the fact he loved the child, Knapp said he could not forgive the hoax which his wife admitted.

"I won't be made a sap of!" Knapp exclaimed. "But my wife can stay in the apartment as a housekeeper."

"I don't love my husband any more," Mrs. Knapp remarked. "The only reason I'm humbling myself to stay is because of 'Sonny.' "

Meanwhile the adoption papers of the child, whom the Knapps named Charles David Knapp, showed that Knapp's name had been forged. Mrs. Knapp admitted she paid a man whose name was withheld $10 to pose as her husband and sign the adoption papers in probate court.

Prosecutor Harry S. Toy said today that by hiring the man to forge her husband's name Mrs. Knapp had made herself liable to criminal proceedings. He explained, however, that until there had been a formal showing in court of such misrepresentation no action could be started.

Meanwhile Mrs. Knapp is taking care of Charles David, as housekeeper in the apartment of her husband.

Income Tax Nets Laid for Schultz

New York, Jan. 21. (AP)—An income tax net, like the one in which the government bagged Al Capone and many of his Chicago colleagues, was spread for three New York gang chiefs today—Dutch Schultz and two of his lieutenants.

Bench warrants were issued by United States Commissioner Francis A. O'Neill and an hour later police all over the country were asked to arrest Schultz, alias Arthur Flegenheimer, and his lieutenants Henry Stevens and Frank Ahearn.

Red Cross Cotton Supply Depleted

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Red Cross today reported that the 500,000 bales of federal owned cotton turned over to it for distribution in the form of clothing to the needy has been entirely used.

The distribution must therefore cease when all the cotton cloth and garments now on the way to chapters has reached destination, officials of the organization added.

Crippled Schooner Crew Is Rescued

Boston, Jan. 21. (AP)—Safe aboard the Boston beam trawler Gertrude N. Fauci, seven Nova Scotian members of the crew of the abandoned tern schooner Dawn Wilkie were nearing home tonight.

Behind them on the surging seas, 70 miles southwest of Cape Sable they had left their water-logged molasses-laden craft, a burning hulk which awaited the gun fire of the U. S. coast guard cutter Ossipee to remove her from the path of navigation.

COMSTOCK SAYS HE WILL SAVE 12½ MILLIONS

their grip upon the state's administration or whether the beginning of a Republican comeback will result in April is the subject of considerable speculation.

Discords Heard

Already some evidence of discord within the party has developed. The week just closed brought out an exchange of correspondence between Governor Comstock and Rep. Michael J. Hart, Democratic member of congress from the eighth district, which showed a marked difference of opinion between these two outstanding leaders of the state's democracy. The difference developed over the plan approved by Governor Comstock to borrow $8,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to be spent on winter highway work for relief of unemployed men.

Rep. Hart characterized the plan as contrary to the Democratic "pay-as-you-go" policy, and the governor replied that he felt Rep. Hart should "wait until the plan is completely formulated."

In the legislature also evidence developed during the week that some members proposed not to hold strictly to party lines in matters of legislation. In the senate, William Parker, of Flint, gave notice that he will be independent of party dictates. Some Democratic members of the house also have indicated dissatisfaction with the retention of Republicans in some appointve jobs.

There was considerable strategic maneuvering at the state capital during the week as the state central committees of the two parties met to choose their spring convention cities. Grand Rapids, with a new $1,500,000 civic auditorium just opened, won both gatherings over Flint. The Republican committee met first and selected February 28 as the date of their convention, apparently assuming the Democratic gathering would go to Flint.

The Democrats, however, met the day following the Republican committee meeting and not only selected Grand Rapids for their convention, but set the date as February 24, probably hoping to reduce the Republican convention to a sort of anti-climax.

Stack Stirs Controversy

John K. Stack, the new Democratic auditor general, found himself the center of no little controversy during the past week as the result of his announcement that the publication of tax delinquent property would be materially reduced during his administration. By eliminating publication of the descriptions of the property, he said, the advertising cos would be reduced by approximately $225,000. Assertions that the law required full publication of the property descriptions brought from Stack the statement that even a jail threat would not alter his decision.

Governor Comstock incurred some little criticism during the week from his opponents when it became known that he had not and did not intend to file his campaign expense statement as required by the corrupt practices act of 1925. In Detroit the Comstock-for-Governor club and the Comstock 1,000 Committee filed a statement with the county clerk showing receipts and expenditures totaling $9,354. The statement, incidentally, revealed that the entire sum had been contributed by Isaiah Leebove.

Leebove, a New York attorney, and interested in Michigan oil well development, was understood to have been the principal contributor to the Comstock campaign not only last year but also that of two years ago.

Fists Fly, Gophers Defeat Michigan

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 21 (AP)—Another hockey game of the best Minnesota-Michigan tempest variety was taken by the Gophers over the Wolverines here tonight, 3 to 1, as the defending Big Ten champions swept the series.

Fighting blood which boiled beyond control climaxed a rough encounter with a small-sized riot between tem members in the third period inspired by a lively fist fight. Gophers and Wolverines leaped from the benches to join their mates on the ice in the struggle.

Keith Crossman, of Michigan, and Phil LaBatte, of Minnesota, who started the fisticuffs after colliding, were banished to the penalty box for five minutes each.

GUARD AGAINST 'BOOTLEG CROP'

Acreage Reduction Taken Out of New Farm Relief Bill

BY F. G. VOSBURGH
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—A bold blue-penciling of the domestic allotment farm relief bill aimed at its "simplification" threatened tonight to cut out five of the seven products it would benefit and possibly to eliminate entirely the acreage reduction feature.

Poking critical pencils at various sections of the big price-boosting measure passed by the house, members of the senate agricultural committee talked of striking out peanuts, rice, dairy products, tobacco and hogs, retaining only wheat and cotton. Committee sentiment as interpreted by its leading members showed a drift toward this limitation.

More indefinite was the committee lineup on the proposal—made for the first time—that the bill make no attempts to require curtailment of production on the part of the farmers receiving its benefits.

The acreage reduction feature has been regarded as one of the most vital features of the bill. Its sponsors feel that any effort to improve farm prices must attack the problem of the surplus.

Under the bill, a tax would be levied on the miller, packer or other "procession' to be paid to the farmer in an amount sufficient to bring to the pre-war level the price he receives for his share of the domestic consumption. But to collect the money he must agree to cut production 20 per cent. The hog raiser is also required to curtail his corn acreage by 20 per cent.

The argument against this provision is based on the contention that an army of inspectors would be required to check up on acreage cuts all over the country and it would be too easy to grow a "bootleg crop."

Relic of Past

Besides moving up the dates of presidential and congressional terms the amendment for the first time will provide for the presidential succession in case the president-elect dies or fails to qualify. The vice president-elect is put in his place until congress formally chooses a man to fill the term.

The amendment will be the first modernization of governmental process since in 1913 election of senators was taken from legislatures and given directly into the hands of the people of the states.

The system the new amendment disposes of was based on the slow communication facilities of the pioneer period when travel to the capital consumed weeks or months by stagecoach and on horseback.

Minnesota's Star Cager Is Suspended

Minneapolis, Jan. 21 (AP)—Dismissal from the Minnesota basketball squad of Virgil Licht, star performer last year, was announced today by Coach Dave MacMillan who said he had broken training rules.

Licht was named to the 1931-32 all star Big Ten conference team selected for the Associated Press by coaches. He played guard last season and, more recently forward. He was benched after a road trip which brought defeat to the Gophers at Ohio State, Purdue and Notre Dame.

Before the season opened MacMillan called Licht "one of the best and most intelligent" players he had seen.

Twenty-four dancers who equally combine expert dancing ability and beauty of face and body, appear in "The Half-Naked Truth," RKO-Radio Picture at the Delft Theatre.

The girls were selected from a score of applicants by Director Gregory La Cava. They are of uniform height, and have displayed splendid grace in their dance routines, it is said.

"The Half-Naked Truth" features them in a Broadway musical comedy in which Lee Tracy, as a King of Ballyhoo, has placed his client after skyrocketing her to the front page headlines, Lupe Velez is co-featured, and Eugene Pallette, Frank Morgan and Shirley Chambers are also cast in this original story by Ben Markson and H. New Income Taxes

Lower Exemptions Hit Three Million More Citizens March 15

Editors Note:—This is the first of six articles detailing the new federal income taxes regulations that upwards of three million more citizens must meet before March 15.

BY ROBERT TALLEY
NEA Service Writer

Washington.—Nearly three and a half million persons who did not have to file an income tax return last year must do so this year. That is the latest government estimate.

This new return, which must be filed by midnight of March 15, covers the income for the calendar year 1932.

Lowering of exemptions for both single and married persons means these new taxpayers will be gathered into the fold this year. The stiffest increase in tax rates in the peace-time history of the nation means that far more tax must be paid on the same amount of income.

Here's what has happened:

The exemption allowed married men and heads of families has been cut from $3500 to $2500; the exemption allowed single men has been cut from $1500 to $1000; the 25 per cent reduction formerly allowed on "earned incomes" has been entirely eliminated.

The tax rate last year was one and one-half per cent on the first $4000 in excess of exemptions; three per cent on the next $4000, and five per cent on the remainder. This year it is four per cent on the first $4000, and eight per cent on all the rest. Surtax rates in certain brackets have more than doubled.

The credit allowed for each child or other dependent stands unchanged at $400.

SINGLE PERSONS

Net Income	Paid Last Year	Must Pay This Year
$1100	Nothing	$ 4.00
1200	Nothing	8.00
1500	Nothing	20.00

MARRIED PERSONS

Net Income	Paid Last Year	Must Pay This Year
$2500	Nothing	$ 4.00
3000	Nothing	20.00
3500	Nothing	40.00

The above examples are for married and single persons without dependents or children, and receiving no dividends or partially exempt interest. Such credits will be discussed later.

Your Responsibility

To every person who paid a federal income tax last year, U. S. collectors of internal revenue throughout the country are mailing an income tax return blank this year. But it will be up to the army of new taxpayers to get their own blanks. They may be had on application to any collector's office. These offices are now open to receive returns, all of which must be filed by midnight, March 15. The responsibility for filing rests entirely with the individual, and willful failure to do so is punishable by added penalty, fine or imprisonment.

In short, a return must be filed by every married person or head of a family whose net income in the calendar year of 1932 was $2500 or more, and by every single person whose net income was $1000 or more, even if their exemptions and credits for dependents are sufficient to offset the necessity of paying a tax. Moreover every person—married or single—whose gross income was $5000 or more must file a return.

Net income is a figure arrived at by totaling income from all sources, then subtracting from that figure certain deductions specifically outlined, covering interest paid, taxes paid, losses by fire and storm, bad debts, and contributions to charity. Net income is an arbitrary figure which can only be determined according to the tax blanks.

The bulk of income, especially in the smaller groups, represents salaries and wages. In this connection, you might as well keep in mind that Uncle Sam requires employers to report to him a complete list of all incomes paid to employes that equal or exceed the legal exemption. This is the government's method of double-checking to see that nobody escapes tax payment.

Which Form Is Yours?

There are two kinds of forms on which personal income tax returns are made, and it is important that you use the proper one. Form 1040-A, a single sheet blank, is for reporting net incomes of not more than $5000. Form 1040, a larger folded blank, is for net incomes of more than $5000. The latter form must also be used by business and professional men and farmers, regardless of the amount of income.

A farmer who keeps no books or keeps his books on a cash basis is also required to fill out another form, 1040-F, and attach it to his return. There is still another form for corporation returns.

While all returns must be filed by midnight, March 15, and at least one-fourth of the tax paid at that time, all the rest of the tax, if desired, can be paid in three equal installments on June 15, Sept. 15 and Dec. 15. This permits individuals to budget their tax payments.

Early Returns Urged

"Early filing is of great importance this year because of the greatly increased number of taxpayers," says David Burnet, U. S. commissioner of internal revenue. "Our offices are open for the receipt of returns now. Care in the preparation of returns is also essential; thousands of taxpayers make obvious mistakes in their returns each year, many of these mistakes being in the government's favor. Last year one man actually overpaid $19,000 because of his own carelessness. He got it back."

These increased income taxes are contained in the revenue act of 1932, passed by Congress last June in its frantic, and unsuccessful, attempt to balance the federal budget. These taxes represent the greatest increase in rates since the war-time peak. The new rates were made retroactive to Jan. 1, 1932.

When the law was passed, March 15 was a long way off and there was little public realization then as to what these increases meant, not only to persons who last year paid no tax at all but also to those who had been paying.

But—with an army of new taxpayers added to the rolls and many of the old taxpayers having to pay, in some instances, five or six times as much tax as on the same income last year—the nation will soon understand what "the greatest tax increase in the peace-time history of the country" really means.

NEXT: How income taxes paid by married persons are going up, up, up.

Knew Detroit Like A Book, But Still Rivera Got Lost

Detroit, (AP)—Konrad Bercovici, the author, and Diego Rivera, the famous Mexican mural painter, are the best of friends—but Bercovici isn't going on any more auto rides with Rivera, especially when he has an appointment to keep.

Bercovici and Rivera visited at the Detroit Institute of Arts, where Rivera is painting murals on the garden court.

"I," said Rivera, when Bercovici recalled an appointment, "will drive you to the place. I know Detroit like a book. Come."

"Good," said Mme. Freda Rivera, they set off, Rivera expounding his knowledge of Detroit's streets and boulevards. Suddenly they arrived at the city limits.

"Diego!" said Mme. Rivera. "You are lost!"

"No, no," said Rivera, "I know Detroit like a book. But we will turn back."

They drove back—arriving once more at the city limits. Bercovici fell to consulting his watch.

"I insist, Diego," said Mme. Rivera, "that you are lost."

"But no," said Rivera, "I am never lost in Detroit."

They drove now to the right and now to the left, until Bercovici spied a taxicab. Leaping from the car, he signaled to the driver, who drew alongside.

"Diego," said Bercovici, "I will get into the cab. But, mind you, I don't say that you are lost!"

"Yes, yes," said Bercovici, climbing rapidly into the cab. "I believe you. Mind you, I believe what you say."

Two hours late, Bercovici reached his destination in a taxicab.

"The first thing I did was to call Diego and make sure he found his way home," said Bercovici. "Details like that sometimes slip his memory."

US-2 HIGHWAY SURVEY STARTS

Engineers Study Route Between Rapid River And Nahma

A survey party under the direction of O. B. Johnson recently began a preliminary survey on US-2 between Rapid River and Nahma Junction, a distance of 13.5 miles.

Relocations of two sections of this project are to be studied for alignment, grades, views from the bluffs overlooking Little Bay de Noc, railroad grade crossing, soil conditions and right-of-way. After approval of the preliminary survey is made, a final survey of the entire project will be made and plans drawn. The survey should be completed by May 1, 1933.

No construction work has as yet been authorized for this project.

Little Republic Used Scrip for Last 33 Years

Freeville, N. Y., (AP)—Uncle Sam's dollars have not circulated at the nearby village of George Junior Republic in the past 32 years. That however, has not worried the residents of the Republic because they have had their own currency since the beginning of the century.

The so-called little country within a country claims the honor of being the oldest scrip-using community in the United States, on the basis of continuance. It is watching with interest the similar experiments in other communities.

The Republic of boys and girls between 16 and 21 was founded by William Reuben George in 1896 as a self government experiment. Its officers emphasize it is not a reformatory, not a school, and not a communistic settlement in the ordinary sense. It is just like any other hamlet, except its aims are to be self-sufficient.

The Republic maintains a number of industries—farming, dairying, carpentering, printing, baking, laundrying, storekeeping—and for work in these the residents are paid in Republic scrip. Time spent in the grammar or high school also is counted as labor and payment is based on class standing.

The values of the units of the buff and green currency correspond to those of the United States ranging from one cent to ten dollars. These "buffs," as they are popularly called, are used only in the community itself, since the Republic makes, grows, and uses its own products and produce.

A new issue of currency comes out only on authorization from the president and a record of each bill is kept so there will be no "inflation." Visitors take a lot of each issue, says Donald T. Urquhart, executive director.

Depression Aids Cause Of Health, Doctor Reports

St. Louis (AP) The economic readjustment of the past few years has aided the cause of health rather than hinder it, in the opinion of Dr. Max C. Starkloff, veteran St. Louis health commissioner.

"It has preventer overeating and cut down consumption of questionable alcoholic beverages," Dr. Starkloff believes. "Also, people have been forced to slow up their speed of living.

"They have taken time to rest when they felt under the weather. They have had time to guard their children's well-being properly."

Dr. Starkloff contends that child health is "the most accurate index" of the standing of any community.

Now in his early seventies, Dr. Starkloff has been a practicing physician for 51 years and health officer of St. Louis since 1895.

Gormely Has No Pet Liquor Ideas

V. F. Gormely, Luce county farmer, received a telegram on Friday from Governor William A. Comstock asking him to serve on a committee of 17 to draft liquor control legislation. Mr. Gormely wired his acceptance.

The governor's telegram read as follows:

V. F. Gormely,
Newberry, Michigan.

Will appreciate your service on committee advisory to governor to draft legislation to be suggested to legislature to effect the purposes of the recent amendment of the constitution providing for liquor control system. The committee will be bi-partisan and will consist of 17 members, seven of whom reside in Wayne county. The committee should organize and begin work immediately. Please reply.

William A. Comstock,
Governor.

Mr. Gormely wired as follows:
Honorable William A. Comstock,
Governor of Michigan.

Pleased to accept appointment on advisory committee to draft liquor control legislation. Advise time and place of meeting.

V. F. Gormely.

Mr. Gormely is purely a local product. He operates in partnership with his uncle, W. T. Murphy, the largest privately owned farm in the county and has always been active in civic affairs. Personally he has always been a dry and politically a wet, being a life-long Democrat, although being liberal to the extent of voting for men on other parties whom he judged to be especially fit for office. He is 43 years old, is married, has seven children. His mother, Mrs. Mary Jane Gormely, lives here, the family being among the pioneers of the locality. Mr. Gormely stated in an interview that he has no pet ideas as to liquor law control and that he does to the committee work with an open mind ready to consider all plans offered.

RED CROSS FLOUR

On Saturday forenoons only Red Cross flour will be dispensed at the warehouse of the Horner company, it is announced by Red Cross officials. Lists are now so complete that the officers believe this system of one day operation will be effective and the old method caused considerable work. No exception is being made to this rule. Someone will be on hand during the morning hours to look after the flour and at no other time.

NEW BUILDING GOING WELL

The first floor slab at the new construction at the Newberry state hospital is being poured, it is announced from the office of Spense Brothers, contractors for the work. The work is going more slowly than it will when the weather has moderated but is up to schedule. Brick work is going up between the first and second floor but this cannot be done if the weather is down to 20 above zero. Around 40 men are being kept at work.

NEWBERRY BRIEFS

State police gave a ticket on Friday to Charles Colegrave of Allenville when he was found with no plates on his truck. He was found at Moran and will report at St. Ignace.

Superintendent Brown, representing the state at the new building going up at the Newberry state hospital, is sick with the flu.

Margaret Nicholls has returned to her school in Iron Mountain after an extended vacation due to the shortening of the school year in that city.

ATTENDANT PASSES

Mrs. Lynn Cole died at the Newberry state hospital on Friday morning following several days illness from influenza. She leaves her husband and one daughter. Mrs. Cole has been an attendant at the hospital for about two years.

SHOULD GIVE SUPPORT

MEMBERS of the Escanaba Kiwanis club are sponsoring an entertainment, at the William W. Oliver auditorium, on Monday evening, the proceeds of which will be used to purchase milk for under-fed children in both the public and the parochial schools of the city.

This is a highly worthy cause that has been sponsored by Escanaba Kiwanians for several years, and deserves generous and enthusiastic public support.

Particularly under conditions that prevail today in many Escanaba homes, children are not being properly fed. Through no fault of parents some children are going to school without breakfast, merely because the dole supplied runs short of the need in some cases.

Even under normal economic conditions there were many undernourished and under-fed children in school, and it was to supply the need of that condition that the work of supplying a daily portion of milk for such children, was undertaken by the members of the Kiwanis club.

The proportions of this work has grown with a constantly developing emergency and the financial load now assumed by this organization is a considerable one.

The Kiwanis club has not accepted donations or subscriptions in financing this work. Instead they adopted a policy of annually arranging a program, to which the public is invited and the proceeds of this undertaken are used to aid in financing the organization's milk distribution program. The project is thoroughly worth while and deserves the strongest possible measure of public support.

EXPENSIVE POLITICS

"COUNCIL Selects City Hall Over Mayor's Veto" — "Council Divides On Appointment of Assessor" — "Council Grilled By Mayor"—are headlines in outside newspapers that remind a resident of Escanaba, of Gladstone, or of Manistique, only of days gone by in our own communities.

There was a time when we, too, took our city politics seriously and as one reads of the turmoil still prevailing in aldermanically controlled small cities, there cannot but develop a wonder as to why the people stand for it.

Escanaba, Gladstone, Manistique, the Soo, Ironwood, Iron River, Munising and in a measure, Marquette, have proven by their records under a more modern form of municipal government, that a city's business can be transacted, as is the business of any private corporation.

Menominee is the city in which a city hall was selected over the mayor's veto and Green Bay was the city where the council divided over the simple matter of appointing an assessor. Such petty squabbles scarcely ever develop in a council manager governed city. Things about which ward aldermen orate and battle in other cities, are settled under our plan without friction and as a mere matter of business.

But, it is true, some people seem determined to have their diversions. And city politics, taken seriously, are diverting—but also expensive.

U. P. FOR DILLMAN

WITH the calling of the Republican state convention, to be held at Grand Rapids on Feb. 28, it is practically certain that the upper peninsula will be found to be one section of the state entering that meeting, solidly backing the candidacy of Grover C. Dillman, for reelection to the office of state highway commissioner. Not only does Mr. Dillman's record in office warrant such action, but Republicans of the peninsula appreciate, particularly after the debacle of last fall, the necessity of presenting not only a united and a strong front, but the very best candidate for the offices to be filled, at the spring election.

Throughout his term of office as commissioner of highways Mr. Dillman has been a worker and a doer. His work must have appealed to Democrats and Republicans, alike. He has run the affairs of his office along lines that would be followed by any sound headed business manager of a private corporation, without regard to politics or any consideration, other than the achievement of the best possible results.

As a former district engineer in charge of state highway affairs in the upper peninsula, he thoroughly knows highway conditions in this section of the state and he has constantly exhibited an active and a helpful interest in solving the peninsula's road problems. So, there should be no question as to where the upper peninsula delegates will stand on Mr. Dillman's candidacy at the Grand Rapids convention.

EDUCATIONAL MOVES

ALL moving pictures exhibited in Italy must be considered as educational matter, according to a new rule promulgated by the Italian government. Their amusement value comes second to their educational value; and it is to be supposed that the most thrilling romance or the most laughable comedy will have to take a back seat if it fails to instruct as well as to entertain.

This ruling, odd as it is, nevertheless does recognize the tremendous power which the moving picture can exercise in the educational field. Trying to force all movies into that one pedagogical mold seems to be a grotesque mistake; but in this country we have gone to the other extreme and have almost ignored the educational value almost entirely. We certainly don't want to go as far as Italy has gone, but we might a least take a tip from the Italian theory. We could use our movies much more effectively than we have yet done.

REMORSE BEHIND THE BARS

ON Easter Monday, in 1930, convicts in the Ohio penitentiary set fire to a wing of their prison, hoping to be able to make a break for freedom in the subsequent confusion. Their plans miscarried, however, and 322 convicts were burned to death.

James Raymond, one of the three who started the first, gave officials their first clew in the case. But that evidently didn't soothe his conscience—for four months after the fire he hanged himself in his cell.

Now Clinton Grate, another convict, who split the kindling used to set off the fatal blaze, has also committed suicide in his cell.

Could there be a more striking illustration of the way in which that terrible crime has preyed on the minds of its participants? Those two suicides, in prison, bespeak long hours of agonizing remorse. These convicts carried their punishment with them.

There are hundreds of useless words in the English language, observes a lecturer. "Keep Off the Grass." "Please Remit." "Men Wanted"—to mention only a few.

Mary Garden, the opera star, is going to tour a "four-a-day" vaudeville circuit. It's hard to imagine the temperamental diva waiting in the wings for her turn between the jugglers and a jazz band.

Members of the Japanese Olympic swimming team now admit they took oxygen before the contests, but argue it wasn't unfair—the rules didn't expressly forbid it. The Japanese, it seems, are getting adept at this sort of thing. That wasn't "war" they waged in Manchoukuo, you must remember.

Congress seems to be in a stew over prohibition. We were afraid of that when the Senate committee added wine to the House beer bill, disregarding the old injunction about mixing drinks.

Co-eds spend only $5 a year on cosmetics, a recent survey shows. But what $5 worth of cosmetics, properly applied, costs college men, only their fathers can estimate.

YOU'RE THE FELLOW

You're the fellow people pass
To share some other's brimming glass,
You're the fellow men forget
When skies are bright and sunny yet,
But, when friends have need of you,
You're the fellow who comes through.

You're the kind that doesn't say
A lot about it ev'ry day,
You're the kind that doesn't stand
And slap the back and grab the hand—
But, some moment when I find
I need a friend, then you're the kind.

You're the fellow doing more
For men than those who rant and roar,
You're the fellow making earth
A place of brotherhood and worth.
Many men are known to me—
You're the kind I'd like to be.

CHAPTER XVIII

In spite of all her protests Sheila was to need money before the rehearsal period was over and the play ready for the road. She needed it to buy clothes, for one thing—nice serviceable traveling frocks and shoes. Sheila thoroughly disliked the cheap, high-heeled pumps the frizzled chorus girls wore on the road, their silk dresses and bargain basement coats. The fact that the girls couldn't afford better didn't change matters. They could have bought better things for the same price. They should have learned such things just as Sheila had learned them. Instead they laughed at the trim, tweed-suited girls they saw getting into roadsters in small towns, laughed at their sport shoes, the plain, expensive traveling frocks they encountered now and then in dining cars.

Those girls in tweed suits were to Sheila the most enviable creatures in the world. She meant to show these members of small town aristocracy that she, too, knew how to dress. Perhaps some day she could live the life they lived, have a home, a lawn, flowers, and her trunks and suitcases out of sight in the attic.

How Sheila hoped that some day she might buy something without wondering what to do with it when she packed.

Sheila needed money, too, to pay Ma Lowell. Of course, Ma would be willing, if she asked her, to let the rent bill wait. With a daughter of her own recently married out of the "Frivolities" Ma knew all about the difficulties of stage life.

The daughter, as a matter of fact, had not married well. Dora's husband worked at something or other in the Village. Now and then Dora worked, too, acting as cashier in an arty sort of restaurant. Oh, there was no doubt that Ma Lowell had a soft place in her heart for girls trying to make their way in the show business! That softness would provide Sheila with a roof over her head but there were other expenses.

One of these was food. Sheila thought shamefully that she should not have turned Dick down so definitely. His luncheon and dinner invitations had been a tremendous help. Of course it wasn't really fair to put it that way. She went to dinner with Dick because she enjoyed being with him. To "sing for one's supper," as the girls called being agreeable to a dinner companion because one needed food, was one thing. To dine with Dick because she liked him was another.

* * *

Of course there was Jim Blaine. Frequently she dined with him. There were one or two others who called her occasionally. With two invitations from Dick, two from Jim and possibly one other each week Sheila had managed fairly well. Breakfasts were inexpensive and she never ate lunch. It was horrid to reckon in such a way but lots of girls did it. They had to.

Jim was making a hit in "When Lights Are Low." He had given Sheila tickets and she had taken Ma Lowell to see the play. Ma had enjoyed it. It was seldom she obtained passes except to vaudeville houses for most of the men and women who patronized her rooming house were in vaudeville. Once they had attained the heights of a Broadway engagement they were sure to move.

Ma liked vaudeville or the pictures best but she wanted to take a look at "Sheila's young man." In Ma's fond imaginings it was Jim, not Dick, who held first place in the girl's heart.

"These play-writing young men!" Ma would sniff whenever Dick's name entered the conversation. "No good—any of them! Always behind in their rent, burning the lights all night, starving themselves or else moving off in a limousine too big to even speak to a person! They're all alike!"

Frequently Sheila saw Jim on Sundays when they would drive out on Long Island. The play closed at 11 each night and Sheila disliked late parties. Sunday, unrushed, calm and deliberate, was their day.

* * *

They would take a lunch and drive out along the green Long Island roads, lined with streams and ponds and waddling white ducks.

"There's the little home Glena Grayson built for her mother to keep her out of Hollywood," Jim remarked one day, motioning toward a house not far from the road.

"But mothers are in fashion in Hollywood now."

"Yes, mothers of the duchess type. Glena's mother isn't like that. We stopped there once to inquire about the road and spoke to Mrs. Grayson. Thought she was the cook! She's a nice old lady, though. And she looked comfortable in her cotton dress and house slippers, sitting in a rocker out in the yard."

Sheila laughed. It was fun to be with Jim. It was less of a strain talking to him than to Dick. There was one subject that came between them, though. Jim was a success. Not only did he have a job but he was receiving $250 weekly. Jim was making good and not a struggler like herself.

"I want you to meet my mother some day soon," he told her soberly. They were seated beneath a tree near Long Island Sound. The plash-plash of the water reached them and they could see the creaming of the breakers. The air held a faint salt tang.

Sheila looked dreamily toward a white sail far out on the horizon. "I'd love to," she said.

"She'd love to meet you." Jim's voice was nonchalant. "I've told her about you. She is at Montauk Point just now. I wonder if you'd care to drive down with me next Sunday?"

"That would be fine."

He looked at her steadily but Sheila, still gazing seaward, was unconscious of his scrutiny. Jim wondered if this girl knew what was in his mind—what meeting his mother meant. He wouldn't introduce every girl to his mother.

* * *

He threw himself on the soft pine needles at her feet and, raising on one elbow, refilled his pipe.

"What did you think of Little Lee when you dropped in on the show?"

"What could I think of her—since she is my successor?" Sheila laughed a little unsteadily. "I think she just isn't too good-looking to suit Marion Randolph. Oh, I don't mean I'm such a beauty! Heavens, no! But I can dance and I can put over a song—better than Tillie Lee anyhow. Marion Randolph would rather have her in the company. She didn't like me."

"But, Sheila, that's rotten luck. I think it's the limit that you have to go with a road show. Just because a catty, jealous—"

Sheila held up a warning finger. She was grateful for Jim's loyalty but he was being reckless. "Be careful who hears you say such things," she cautioned. "Marion Randolph can cost you your job just as she did mine."

"What makes you think so?"

"Because I know! Don't ever say anything critical of Marion in the hearing of any member of the company. In the first place, it can't help me. In the second, whether you think so or not it can harm you. You never can tell what obscure chorus man is headed straight for her apartment with a lot of backstage gossip."

"She'd better not try to monkey with my job," Jim said, his eyes narrowing. "Why, only last night—"

"What about last night?"

"She invited me to a party. I didn't go."

"You didn't!" Sheila shook her head. "Oh, Jim, that was foolish! You shouldn't have done that!"

And Sheila was right. At that very moment Marion Randolph was saying to the gentleman whose money was behind the play in which she was starred, 'Get me another leading man, honey. I don't think I like Jim Blaine."

Cows Get Mixed Up in Politics at Grand Marais

Lansing — Another election scandal exploded Wednesday to harass the Democratic Administration when word was received from the Upper Peninsula that innocent cows are victims of a sinister influence from Detroit.

Jerseys, Holsteins and Herefords have been robbed of their personal liberty and constitutional rights—victims of election skullduggery engineered by unscrupulous Wayne County politicians, Democratic leaders were told.

The complaint was made originally to Attorney General Patrick H. O'Brien by residents of Grand Marais. They demanded a recount, a new deal, a re-election and a thorough inquiry. Now is the time, they said, for the Democrats to come to the aid of the cows.

According to one letter received by the Attorney General from the Lake Superior hamlet, the National and State election issues were submerged last November by a hot local fight over a proposal to bar cows from the village thoroughfares. It seems that the bovine residents of Grand Marais always have enjoyed equal rights with horses, automobiles and pedestrians on the main street. In fact, their presence solved the village grass-cutting problem.

But a group of malcontents, who might have been Technocrats or Socialists, initiated an ordinance to prevent the animals from using the main streets for pasture. Pioneer settlers protested at once, pointing out that the proposal would rob the cows of their roaming privileges—an ancestral heritage.

The ordinance was submitted Nov. 8 and carried by four votes. Now comes the charge o ffraud.

According to a letter from E. R. Kane, a Grand Marais farmer, the proposal was approved because several Detroiters, who were visiting friends at the time, were allowed to vote. Being from the automobile capital, the visitors, of course, voted to close the streets to cows. These Detroiters made up more than the four-vote margin, Mr. Kane complained.

Attorney General O'Brien submitted the problem to Byron Geller, one of his assistants. The law, Mr. Geller concluded, was violated if the visitors were permitted to vote. But he wrote Mr. Kane that the problem is one that should be taken up with the local election officers, and not with the State.

Later advices indicate that the cow owners have bandoned their plans for a recount and will petition for resubmission of the issue at the spring election.

WOMAN? WHY, BOB, SHE WAS YOUR WIFE!

Knoxville, Tenn., (NEA) — Robert May, former Kentucky miner, staggered into Squire Wells office recently and wanted a warrant sworn out for a woman who had stolen $270 from him.

After investigating Squire Wells found the woman was May's wife.

She explained that she had not stolen the money, but that May had given it to her when he was sober, and told her not to give it to him if he got drunk.

The squire finally sent May to jail. He was fined $13 and costs, which Mrs. May promptly produced and paid for him.

Linnaeus inaugurated the system that is still in use . . . that of giving each species a scientific name consisting of two verbs, the genus and species. PLAN SECURITY FOR RFC LOAN

Application Tentatively Approved; May Pledge Gas Tax Money

Tentative approval of a loan of approximately $7,000 which the city of Gladstone is negotiating with the R. F. C. through the state has been received and arrangements are now being made with the state attorney general's office to provide collateral to secure the obligation, it was stated yesterday by City Manager F. R. Buechner.

Application for the loan, the exact amount of which is $6,-954.48, was made early this month following authorization by the city commission. The money is to be used to cover operating expenses of the welfare department, including food and administration costs, for the months of January and February.

Money which will be forthcoming to the city under the Horton Act will probably be the collateral pledged, commissioners in discussing the method to be used, at a previous meeting, apparently favoring this plan.

The Horton Act provides for the return to cities, townships and counties of a portion of the gas and weight tax moneys. It is figured that a sum of approximately $18,000 will be forthcoming to the city of Gladstone during the next three years.

According to present plans the loan will be repaid in installments covering a period of three years, a $2,000 payment to be made in February of 1934, $2,500 a year later and the final payment of $2,500 in February of 1936, interest will be at the rate of 3 per cent.

Since the amount of the loan sought is only a little more than one-third of the sum anticipated from the Horton Act, there will still be ample security for a future loan, should it be necessary.

Various factors have necessitated seeking the loan. Anticipated demands for poor relief during the first two months of this year which are expected to greatly exceed the moneys available to provide for the indigent who need food, clothing and merical aid; the large tax delinquency brought about by the exigencies of the times, and the previous heavy drain caused by relief demands, are the principal reasons for the action.

Approval of the loan will benefit the city in that it will put fresh money into circulation among the merchants and the fact that the obligation can be amortized at low interest rate over a period of years.

Additional Gladstone News Will be Found on Page 8.

WATSON WILL ATTEND MEET

School Heads to Discuss Problems Caused by Tax Limitation

Sup't A. R. Watson of the Gladstone public schools will go to Marquette on Feb. 4 to meet with superintendents of various other upper peninsula schools for the purpose of discussing the problems arising from the 15 mill tax limitation amendment.

The conference was called by Sup't G. G. Calcom, Sault Ste. Marie, chairman of the Superintendents' group of Northern Michigan.

Exchange of ideas in regard to the financial situation schools are facing as the result of anticipated reductions in school budgets under the recently adopted tax limitation plan, is the principal purpose of the meeting.

It is believed that an understanding of the problems which will be encountered in various sections of the peninsula will enable the school superintendents to furnish their boards of education with information helpful in meeting the situation.

A statement of the legislative committee of the Michigan Education association that the tax limitation on property will reduce the state primary school fund by $4,000,000 and will reduce the school revenue from local taxes by one-third to one-half, gives an indication of the problem to be met.

The conference is expected to bring about a clearer understanding of obstacles faced by upper peninsula school systems, and from this should develop suggestions as to how the schools may carry on without undermining progress already made in the advancement of education.

Manistique Team Has Clean Sweep In Debate Series

Manistique high school's debate team made a clean sweep of their preliminary debate series Saturday night by defeating the Iron Mountain team, thus assuring the local high school of participation in the eliminations which follow. The same three debaters from the local school have carried both affirmative and negative sides in the four contests to date, and won all of them.

Forrest A. Roberts, of Northern State Teachers' college, Marquette, who officiated as judge, described the Manistique-Iron Mountain contest as very close, and said that he could award no points to either side on the analytical preparation. He ruled, however, that Manistique was best in the sustained debating, carrying through with the best team-work.

Members of the local team, carrying the negative argument were: Leon Willoughby, Clayton Burrell, Jack MacIntosh. The Iron Mountain affirmatives were: Frank Micheln, David Cohodes, and Paul Connolly.

WELL TRAINED

The accused had been convicted of bigamy, and the judge asked: "Have you anything to say?"

"No, not a word," was the reply.

"It's hardly likely," retorted the judge. "A man with two wives would never get a chance."—Tit-Bits.

NOT SO SMART

"Your methods of cultivation are hopelessly out of date," said the youthful student of agriculture to the old farmer. "Take that tree over there, I'd be astonished if you got eight pounds of apples from it in one season."

"So would I," blandly replied the farmer. "It's a pear tree."—Answers.

ARMY FARE IS OK

Fort Worth, Tex.—In 1929, Johnny Myers, 34, got disgusted with an army bunk and hot "slum." He deserted at Fort George Wright. But that was in 1929. Recently he was willing to give himself up to the police and confess that he had deserted. The depression had glorified a warm bunk and hot "slum."

ELKS' BOWLING FETE THURSDAY

Losing Teams to Cook up Fine Feed for Victorious Keglers

The big bowling supper has been definitely set for Thursday evening, January 26th, and in the meantime the members of the winning five teams who will be honored guests of the losing five teams can whet up their appetites in keen anticipation of a bountiful supply of victuals.

The Cubs have been selected as the dinner committee under the able direction of George Babledalis, who with his team mates are preparing a menu that will satisfy to a queen's taste. Instead of the usual turkey or chicken that has been served in the past, a varied selection of game and fish will be found. Smoked Indian Lake perch caught by the Idle Paper Makers will headline the feast, with roast rabbit, sauerkraut, and boiled lutefisk as trimmings. It looks like a league of nations dinner, and will be in keeping with the times.

Remember the date, and all Elks are cordially invited to attend. The various committees will be appointed to care for the wants of their guests, and further details will be announced later.

Oils, Drevdahls to Contest for League Honors Monday Nite

TEAM STANDINGS

Team	W.	L.	PCT.
S'nclairs	4	0	1.000
Drevdahls	3	1	.750
Westside	2	2	.500
Nortons	1	3	.250
Fords	1	3	.250
Lauermans	1	3	.250

Victories by the Fords and Lauermans during the past week put every team in the city basketball league in the win column as teams make their final swing around the circuit. At the completion of this week's play every team in the league will have met each other at least once.

Lauermans had the most disastrous week, losing two contests while the champion Sinclair Oils, Drevdahls, and Nortons won the single games on their schedule. Fords split even and Westside dropped a lone counter. The Oils are still defending a perfect percentage, while the Drevdahls are one game behind, displacing the Westside for second place honors. Three teams are tied for the cellar position, Nortons, Fords, and Lauermans.

In the opening game of tomorrow evening's bill, the Oils undisputed leadership will be challenged by the second-place Drevdahls. If the champs win, they will have defeated every team in the loop in their first swing around the circuit. Nortons and Fords will compete against each other in the wind-up in a fight to regain lost prestige. On Thursday evening the Oils will meet the Nortons in the opener and Westside will battle Lauermans.

Individual statistics show Oscar Wassberg leading the league in scoring, displacing Marsh Bergman who is now tied for second with Jack Williams. Wassberg also leads in the number of field goals with 27. Ralph Williams in free throws with 12, while Berger has committed the greatest number of fouls, 17.

Browns Keep Up Hot Pace in Elks' Bowling League

The second half of the Elks Bowling schedule started off with a bang, and the Browns started off where they finished by knocking the Tigers for two out of three. The Pirates and Cubs staged a red hot series the former taking the long end of the session. The Yanks put the skids under the Giants and took them down the line for three straight, while the Paper Makers ran into another tartar in the Rexalls.

Art Drevdahl could not keep his ball out of the one-three pocket and chalked up an average of around 190, and with his captain Tom Bolitho who rolled two games over the 200 mark set the forlorn Paper Makers down for two out of three.

The schedule for the week is as follows:

Monday—Yanks vs. Tigers.
Tuesday—Giants vs. Browns.
Wednesday—Cubs vs. Rexalls.
Thursday—Pirates vs. Southpaws.
Friday—Lions vs. Paper Makers.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Jan. 21 (AP)—Today's stock market represented a minimum of effort on the part of professional traders, and close to a minimum of accomplishment.

There were enough small gains by noon to lift the averages a minor fraction. With the turnover only 365,577 shares changes carried little significance except the additional emphasis that was placed on the list's inability to stir out of a narrow trading range. Bonds, which in the past day or two have been much more resistant than earlier this week, again improved.

JOHN L. COOLEY

Tobaccos leaned toward firmness. Corn Products jumped 1½, then lost much of its rise. American Telephone softened fractionally toward the close. Woolworth, National Dairy, R. H. Macy, Westinghouse, American Can, General Electric, Allied Chemical and Union Carbide were steady. Rails stayed on a siding.

Movement of traffic on the country's railroads in January's second week aggregated 506,322 cars, a rise of 70,670 over the previous week which embraced New Year's day. The recovery was seasonal, at least in direction, and of course encouraging, but its extent had been accurately estimated on the basis of scattering reports throughout the week. The decline from a year ago was 11.5 percent.

Ability of gilt-edge bonds to hold firm respite knowledge that congress had discarded plans for tax revision as a means of balancing the budget is construed favorably. Interest rates on bank deposits are currently so low that the investment market is undoubtedly drawing funds.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Jan. 21—Tumbling of wheat prices today followed early gains that were attributed more or less to steps toward settlement of England's debts to the United States.

More than a cent a bushel reaction took place in wheat values, largely because of a dearth of new speculative demand, as well as on account of week-end liquidating pressure from recent buyers. Wheat closed unsteady, 3-8 to 3-4 under yesterday's finish, corn at a shade decline to 1-8 advance, oats a shade to 1-8 to ¼ off, and provisions unchanged to a decline of 2 cents.

Shrinkage of buying became pronounced in the wheat pit after a maximum rise of only 5-8 of a cent.

In contrast with wheat, the corn market displayed relative firmness. There was talk of continued export business done in corn by way of the Gulf of Mexico. Some corn afloat was sold to Rotterdam.

United States corn values were figured as well below Argentine, Buenos Aires March delivery of corn closing today at 30 cents, aout 3½ cents above Chicago May. Liverpool reported Argentine January corn contracts quoted at 2 cents premium over American yellow.

Provisions ruled easy, responsive to action of the hog market.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—May, 46½, 47½ to 5-8; July, 46½ to 5-8, 47 5-8 to 3-4; September, 47 3-8 to ½, 48½. Corn—May, 26 3-8, 26 7-8; July, 27 3-4, bids.

HE'LL EAT OR ELSE

Salt Lake City, Utah—William Allen has an aptitude for getting meals without working for them. When the Salvation Army refused to give him breakfast because he wouldn't work for it, he threw a chair through the window. The result was that he received a nice ride to the station house where he arrived just in time for lunch.

Herford, Eng.—Juding by the names of its staff members, one would be led to believe that the Hereford Times was an aviary rather than a newspaper. When the paper observed its centenary recently it was revealed that two of its staff had the name of Peacock, two that of Parrot, one Finch. And so the birds one Woodcock, one Cockerell, and might not go hungry the son of Sir William Seeds, British Ambassador to Brazil, is also on the staff.

BY VICTOR EUBANK
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Jan. 21 (AP)—Bond market prices were moderately firm today as traders and investors were imbued with renewed hope for constructive solutions of some foreign and domestic problems.

While the brief session was no run-away affair, sales totaled $5,994,000, par value. At the same time the Associated Press-Standard Statistics average for 60 domestic corporate bonds advanced two-tenths of a point. This average, however, was off on the week, finishing at 70.8 against 71.4 Monday.

Gains of a point or more by a number of railway liens were attributed partly to improved freight car loadings and assurances by the Railroad Credit corporation that no immediate receiverships were probable. The best advances were recorded by Santa Fe adjustment 4s, Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, Rock Island 4½s, Erie 5s, Hocking Valley 4½s, Illinois Central 4¾s, Pennsylvania general 4½s, Southern Pacific refunding 4s, Southern 4s and Union Pacific 4½s.

The best utilities and industrials included loans of American & Foreign Power, Armour & Co., Consolidated Gas, Goodyear, Interborough Rapid Transit, International Telephone, Kreske Foundation, McCrory Stores, Postal Telegraph, United Drug.

The United States government department was relatively dull, but most of the treasuries and Liberty 4¼s were fractionally higher. Treasury 4¼s reached a new 1932-33 high.

Officer Invents Steel Policemen To Trap Robbers

Detroit (AP)—Patrolman Vern Davidson of the Detroit police department, who has caught a lot of bandits in his time, has decided he wasted some precious moments, and took a lot of risks. So he has invented the steel "police officer," a device, he says, which entraps every bandit venturing near it.

The steel "officer," constructed by the patrolman on his leisure time, is designed for stores, restaurants and banks. It resembles a telephone booth, somewhat oversized. The money is kept in a vault inside the "booth."

"Suppose a bandit holds up a store," says Patrolman Davidson. "He tells the proprietor to get the money out of the vault. The door opens at a tangent, and the proprietor has to squeeze to the right to enter. To get to the rear of the vault, where the money is hidden, the proprietor must shut the door in the bandit's face.

"If he does that, he's safe, because the vault is bullet-proof, and if he doesn't come out, sirens begin sounding.

"If the bandit decides to get the money himself, the door locks automatically, and there he is, just like he would be in a jail cell."

A lever concealed in the money vault inside the steel "policeman" opens the door from the inside. Only by knowledge of the money vault combination can the lever be reached.

The department thinks Patrolman Davidson's bandit trap is such a good idea that it has given him a month's leave of absence to work on it.

Men Charged With Illegal Fishing Demand Jury Trial

Jury trial was demanded yesterday by a trio of Gladstone men charged with fishing in an inland lake with a gill net, and the case will be heard in the court of Justice A. D. Alguire on Tuesday morning. Bond in each instance was set at $300 and was furnished.

The men, Edmond Gobert, Henry Bovin, and Soren Holm, were arrested upon the complaint of Conservation Officer Charles Coon, after a set net was found in Campbell's lake, in the Whitefish country, by Officers Coon and Albert Anderson, while covering that district last Sunday.

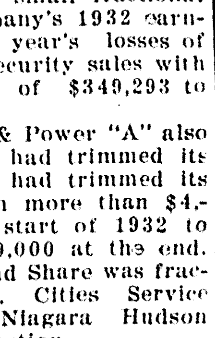
The men were on the lake when the officers first reached the shore but upon their approach two of the trio moved away and disappeared into the woods. The one remaining professed to be fishing with hook and line, which at first apparently seemed true, and denied knowledge of the identity of the two men who had fled.

In further survey of the lake the officers ran across a running line near several freshly chopped holes in the ice and it was then that the net was discovered. The net was withdrawn and confiscated and apprehension of the men early this week followed.

Quiet Week Has Dullest Saturday

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Editor)

New York, Jan. 21 (AP)—The curb market today ended a quiet week of narrowly fluctuating prices, in its dullest Saturday since last July 16.



CLAUDE A. JAGGER

Transfers approximated 50,000 shares against 70,000 last Saturday. In the dog days of last summer the figure fell to 30,000 on July 16.

Stock of American Superpower responded to the annual earning statement of that company with a small fractional gain. The company's 1932 earnings offset the year's losses of $2,141,901 on security sales with a net balance of $349,293 to spare.

United Light & Power "A" also nounced that it had trimmed its naunced that it had trimmed its bank loans from more than $4,000,000 at the start of 1932 to less than $2,000,000 at the end. Electric Bond and Share was fractionally higher. Cities Service was steady. Niagara Hudson Power lost a fraction.

The oils were dull, Standard of Indiana and Gulf losing a scant fraction, each.

LUCKY MEETING

Livingston, Tex.—Dave Harris and Henry Thompson chanced to meet in a store here—and what a lucky meeting it was. Both men, Polk County negroes, had lost a leg, Dave his left and Henry his right. The store clerk suggested that, to save money, the boys buy one pair of shoes. It turned out that both took the same size. A sale was consumated shortly later.

Upward of 800 uses are recorded for the various parts of the palmyra palm, which is considered the most useful plant in the world.

Nick Segan, who is employed at Forest Lake, arrived Friday evening to spend the week-end with his family.

THEATRES

She walked home from a Saturday-night date.

But she woke up Sunday morning to find she might have saved herself the trouble.

That briefly, is the story of "Hot Saturday," a film featuring Cary Grant, Nancy Carroll and Randolph Scott, which is now showing at the Rialto Theatre.

Miss Carroll plays the role of the girl who is male the subject of nasty gossip by women jealous of her popularity with men, and by would-be Don Juans disappointed in their attempts to "make" her.

They discover, one Saturday night, that she is missing from their usual get-together. And while she is walking home to save herself from a too-ambitious suitor, they begin spreading the story that she is spending the night at the nearby summer home of Grant, a millionaire playboy.

The story costs her her job, almost costs her her home. Hysterical, she flees to Scott, a childhood sweetheart who wants to marry her, and agrees to go through with the wedding. But he, too, hears the story, believes it, and calls it all off.

It is then that she rushes to Grant, utterly definant. And the climax that follows is startling in its boldness.

Starting Monday

Frank Borzage's production of Ernest Hemingway's "A Farewell to Arms," featuring Helen Hayes, Gary Cooper and Adolphe Menjou, which opens Monday at the Rialto Theatre, will continue ts run there through Thursday.

The film is a faithful reproduction of the Hemingway novel, telling the story of Frederic Henry, American lieutenant in the Italian ambulance corps, and Catherine Barkley, a British nurse, who meet and love against the background of war.

Negatives Win As Debate Tyros Meet

The negatives were victors in a debate held yesterday afternoon in the Gladstone high school auditorium between two freshmen trios. The argument was closely contested. Wm. H. Bainter, varsity debate coach acted as judge and John Speare presided as the chairman.

The winning team was composed of Linda Jackson, James Dehlin and Mary Kreuger, while the affirmative trio were, namely, Eleanor O'Brien, Ruth Snyder and Dorothy Slye. Both teams are coached by Wesley Gustafson.

In deciding the winner, Mr. Bainter used the five point system. The first factor, speaking ability, went to the negatives; the affirmatives excelled in debate technique; analysis was a draw as was knowledge of subject, and the negatives won on rebuttal, the factor which decided the issue.

A blind man, George Barnard, has been called by the British Broadcasting company to assist in the production of the radio drama adaptation of H. G. Wells' short story, "The Country of the Blind."

Regional Tourneys Will Be Held at Marquette

N S T C WILL BE HOST MARCH 10

Officials Are Selected at Meeting of Committee

At a meeting of the upper peninsula basketball tournament committee held at Marquette yesterday, it was decided to hold the three regional prep tournaments at the Northern State Teachers College gymnasium on Friday and Saturday, March 10 and 11. W. B. McClintock will be manager of the 1933 regionals.

There will be four teams in each of the three classes at the regional tourneys, Class B and Class D. The winners of each of the four district tournaments in the peninsula will be eligible for the regionals to be held the following week. The dates for the district tourneys are March 3 and 4.

On Friday afternoon, March 10, the two first round Class D games and one first round Class C game will be held. Friday evening the second first round Class C game and the two elimination round Class B contests will be held.

...finals in al classes will be held Saturday afternoon with the Class D game scheduled at 2:30, the Class C match at 3:30 and the Class B championship game at 3:30.

Officials Selected

The championship games will be held in the afternoon to permit contending teams to return home after the games rather than remain overnight in Marquette. This was decided upon in the interests of economy.

The officials for the regional tourneys selected fro mthe approved list include the following: Eddie Chambers, Crystal Falls; Schuler, Wakefield; Frank Judish, Stambaugh; Johnson, Ishpeming. John Kelley of Manistique was elected as alternate.

Officials for the Class C district tournament to be held under sponsorship of St. Joseph of Escanaba at the Coliseum gymnasium will be: John Kelly, Manistique and W. H. Puckelwartz, Escanaba.

The Class C tourney for the Marquette district not previously decided upon at the last meeting of the committee will be held at Marquette under sponsorship of Baraga high school of that city. ...Class D meet for the Marquette district will be held at National Mine. Rev. Fr. M. B. ...elican will be in charge of the Class C tourney at Baraga and ...upt. Walter Bath will manage the National Mine Class D meet.

Because Quinnesec has decided not to accept the bid for half of the large Class D district tournament, Iron Mountain will be asked to promote that tournament in addition to the Class B meet which it already has been offered.

Included among the officials' assignments is Dennis McGinn of Escanaba who will work the district tourney at the Soo in connection with Judish of Stambaugh. The full list of officials for all the tournaments will be published Tuesday.

Dorais Announces His 1933 Schedule

Detroit, Jan. 21 (AP)—Catholic university, of Washington, D. C., Western Michigan State Teachers and Duquesne university, of Pittsburgh, are newcomers on the University of Detroit 1933 football schedule announced tonight by Coach Gus E. Dorais. One date remains to be filled.

The schedule:

Rock, Mich., Jan. 21 (Special)—In one of the fastest games ever seen on the local floor, Rock high school's basketball team took a 31 to 24 defeat from the strong Newberry crew tonight. The tilt was packed with thrills, and the locals had the count knotted at the end of the third period, but suffered a blow to the passing combination in the loss of Lauri, local star forward, who went to the bench by the foul route. The Rock reserves beat the Perkins high school in a preliminary, 17 to 10.

Sentman Entering Millrose Races at Garden February 4

New York, Jan. 21 (AP)—Two mid-western hurdling aces, Lee Sentman, formerly of the University of Illinois, and James Hatfield, formerly of Indiana university, today sent their entries for the 50-meter race in the Millrose indoor track and field games in Madison Square Garoden, Feb. 4.

Jack Keller, the slim racer from Ohio State, national outdoor titleholder, also is expected to enter.

Monte Wells, who won the event last year, will be back to defend his laurels. The former Dartmouth ace has been training steadily and is reported in good shape.

Although without a regular fencing coach, Washington University has scheduled matches with four Big Ten schools.

Detroit Billiardist Tied for Top Place

Sarazen Gives Hints to Would-Be Golfers

BY BRIAN BELL
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Los Angeles, (AP)—Gene Sarazen at times can make any shot with a golf club but he will tell you, if you can catch him in a hospital where he can not get away, that some shots are much harder than others.

"What is the hardest shot in golf?" he was asked.

"The No. 1, or driving iron, for the crack player. The average player should not even carry this club. For even ranking players the driving iron is frequently a gamble, and many of us have found after missing a shot with it we would have been far better off if we had taken a spoon. I seldom use it. It is apt to take me out of my groove."

Sarazen, about to be dismissed from the hospital after a week's siege of influenza, was asked then to suggest the hardest shot for a player struggling desperately to "break a hundred." He was reminded that this player would not be bothered with a No. 1 iron so that was out.

"The hardest shot for the ordinary player," said Gene, "I think is the pitch from 145 yards to the green. The most important, however, I would say is the chip to the pin from 20 yards and under.

"The player who gets around occasionally under a hundred but more often over should rely on the spoon rather than the long iron.

"The easiest irons when one is playing well are the No. 5, (mashie) the No. 6 (mashie niblick, No. 7 (spade), and sometimes the No. 3 (Mashie iron).

"Many men golfers who failed to improve their ability to gain a complete mastery of these 145-yard pitches, and as a result wastes a lot of strokes, are like most woman golfers—they're too lazy to practice them. They spend too much time on tee shots since they get more fun out of giving the ball a ride than placing it where it counts the most.

"Many golfers continually try to overplay some of their clubs. Average golfers should learn that every iron club is built for a certain distance and when in doubt, should use the strong club.

"I think most players should be satisfied to get between 135 and 140 yards with a No. 4 iron, 125 to 130 with a No. 5 and 100 and under with a No. 6. The wedge (niblick) should not be used for pitches of more than 50 yards from the green.

"Many golfers will play better and have more fun if they do not use a driver on the tee until they are reasonably proficient. The brassie will be better for the high handicap man.

"I do not believe, either, in a lot of practice swings and waggles. I have seen players waggle the clubs a dozen times before hitting the ball. They are all worn out and have no strength left for the swing."

MICHIGAN WINS, TIED FOR THIRD

Chicago Can't Overcome Lead; Final Score 36 to 18

Chicago, Jan. 21 (AP)—Michigan moved into a tie with Wisconsin for third place in the Western conference basketball championship race tonight by trouncing Chicago, 36 to 18. About 5,000 spectators watched the Wolverines win handily.

After a scoreles first five minutes, Michigan quickly worked up a 6 to 1 lead and from there on, never was headed. The Maroons rallied briefly in each period, but never were close enough to worry the ultimate victors. Plummer and Garner led Michigan's attack in the first half which netted a 12 point lead, while in the second period Petoskey was the spearhead.

The victory was Michigan's third in four games, and the defeat was Chicago's fifth straight.

STATE SLICES APPLICANT LIST

Half Dozen Men to Be Considered for Grid Coach

East Lansing, Mich., Jan. 21 (AP)—The list of applicants for the job of coaching Michigan State's gridiron team next fall is expected to be shaved down substantially during the next week.

A committee of the Michigan State athletic council will hold a meeting some time during the week and go over the candidates with an eye toward elimination. The contemplated procedure is to narrow the field to about half a dozen men. These names will be presented to the council which in turn will make its recommendations to President Robert S. Shaw and the state board of agriculture.

Sasse Out

The collapse of reports this week surrounding the availability of Major Ralph I. Sasse, former Army coach, disclosed new elements in the man-hunt here. Although the athletic council denied that Sasse had applied for the post, it had been known here that is name was under consideration.

Sasse's appointment had been urged not only because of his reputation as a grid mentor but also for economy reasons. The theory behind the move was to obtain an appointment for him in the military department with his chief duties confined to the football field. Just what salary would have been offered him under such an arrangement is problematical but it is conceded it would have been less than the $8,000 received by Crowley.

Major Sasse spiked the report about his availability in a telegram to the athletic council. He wishes to continue his miliary career at the war college in Washington.

Dorais Mentioned

The Sasse negotiations show the council is considering high class talent and indicate the next Spartan coach will not receive the fat pay check accorded Crowley. The college administration has made economy a practice and is not deaf to state wide pleas for reductions in educational costs. Unconfirmed reports say the salary is being placed at about $6,000.

One of the persistent reports heard on the campus here lists Charles "Gus" Dorais, of the University of Detroit, among the ones who could be drafted for the post. There is no effort in connection with the report to reveal Dorais as a voluntary applicant, however. The report is based primarily on the possibility of drastic financial reductions at Detroit. Dorais for a number of years has been regarded as the highest paid coach in the state.

The name of Charley Bachman, former Florida coach, is mentioned more frequently than any outside candidate. Bachman's friends are conducting a strenuous campaign in his behalf.

Managers Winning Out in Salary Scrambles?

BY ALAN GOULD
(Ass'd Press Sports Editor)

New York, Jan. 21 (AP)—It remains to be seen whether the alacrity of the athletes to reach for their fountain pens so far is merely a bit of stage business, calculated to put fear into the more recalcitrant players, but it is a fact the magnates, within the first week, have carried most of their objectives in the annual major league salary campaign.

Not even the holdout tactics of so formidable a pair as Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, or the apparent fight between George Earnshaw and the Athletics, have obscured the rapidity with which club owners have collected signed contracts. Conspicuously in the fold so far are Babe Herman, Heinie Meine, Goose Goslin, Charley Gehringer, Joe Vosmik, Lefty O'Doul, Glenn Wright, Bill Terry and the Waner brothers.

Usual Ruth Ballyhoo

The world champion Yankees, in good times or bad, can depend upon the ballyhoo for a debate with Ruth, although it is unusual for Gehrig to have any salary differences with his employers. The Babe has already pointed the way to a compromise by expressing willingness to take as much as a 15 per cent or $11,000 cut and probably will sign for a mere $62,500. Gehrig failed to reach an agreement over the size of his "cut" at a conference today with Secretary Ed Barrow but he, too, can be depended upon to come to terms shortly.

Pennant challengers such as the Washington Senators and Pittsburgh Pirates appear to have avoided or minimized salary disputes by the simple expedients of not trimming too heavily or granting raises to a favored few. The Waners and Larry French, in addition to promising youngsters, benefitted from the Pirate policy of liberality, predicated upon high hopes of a drive to the top of the National league.

Hubbell Autographs

The New York Giants today contributed further to their picture of a happy family by signing Carl Hubbell, southpaw star. Hubbell won 18 games with a sixth place club and was second only to Lon Warneke of the Cubs in pitching effectiveness last year, with an earned run average of .250

On the recommendation of his capable brother, Merritt Hubbell, also a left-handed pitcher, will be given a tryout by the Giants at Los Angeles. The younger Hubbell is a free agent, but he has pitched in the Western association and Texas league. He will accompany brother Carl to camp from the family home, Meeker, Okla., but will not be signed to a contract until Manager Terry has inspected his talent.

JACKIE FIELDS FIGHT BOOKED

Kearns Signs Him to Meet Corbett at San Francisco

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 21 (AP)—Jack Kearns today signed for a title fight for Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, with Young Corbett of Fresno, Calif. The fight is scheduled for 10 rounds in the San Francisco baseball park the afternoon of Feb. 22.

Signing of the contract was completed at a session of the California state athletic board, which a few minutes before had decided Fields should meet Corbett before he risked his title to any other contender in California.

It was announced that after $6,500 has been taken from the gate for operating expenses, Fields will receive the next $35,000. Of the remainder of the gate, Corbett will get fifty per cent.

Corbett now holds a 10-round decision over Fields. The title fight between the leading contender of the state and Fields has been under discussion many months, but until today had failed to reach the contract stage.

Ice Yachting Races Planned for Today

Promoters of ice boating in Delta county will make another effort to stage a racing program on the south shore this afternoon starting at 2:30 o'clock, it was announced yesterday.

The races were planned for last Sunday but had to be called off when enough wind to blow the craft across the ice failed to make an appearance. While the necessary breezes were missing a crowd was not, for several hundred disappointed fans were on hand until it became apparent it would be necessary to postpone the meet.

The same boats that were entered last week, 13 of them from Gladstone and Escanaba, are expected to be out today to compete in the races.

If wind conditions are ideal six races will be run. There will be three classes, Class A for boats of large sail area, Class B for smaller boats and a free for all class. It is planned to run two races, a three mile and a six mile race in each class. The race officials, however, reserved the right to reduce the program to only one race in each class if wind conditions do not warrant the complete program of six races. In the event that there is not sufficient wind to blow the sloops across the ice at a respectable rate of speed, the races will have to be postponed again.

All boats will race from a flying start and no handicaps will be allowed. Each craft will carry a sheet tender although boats which desire a heavier load will be permitted to do so. All boats will report to the racing committee before each race in which they are entered.

Colored flags will be used for start and finish of the races &and pilots must round the spars which mark the course without touching them. Windward boats must provide room for boats in lee positions, under penalty of disqualification.

All boats will be inspected by the racing committee before the races to assure the utmost of safety.

The races will all be run in full view of the spectators and the course will be laid out in such a manner to permit the start and finish directly in front of the fans on the shore. There will be no admission charged the fans.

Wildcats Clinch Second Place By Beating Illinois

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 21 (AP)—Ability to drop in free throws tonight helped Northwestern to a 30 to 27 victory over Illinois, and put the Wildcats in undisputed possession of second place in the Western Conference basketball standing.

Illinois was superior in shooting from the field, collecting eleven goals to eight by Northwestern, but the Wildcats made good on 14 out of 20 foul shot attempts to win. Northwestern led all the way, getting off in front through Culver's shooting, but the Illini made a terrific battle of it to the finish.

Captain Red Owen of Illinois did a great job of stopping Joe Reiff until he was banished for personal fouls in the last half. Reiff then stepped out for three field goals.

Georgian Has Bun Baked Back In 1909

Cartersville, Ga., (AP)—J. A. Stanford believes he owns the world's oldest biscuit.

It is a very small biscuit which, Stanford says, was baked especially for him and served as a joke in 1909 when he was a guest at Sunday dinner in a south Georgia farmhouse.

Not to be outdone Stanford says he told the young girl who placed the biscuit by his plate, that he would keep it as a souvenir. He carried it home and put it in a trunk where it was soon forgotten.

A few days ago, looking into the trunk for something, Stanford found the biscuit, still preserved, though hardened by age.

The University of Javia, Italy, was founded by Lothaire, grandson of Charlemagne, in 825.

"Non-Profit" Farm Proves Profitable To Mill Employes

Longview, Wash. ((AP))—Success of a non-profit co-operative farming venture the past summer and fall will result in an expansion of the novel undertaking.

The 124 employees of a lumber products manufacturing company shared in the raising of $2,300 worth of produce, besides consuming $570 of vegetables.

Employes of the company worked the 22 acre farm and in the cannery taking pay in scrip on the basis of 40 cents an hour.

The joint effort resulted in the canning of 20,000 cans of peas, beans, beets and corn.

Vegetables distributed included 8,000 lbs. potatoes, 2,500 head of cabbage, 10,000 lbs. parsnips, 5,000 lbs. carrots and smaller quantities of tomatoes, pumpkins and squash.

WOOD FROM CORN

Ames, Iowa—The fast dwindling forests may necessitate the use of cornstalks as a substitute for wood. Corn will do the work quite as well, it is said. Dr. O. R. Sweeney, of the Tall Corn State institution, has succeeded in producing "lumber" from cornstalks. Dr. Sweeney makes his "wood" by cooking the cornstalks under pressure in steam until they are reduced to fibers not more than two to three hundredths of an inch long. The resulting pulpy mass is hardened in forms.

An auto trip across the United States from Jersey City to Oakland was made in 86 hours and 20 minutes elapsed time.

Finally they admitted they had tried to shield Maurice Kerness, brother of Abe who was arrested in Duluth, where police said he admitted the slaying. (Associated Press Photo)

Letters by Radio Are Close to Realization

BY C. E. BUTTERFIELD
(Associated Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, (AP)—Letters by radio, just as they are written by the sender, long have been the dream of the engineer. Their realization as an every-day occurrence doesn't seem so far away now.

In fact, there are many indications that within a year radio circuits connecting the great cities of the east as the nucleus of a nationwide system may be in operation doing just that job.

The method employed would be high-speed facsimile equipment, already in an important developmental stage.

Instead of the letter-by-letter communication now in general use, facsimile transmission, it is claimed, would make possible the sending of a whole line at a time at a speed of at least 250 words a minute, compared with the 35 to 75 words per minute with the telegraph or the automatic typewriter.

Visions of this rather radical change in communication are based on present laboratory developments, coupled with the progress made both in this country and abroad, particularly the experiments of Guiglielmo Marconi, in the ultra-short wave bands.

A further hint has come with the notification by the radio corporation of America to the federal commission of its intention to withdraw its applications filed in 1927 for intercontinental frequencies of 6,000 to 23,300 kilocycles, to be supplemented with applications for frequencies of 30,000 kilocycles and above—those in the ultra short wave bands—to create a domestic radio communication system.

At Riverhead and Rocky Point, on Long Island; in the tower of the Empire State building in New York, where television experiments have been under way for a year or more, and at Camden, N. J., this work has been going on uninterrupted.

Signals on ultra short wave channels can be sent only as far as can be seen by the eye from a high point with an unobstructed view.

For a duplex circuit, New York to San Francisco, engineers envision radio relays and their antennas, one every 40 or 50 miles, competing with the 30-poles-to-the-mile telegraph networks.

Facsimile-sending offers innumberable possibilities. In addition to the transmission of letters in totol, just as they are written at the sending end, diagrams and almost any type of printed or written matter could be handled.

The sending and receiving apparatus is so simplified that about all that is necessary is to put the copy in at one end and remove it at the other.

Bicycles Riders Want Their Cut

New York (AP)—Bicycle devotees, tired of being elbowed off the highways, have decided to demand their "cut" of the country's pavement.

"All we want is a little white line along the highways, giving us three or four feet that we can call our own," said W. B. Stephenson of Marion, Ind., president of the Cycle Trades Association of America, at the body's annual convention here.

"If they will give us that, the bicycle will come into its own once more. All over the country workmen who formerly drove an automobile to work now are using a 'wheel'."

Bills will be presented in state legislatures for the purpose, the convention decided.

MILLS OFFERS HIS "WAY OUT"

New York, (AP)—A five-point governmental policy to "lead us out of the wilderness in which we are wandering" was presented by secretary of the treasury Ogden L. Mills at a dinner at the town hall club.

His program which he declared essential to maintain "the undeniable progress that has been made in the last twelve months," included the following:

1. A balanced budget.
2. Settlement of foreign debts between now and June 15.
3. Stabilization with the help of the United States of International exchanges by "getting at least the commercial and industrial countries back on the only natural standard we understand—the gold standard."
4. Removal of artificial barriers to trade.
5. An easy money policy.

Mr. Mills said that if this program were adopted the United States would get "almost immediately an expansion of commercial activity which would give a lift to the price level."

He described the plan as "a definition of an orthodox way out, having as its objective the free exchange of goods with countries throughout the world, because it is through exchange that the world makes its living and creates its wealth."

"I hope you are going to have a steadfast leadership," he said, "that will point to the progress already achieved and pursue, step by step, stone by stone, the task of restoring prosperity in the tested way of years."

Blasting Cap Box, Home Made, Safety For Farm Children

Washington ((AP)) — Concern for the safety of farm children of whom an average of 500 are injured annually while playing with blasting caps has led to the design of an inexpensive cap box by the bureau of agricultural engineering.

In most cities children are protected by laws which require that caps be accounted for, but in rural districts they frequently are lost or misplaced during the land-clearing season.

Records show that about 85 per cent of the youngsters injured are those who chance upon a stray cap and try to take it apart with pins or nails or explode it by striking with rocks or hammers. The result often is loss of eyes, hands, fingers or legs.

Blasting caps are small, copper cylinders, one end of which is open for affixing to a fuse and the other filled with a sensitive and violent explosive which can be touched off by heat, shock or spark.

They are used to set off dynamite or other explosives used in stump blasting or ditching.

A safety box of size to slip conveniently into the pocket can be made quickly by boring ¼-inch holes through a soft wood block 13/16-inches thick and attaching a felt lined bottom and hinged lid which has been recessed to fit the caps which protrude from the holes.

A block of 50 holes is considered large enough to hold separately enough caps for the usual half-day of stump blasting.
